A DASTARD CREW.

PASSENGERS ON A BURNING VESSEL DESERTED.

Led by Their Captain the Sailors of the Why Not Put Off from the Ship in a Small Boat.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

ST. MALO, June 12.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Particulars have been received here of the desertion of the passengers of the vessel Why Not by the crew after fire broke out on the ship on the way to the Island of Jersey. It appears that the fire was discovered in the Why Not's hold on Saturday, and while the sailors were attempting to quench the flames a bucket dropped overboard. A boat was lowered to recover it. The captain jumped into the boat, followed by the crew. One passenger sprang overboard and swam after the boat, into which he was reluctantly taken.

The deserted passengers were greatly alarmed and the excitement among them increased when the small boat was seen pulling for Erquay, where the crew eventually landed. Taking advantage of a breeze the passengers succeeded in beaching the Why Not near Erquay. The matter is being thoroughly investigated by local authorities. The captain of the Why Not, although not under arrest, is closely watched by the police.

WANTON MURDER.

A Fishing Party on White River, Arkansas, Attacked by Toughs.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

STUTTGARD (Ark.,) June 12.—A fishing party, consisting of A. Thompson and another man, their wives and three children, camping on White River, five miles below here, were attacked Saturday night by toughs, their tent shot into and one woman and a child killed. A man and a boy were seriously injured. A man Kemp, one of the toughs, was killed by Thompson. There is no known cause for the outrage.

FAT PICKINGS.

Big Money for the Fair Administrators.

Judge Slack Cuts Down the Allowances.

He Revokes His First Order Because He Believes it to be Excessive.

The Attorneys and Executors Called Upon to Show That There Was no Collusion in Procuring It.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—(Special Dispatch.) Superior Judge Slack cast a bombshell into the camp of the special administrators of the Fair estate today, when he revoked the order allowing fat fees and made another materially reducing the amounts allowed.

Last week Judge Slack made an order allowing the special administrators $25,000 each on account of commissions to be allowed hereafter. He also allowed $25,000 to Pierson & Mitchell and $12,500 to Garrett McEnerney as counsel fees. To this order the attorneys for all the heirs agreed, and at first it seemed to Judge Slack a reasonable order, as no one made opposition. This order, involving a payment of $137,500, seemed evidence of some sort of a compromise, but today's revocation puts it in another light. Upon more mature reflection Judge Slack has concluded that the amounts allowed are excessive. Furthermore, he thought it would be a good idea to satisfy himself that no money consideration had passed between any of the parties to secure this unanimity among them.

He summoned the attorneys before him today and questioned them as to whether or not money or other consideration had been exchanged to bring about last week's order. He was assured that nothing of the kind had occurred. The showing made satisfied him on that point. The Judge, however, thought that no harm could be done by revoking the previous order allowing fees and commissions. He accordingly took that course and then made another giving to each of the special administrators $10,000 on account. He also allowed $10,000 to Pierson & Mitchell, and $5000 to Garrett McEnerney.

NAUGHTY BOLLES.

A Divorce-Procured-While-you-Wait Case in Colorado.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

DENVER, June 12.—A special to the News from Colorado Springs says that a divorce suit in the first division of the District Court is causing considerable talk today, owing to the prominence of the parties and the big alimony. Mrs. Julia Sherman Bolles was granted a divorce from R. J. Bolles and was given $75,000 cash.

R. J. Bolles is a wealthy citizen, having made a great deal of money in the Mollie Gibson and Argentum mines. Last winter Miss Sherman arrived at the Antlers, and it was announced that she was a sister of Mrs. Richard Bolles, who made her home in California. Two months ago Mrs. Bolles arrived on the scene, and it became rumored that there was likely to be divorce proceedings.

Tuesday evening, after the regular hour of court, the attorneys for Bolles appeared in the court and filed a complaint and bill for divorce. The complaint alleged desertion. Immediately Mrs. Clara Foltz of San Francisco, the well-known female lawyer, filed a cross-bill, alleging desertion on the part of Bolles. Mrs. Foltz arrived about the same time as Mrs. Bolles, and announced that she was going to locate here. A jury was summoned, and the case immediately went to trial. After some formal testimony the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant, Mrs. Bolles.

This morning the decree was entered and filed and it was agreed that the wife should have $75,000, and that the plaintiff should pay her attorney's fees and the costs of the suit. It is understood that Mrs. Bolles holds a considerable amount of property in her own name in the East over and above that assigned in the decree and that she really gets about $200,000.

Mrs. Bolles is a guest at the Antlers. She is a large and handsome woman with blonde hair. They were married in 1868 and have no children. It was Mrs. Foltz's first appearance in court here and she is credited with being a shrewd, sharp lawyer.

Medico-psychological Officers.

DENVER, June 12.—The American Medico-psychological Association today elected the following officers: President, Richard Dewey of Illinois; vice-president, T. O. Powell of Georgia; secretary-treasurer, Henry M. Hurd of Maryland; auditor, W. A. Gordon of Rhode Island; councillors, Walter Channing of Massachusetts, George H. Rohe of Maryland C. K. Woodson of Missouri, Henry P. Stearns of Connecticut, Merritt B. Campbell of California and John W. Givens of Blackfoot, Idaho, were elected active members.

An Indiana Hamlet Burned.

FORT WAYNE (Ind.,) June 12.—Geneva, a thriving little town thirty-eight miles south of this city, in the center of the gas belt had a disastrous fire last night. Particulars are not at hand owing to the destruction of telegraph offices. There were fifteen or eighteen storebuildings and as many private residences burned. The loss is very heavy. Later it is reported that the whole town was burned, the Shamrock Hotel being the only building standing.

Heavy Storm in Nebraska.

OMAHA (Neb.,) June 12.—Specials to the Bee from Nebraska points indicate that a heavy storm swept over the central and eastern part of the State this afternoon and tonight. Some damage was done to crops by hail in some sections, and railroads were washed out at many places.

O'Brien of Cork.

LONDON, June 12.—In the Bankruptcy Court, on the motion of Patrick Alexander Chance, recently accorded a verdict of £407 against William O'Brien, M.P., for the city division of Cork, an order was today issued against O'Brien. This compels him to retire from Parliament.

GODLESS FANATICS.

Letter from an American in Turkey Concerning Armenian Outrages.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

BOSTON, June 12.—A reliable American resident in Turkey in a letter about the situation in eastern Turkey, received here, says:

"The question now pending holds within it the life or death of oriental Christianity. Are those wicked and Godless fanatics to be permitted to dip their swords further in the blood of innocent Christians? Day after day the pitiful story is told over and over again of pillage, burning, torture, murder, violence, rape, abduction, confiscation, desecration of churches, etc. Mere human aid is entirely insufficient; the intricacies of the political question involved put the solution of the problem far beyond our reach."

The letter gives a new story concerning the state of Turkish prisons. In the Bitlis prison there are seven cells, each one large enough for ten or twelve persons. There are between twenty and thirty crowded into each one. There are no sanitary arrangements. Armenians often have to drink the "khulitich" water. This is the water of the tank where Turks perform ablutions for prayer. Many specific cases are described wherein the Turks inflicted the most horrible tortures upon the Armenian prisoners, frequently beating them to death, and inflicting every conceivable mode of punishment upon the helpless Christians.

"TURNED DOWN."

Willie Vanderbilt's Ex-wife Snubbed by His Relatives.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—When the 300 guests of the Burden-Sloane wedding at Lenox got back to town last Thursday night, they brought with them the biggest piece of gossip that society has known this season. In short, it is that the Vanderbilts have "turned down" Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt, the divorced wife of Willie K. Vanderbilt.

The way in which the family and its connections acted was simple. Mrs. Vanderbilt received no invitation from the Sloanes to the wedding. On the other hand, her former husband was received with open arms. That was all society wanted. As is well known, Mrs. Sloane is Willie K. Vanderbilt's sister.

Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt and her grown-up daughter, Miss Consuelo, are still on the other side, but will be here in a fortnight. Of course, had they been invited guests at the wedding, it would have been an easy matter to have come over earlier.

RENTON'S DEATH.

HONDURAS HAS MADE RESTITUTION TO THE WIDOW.

An Indemnity of Thirty Thousand Dollars in Gold is Paid Over—The Horrible Tragedy of Brewer's Lagoon.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A special from San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, to the World says that the Honduras government has paid to the United States about $30,000 in gold, in settlement of the claim of Mrs. Renton, for the murder of her husband. The dispatch is the first intimation that the Renton case had already been made the subject of formal negotiation.

Charles W. Renton, his wife, Emma Renton, and their niece, went to Brewer's Lagoon, Honduras, eight years ago. Renton took up a claim and in 1893 the property was valued at $35,000. Renton had no trouble with the government or the natives until a planters' concern, called the Brewers' Wood and Produce Company, began operating in the territory near the Renton plantation. The officers and employees of this concern looked upon Renton's plantation with envy, and soon squatted on part of it. They stole Renton's cocoons, and soon became murderously aggressive.

In March, 1893, eight men concealed themselves in a grove, near the Renton house, and, when Renton appeared, opened fire on him. Mrs. Renton tried to drag her husband in, and a bullet struck her in the right wrist. In a little while the eight men, all employed by the Wood and Produce Company, took possession of Renton's house. They dragged the dying man and the wounded Johnson, who had been shot while on a visit to Renton, to an Indian hut, and there kept them under guard. They decided to do away with Renton. At last six men forced Mrs. Renton and her niece into a boat and pulled off from the beach. In a few minutes the latter heard firing. One of her captors said flippantly: "There goes Renton." A messenger came to them, who told them that their part in the death of Renton was known, and, further, that there were Nicaraguan soldiers in the neighborhood. The party held a consultation, and told Mrs. Renton that they would give her and her niece three days to cross the line into Nicaragua.

After almost incredible hardships, they reached Bluefields. They arrived in New York, May 9, 1894. Mrs. Renton appealed to Secretary of State Gresham for restitution by Honduras and for the punishment of her husband's murderers. The result is announced in the above telegram.

A Pay-car and Freight Train Collide.

PITTSBURGH, June 12. — Information reached this city late this afternoon that the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad paycar and a freight train collided at Mahoning Junction, wrecking both. Engineer Cross, Fireman Brown, Train-dispatcher Low, Assistant Train-dispatcher Hall and the paymaster were all severely injured, but it is thought that none were fatally hurt. Eight others were slightly hurt.

Extensive Forgeries.

LONDON, June 12.—It transpires that L. A. Wooley, a prominent lawyer who committed suicide in March last, was involved in extensive forgeries, extending over a period of several years. It is estimated that they will amount to from £50,000 to £140,000. He effected mortgages on the property of others, in some instances mortgaging the same property two or three times.

Cleaned Out the Whole Family.

OMAHA, June 12.—A special to the Bee from Springview says that G. A. Porter, a resident of Spring Creek, came in today and gave himself up to the sheriff, claiming that he had killed one man, wounded three more and pounded a woman nearly to death. The family goes by the name of Woodford, and the people are negroes. Porter, it seems, went after some mortgaged horses, the Woodfords refused to give them up and the fight ensued.

The Grand Canyon Excursion.

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) June 12.—The members of the Editorial Association of Southern California returned from the Grand Canyon of the Colorado last night and left this afternoon for Phoenix at which place they will spend tomorrow, returning to Los Angeles by the Southern Pacific on Friday. The association was royally entertained by the Board of Trade during their stay here.

A GREAT DAY.

Free Silver Advocates at Memphis.

A Unique Convention in Many Respects.

Congressmen, Governors, Ex-Governors and Other Notables Present in Profusion.

Mr. Sibley of Pennsylvania Denounces the Administration and Rouses Tumultuous Applause—Delmar Speaks.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.,) June 12.—Friends of silver, representing twenty States of the South and West began a two days' convention in this city today. Fifteen hundred delegates, comprising Democrats, Republicans and Populists, but with "honest money" as the slogan of all, filled the lower floor and a large portion of the balconies at the Auditorium, where the gathering was called to order this morning. On the stage, besides the officers of the Central Bimetallic League of Memphis, under whose auspices the convention was held, were, with a very few exceptions, all the leading advocates of free coinage of silver in the United States. They included Senators Bate and Harris of Tennessee, Jones and Berry of Arkansas, George and Walthall of Mississippi, Marion Butler of North Carolina, Tillman of South Carolina, Turpie of Indiana, Gov. John G. Evans of South Carolina, ex-Gov. Prince of New Mexico, ex-Gov. Eagle of Arkansas, Congressman Bryan of Nebraska, Gen. A. J. Warner of Ohio, C. S. Thomas and Alva Adams of Colorado, Alexander Delmar of California and Congressmen and bankers from Tennessee and adjoining States by the dozen.

The number of people in the Auditorium today was not as great as that which greeted Secretary Carlisle upon his appearance here on May 3, but the demonstration was equally imposing and enthusiastic as the one witnessed on that occasion. A permanent organization was effected today, with Senator Turpie of Indiana as chairman, and addresses were delivered by that gentleman and Alexander Delmar of California in the afternoon, and by Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania and C. S. Thomas of Denver and Anson Walcott of Indiana in the evening.

Tomorrow will be devoted to speches by some of the distinguished visitors and the consideration of the report of the Committee on Resolutions, of which Senator Jones of Arkansas is chairman.

Politically the most significant event of the day's proceedings was the clear and emphatic statement of Senator Harris of Tennessee, who, it has been clearly demonstrated, is the controlling spirit in the convention, as to the object of the gathering and the single subject to which it is expected to confine its deliberations. The strength of the men who are for silver first, last and all the time, and whose purpose to advance the candidacy of Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania for the Presidency has been frequently manifested, is formidable, and the result of the encounter between these two opposing forces, the conservative and the radical silver men, as it will be shown in the declarations of the convention, is watched with great interest.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.,) June 12.—The largest meeting ever held in this country for the discussion of a single economic question convened at the Auditorium in this city today. Certainly no such outpouring of men of all classes, representing all political parties, but unanimous upon at least one principle of governmental policy, has ever been seen in the South. While an overwhelming majority of the delegates to today's "honest money" convention, called in the interest of free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, come from this section of the country, the representation includes almost every State south of the Ohio River and west of the Mississippi. It may more properly be called a monster mass-meeting than a convention, for there is no fixed basis of representation and it is not held under the authority of any political organization.

The promoters of the conference say that this spontaneous manifestation of strong and growing public sentiment may be traced directly to the convention of May 23, at which Secretary Carlisle was the guest of honor. Taking their cue from that gathering, an invitation was extended to the friends of free silver to participate in a counter-demonstration, with the result that it far exceeds the expectations of any of the leaders of the movement. Delegates arrived on every train yesterday and all last night, and were still coming in this morning, and it was predicted there would be over 1500 on hand when the convention is called to order at 2 o'clock. It was given out yesterday that the convention would open at 11 o'clock this morning, but certain arrangements were not completed in time and it was decided to put off the opening until the afternoon.

Aside from Tennessee, Mississippi had the banner delegation, numbering upward of two hundred men, who were seated in the center of the lower floor. Immediately on the left sat Louisiana's 150 delegates. On the right were grouped representatives from Florida, Virginia, California, Utah, Colorado and far Western States. In the galleries, nearest the stage, on either side were scores of silver men from Tennessee and Arkansas, while above them were arranged representatives from Georgia, Kentucky, the Carolinas, Alabama, and other small delegations. The gathering was notable for the number of men of national reputation present, half a dozen Senators and a score of Congressmen occupying seats upon the stage, while on the floor at the head of the State delegations were governors, ex-governors and ex-members of Congress.

At 2:15 o'clock President W. N. Brown of the Central Bimetallic League of Memphis rapped for order and introduced Judge L. H. Estes of this city, who led in prayer. President Brown then introduced Hon. Casey Young, ex-Congressman from this district, who welcomed the delegates to the city. Col. Young has been the leader of the local silver forces for years, having made the contest for Col. Patterson's seat in Congress on that issue in the last election. His remarks were received with applause. Col. Young extended the usual greetings to the convention and saluted the delegates as the advance guard of a mighty army to overthrow a power more ruthless and rapacious and more hurtful to human happiness and prosperity than any despot that ever shackled liberty and oppressed mankind. Concluding, he said:

"The forces of the grandest revolution that ever hurled a despot from power are gathering for the onset that will sweep every enemy into the dark sea of defeat. The invincible legions which head it will never halt or waver until their standards are planted upon the shores of every sea and their banners float in triumph over the people of England. They will never lower their flags nor sheath their swords until the mighty conflict is ended and a glorious victory won; not until the temples of Mammon are turned into sepulchres for the burial of greed and avarice, and let us be hopeful, for the sake of suffering humanity, that the angel of resurrection will never unseal these tombs.

"In the beginning of the struggle which gave a separate nationality to the American colonies, our ancestors gave to the world a Declaration of Independence that rang like a bugle-call through every land, and awoke the slumbering spirit of liberty among every people. The descendants of these heroes and patriots are about to send forth another Declaration of Independence to the nations of the world, in fixing their own financial system and legislation for the good and happiness of their own people. Again, champions of a worthy cause, leaders of a righteous resolution, I welcome you to the Queen City of our inland sea, and in the name of your country's brethren bid you Godspeed in your work."

Mr. Harris of Tennessee then nominated Senator Turpie of Indiana for permanent chairman. The Indiana Senator was cordially received.

TURPIE'S SPEECH.

Turpie, in beginning his speech, said that the coined money of the government, in full meaning, stands four-government, in full meaning, stands four-square to all commercial transactions of the people. It has four functions, or uses. It is a medium of exchange, it is a measure of values, it is a means of reduction of its paper proxies, it is a legal tender for the payment of all debts. There are many things besides coined money that have some of these powers and uses—it has all. Of these functions, two are created by law, those of legal tender and redemption; those are artificial. The other two, of exchange and value measurement, are natural. There is no doubt that coined money existed and was used to effect exchange of commodities, and to denote the values long before legislation concerning redemption or debt.

But, although the natural functions of coined money are older, much older, than the artificial functions, yet both these classes or functions are very ancient, almost coeval with the commerce of civilization. The natural functions of such money, used in designating the price and effecting the transfer of commodities do not depend wholly upon law, have never so depended, but depend also upon usage and agreement. They have no natural or necessary existence, the artificial functions depending wholly upon law. When an article is sold and delivered, and the price paid and received, this is a finality, but creates the need that some measure shall be enacted by the public providing for the payment of the private note and of the redemption of the public note in coined money of the country.

This need is not a natural one. It is altogether artificial and is caused by the thing which is called credit. Credit, that creature of legislation; that product of the statutes; credit, the promise of today, the cash of tomorrow, looking to the power of the government for the collection and enforcement of its obligations, cannot gainsay the right of the same power to enact what sort and what quantity of coined money shall be paid and shall be received in discharge and liquidation of the same. Such is the legal-tender quality, and, though it is highly artificial, yet it is doubtless one of the most valuable functions of coined money.

He who would deprive one sort of coin of this quality and leave it only with the other, where two kinds had been used before from time immemorial, from the origin of the credit system, is guilty of gross injustice. And that equivalent policy, another way of doing the same thing, which would permit only the making and use of one sort of coined money and which would prevent the free and further making and use of the other, where both had formerly been coined and used as money of final liquidation, perpetuates and maintains a system of bondage.

Those great artificial functions of coined money were not the cause of its primary worth and use, although they have aided very largely to it in both these respects. Coined money has always been and yet is in itself a thing of value, and this value is of two kinds, a general value derived from the material out of which it is minted, and a specific or particular value determined by law. The first is called the metallic or bullion value, the second is known as the money worth or legal value. The latter is always a matter of law; the bullion value is one of estimation and opinion. Neither of the coined metals of the world has the best or highest elements of intrinsic or inherent value. Both are used in the arts, but if the use to which a thing is to be a sole measure of the value, iron, with its necessary product, steel, is the most valuable as it is the most useful of all metals. But the vast abundance of this useful metal, denoting a supply unlimited, has deprived it of monetary functions.

Silver and gold, in order, have been from the earliest times, and yet remain, the principal coin metals among mankind. Silver and gold have been deemed and called the precious metals. The word precious indicates their money use and origin. It leads directly to price; it is not only closely related to, but is connected with price. Price is the name of that sum of money in coin which we pay in exchange for what we wish to purchase, and it must have always been in itself a thing of value, a material capable of easy carriage, of other qualities suitable for coinage, and it must have always had, relative to other commodities, the quality of scarcity or scantiness in supply. For 4000 years gold and silver have been mined, coined and used as money. During all that time those two precious metals have been furnished, both as to quality and as to cost of production in such a manner and amount as not to be compared with any other commodities or to admit of no comparison save with each other. It has already been said that the bullion value of the coin metals was largely a matter of opinion, and estimation.

The bullion value of silver and gold, here and elsewhere, has always rested, and rests today, upon the conception, upon one opinion, upon one single and simple item of belief. It is an old belief, universally credited, based upon the actual experience of one hundred generations of the human race. It is this: That, as there has been in the ages past, so there will be in the years to come, no discovery of either of such metals which, as to quantity or as to the expense of production shall make them comparable in value with any other materials suitable for the use of mankind as money. The faith and credit of mankind in the natural and unconquerable limitation of supply as to those materials rests unshaken and undisturbed, as it did at the first dawn of commerce, as it did in the days of the old patriarch. "Silver was current money with the merchant.""

There has always been a difference between the commercial or bullion value of the two metals and the legal coinage value. This characteristic of difference attaches to both. No denomination of the gold coinage of the United States has a bullion value equal to the legal-tender value thereof. The gold dollar is not what it purports to be. The whole series of these gold coins is made from bullion only nine-tenths fine. I do not go into the reasons for this, I state the fact. The whole of the gold coinage is tithed; it is placed under par bullion value by the subtraction of one-tenth; this is why these coins outside of our own issue pass only by weight, not by count. The missing tenth is what is called alloy. This alloy is not gold at all, it is a mixture of copper and silver, only one-tenth of silver and nine-tenths of copper. Of course this alloy reduces the commercial value as metal of the whole series of gold coin. This is nowhere spoken of because of a very curious claim made by the advocates of gold monometallism, that a piece of money whose bullion may be less than its commercial value is unsound and dishonest.

The same with the silver coinage; the dollar and that part called subsidiary money. This is coined under par, commercially. Like the gold coins, the alloy is one-tenth, wholly of copper and besides that the proportion of grains of metal used diminishes with the denomination of the coins. The half-dollar has but 192 grains, a good deal less than half the number of the whole dollar; the quarter-dollar has only 96 grains; the dime only 38 grains. The holder of ten dimes has only 380 grains, yet he can get halves or quarters or the whole for those dimes, notwithstanding the cost price of the metal in them is far below its lawful value. The nickel passes for 5 cents, the bullion value of the metal which composes it is not half the legal value. The cent coined by the United States, made of 95 parts of copper and 5 parts of tin and zinc, is worth as metal not more than one-third its lawful or legal value, which is the one-hundredth part of a dollar.

Still, we have no other coin than this; all our balances, when settled in coin, are paid in it. The largest payments are made in the alloyed gold, and the silver dollar, with its group of fractional parts and subsidiary coinage performing the functions of money, is passed paid and received as coin of ultimate liquidation. Is this an honest condition of finance and business?

According to the test of the enemies of bimetallism that the legal value of coined money must be the same as the commercial or bullion value of metal in it, nothing could be more dishonest. According to that test, there is not and cannot be an honest dollar of either silver or gold, nor any honest part or fraction of the same; as for the nickel, it is viler than the dime, and the honest penny is banished forever. According to the same test and rule of coinage, there is not an honest coin in the treasury, there is not a piece of sound, safe money in the country.

The convention then completed its permanent organization by the election by acclamation of F. B. Wade of Tennessee to act as secretary. Senator Jones of Arkansas moved the appointment of a Committee on Resolutions to be composed of one delegate from each State represented.

The motion carried after it had been amended at the suggestion of Judge John W. Tomlinson of Birmingham, Ala., so as to provide that upon roll-call each State delegation should present the name of a member of its delegation to act as vice-president of the convention and one member to represent it on the Committee of Resolutions. Alexander Delmar was elected vice-president to represent California.

The following Committee on Resolutions was named: Senator James J. Jones of Arkansas, Bankhead of Alabama, Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada, Senator C. F. Cockrell of Missouri, Charles A. Hartmann of Montana, Senator J. Z. George of Mississippi, J. H. Dupree of Louisiana, J. P. Barton of Kentucky, Senator David Turpie of Indiana, F. M. Longley of Georgia, Charles S. Thomas of Colorado, ex-Gov. L. B. Prince of New Mexico, Alexander Delmar of California, E. C. Treadway of Virginia, S. E. Watson of Texas, E. W. Carmack of Tennessee, B. R. Tillman of South Carolina, J. C. Sibley of Pennsylvania, William J. Bryan of Nebraska, A. J. Warner of Ohio and Senator Harris at large.

Ex-Gov. Prince of New Mexico, in explaining that a number of Western and Northwestern States had failed to respond to the roll-call, said that but a few weeks ago the representatives of every one of these States had attended a silver convention at Salt Lake City at which a committee had been appointed to represent them collectively at the Memphis convention. The absence of delegates from the individual States should not be construed to indicate any lack of interest in the free-silver movement or of sympathy with the Memphis convention. The South and West are hand-in-hand in this convention and must stand together.

The next speaker was Alexander Delmar, the well-known writer on the coinage question and a member of the silver commission of 1876. The following is his speech:

DELMAR'S SPEECH.

Mr. Chairman: Amid the conflict of monetary theories, doctrines and assumptions which divide the American people, nay, the entire civilized world, I can discern but a single principle upon which all parties unite, and that is stability. All agree in the cardinal principle that a monetary system, if it is to be just and equitable in the operation, should be stable. It should afford a reasonable assurance to the buyer, the seller, the debtor, the creditor, the producer, the consumer, the annuitant, the pensioner and the wage-earner that it will work no essential, no violent, no revolutionary rise or fall of prices; so that men may buy and sell, contract, undertake and plan for the future upon a more or less assured and enduring basis.

It is because I am profoundly convinced that any sustem of money which does not point to substantial stability of prices is destined to speedy overthrow, that I stand here today to support the demand for the restoration of the ancient coinage laws of the republic. At no time in the history of the world have such enormous, such inequitable, such widespread disturbances of prices, such unforseeable and undeserved changes of opportunity and fortune occurred, as have occurred since the evil day, now some thirty years ago, when the coinage of silver began to be checked throughout the civilized world.

The fact, which nobody has questioned, that more than half of the combined circulation of all the states of the Occident consists of legal-tender paper notes; the fact, which all admit, that over 95 per cent. of all the exchanges of the world are transacted, not with money, whether of metal or of paper, but with mere orders for money, such as checks and bills of exchange; these facts, together with others, prove that metallic coin, though made of both silver and gold, is quite inadequate to justly measure the parity of exchanges, so that the coin has to be eked out not only with paper money, but also, and still more largely, with orders and promises of money, which, being limited in circulation to one or two persons, and slow of movement at that, have to be continually drawn, destroyed and redrawn. In short the growth of commerce during this century of steam and electricity, has been so enormous that the equity of exchanges has come to rest chiefly upon paper money and private orders for paper money, the latter affecting to be exchangeable or promising to be exchanged on demand for coins of gold or of silver.

Concerning the history of the demonetization of ilver I am here to unfold it to you, because in it is contained the refutation of those false and traitorous cries of "uninterested motives," "dishonest money and the like, with which the friends of restoration have been assailed.

The monetary commission of 1876, with which I was connected, reported that the acts of 1873 were one of them passed surreptitiously and the other upon false or erroneous assurances. This has since been denied. I am going to show you not only that the commission was right, but these acts were the issue of European intrigue.

At the period of this legislation the ratio of value at which silver and gold were purchased and coined at the French mints was 15½ weight to 1; at the mints of the United States, 16 to 1. In consequence of this difference, about 3 per cent. of those who had silver to coin sent it to Paris rather than to Philadelphia or New Orleans. Had the opposition to the coinage of dollars in two metals, and the preference for one metal over the other been of American origin, the one metal chosen would inevitably have been silver, because, in fact, the silver dollar was worth 3 per cent. more than the gold one, and because the bondholders who notoriously promoted and supported the legislation of 1871 would no more have preferred a gold dollar than they would a silver dollar now. But in France, indeed in Europe generally, whose mints and markets commonly followed the vast coinages of France, the gold and silver coins of like denomination were of precisely equal value. Hence, to the European holder of an American bond in 1863-64, it made no difference whether he was paid in gold or silver coin, provided, and this was the point essentially important to his interest or avidity, that the debtor was deprived of the option of paying in coins of the other metal. The preference of gold was certainly not American, because, at the American mints' ratio, gold dollars, when melted down, were only worth 97 cents. It was, therefore, European. We shall presently see why these "cheaper dollars" were preferred to silver ones.

Under the Code Napoleon it was explicitly laid down that all debts, taxes, and contracts for sums of money, no matter in what other terms expressed, were legally and equitably dischargeable in current money of like denominations upon the day of payment. This principle came down from the Roman commonwealth; it was preserved by Paulus in the digest; it was upheld by all the consuls of the empire and of the various provinces and kingdoms into which the empire afterward split; it was supported with great emphasis and erudition by Sir Matthew Hale in the celebrated case of mixed moneys, and it was maintained by the United States Supreme Court in the great cases which were adjudicated by Chief Justice Chase and a full bench.

At the time when the necessity of our government compelled it to issue hundreds, nay, almost thousands of millions of 6 per cent. and 5 per cent. bonds, with interest payable in coin, the French Court of Cassation, promulgated a decision in perfect accordance not only with the entire range of legal authority, but also with the Code Napoleon, to the effect that on this subject no man could contract himself outside of the law; in short, that contracts for money were equitable and dischargeable in the current money of the day of payment. This decision alarmed the European holders of American bonds. What might not these progressive Americans do with respect to the interest on these bonds, which are payable in coin? Perhaps they would strike coins of debased gold, like the ancient Athenians, or pewter and gun metals, like the princes of the House of Stuart, or plated brass, like the petty lords of then-distracted Germany. Would they not be justified by law, by history, by authority, by precedent, by the decision so recently rendered in the French Court of Cassation? Most assuredly.

There was but one way to avert such a calamity—to demonetize one of the precious metals and fix the standard of the other. But which metal should be demonetized—gold? Oh, no. The American government would never consent to that, because it would oblige them to pay in silvel dollars, which, under the operation of their own laws, as influenced by our law, are worth 3 per cent. more than gold ones. Therefore let us endeavor to demonetize silver. To us it makes no difference. To the Americans it is a gain of 3 per cent. Let us bribe them with the 3 per cent. to surrender their option of the metals. All doubt as to the kind of payment being removed, our American bonds purchased at 40 cents will rise to par and over, a la morte d'argent.

At that time there were 150,000,000 American bonds in Europe or held on European account. The inceptors of this project, which soon developed into an actice intigue, therefore stood to win from six hundred millions to one billion. Such were the circumstances that gave rise to the resolutions adopted by the Latin monetary union of 1865. The original proposition emanated from Belgium. It grafted upon the government the movement for the unitization of weights and measures, the dissemination of the metrical and decimal systems and other "fads," which was urged throughout Europe by numerous societies with respectable and influential followings. These people were like the fat sheep which one sometimes sees marketed for slaughter. Their single function in life is to look plump and wait for the butcher. The butcher is usually the practical politician. In this case it was the financier. But these are details which today we have no time to enter upon.

The monetary union of 1865 was the beginning of that scheme of reckless avidity and dark intrigue, which, in the course of a few years, destroyed one-half of the metallic basis of money, plunged the commercial world into bankruptcy and pledged it to conditions commercially impossible to fulfill, especially dangerous to endure. These conditions menace the peace of the world. I do not ask for vengeance, but for justice. Let the fundholder be paid in gold. He is not the same one who duped and betrayed us in 1868 and 1873, but his assignee, an innocent third party, upon whose title there is no stain of fraud. Let him be paid in gold and in gold only. So far as the present fund-holders are concerned, the mischief is done and it cannot be equitably repaired. But as for posterity, whose affairs we are pinning down to the capricious and inadequate limits of a single metal; as for the future stability of contracts, which twenty-five years of catastrophical experience should convince us cannot be secured by means of gold money, I say let us at once restore the ancient law.

From 1865 to 1870 the fund-holding syndicate, with whom it is now quite evident this intrigue originated, was incessant in its operations. Numerous conventions under its patronage were held in France, Belgium and Germany. Its influence is plainly discernable in the treacherous defection of certain party leaders during the American Presidential election of 1868, in the gratuitous credit-strengthening and the appropriation clause of Boutwell's needless $1,500,000,000 funding bill and especially in that surreptitious and scandalous alteration of the British mint code which furnished the example precedent and justification for the analagous alteration of our own mint code, namely, the alteration which demonetized silver and threw the commercial world into bankruptcy.

Gentlemen of the convention, you have now heard the story of this sordid conspiracy. It arose out of the issue of 5-20 bonds and the decision of the French Courts of Cessation. It gave rise to the Latin monetary union; it precipitated the demonetization of silver in Germany and other States. It surreptitiously altered the British mint code, and in a similar manner and by similar means it scandalously altered the American mint code. It rewarded all those who promoted its objects. It mercilessly attacked all who opposed them. It robbed this country of hundreds of millions. It influenced its politics and it still influences them. It has grown rich enough to lend $15,000,000 to the Bank of England, $80,000,000 to Italy, and $200,000,000 each to Austria and the United States. It controls our foreign exchanges. It has plunged the commercial world into a long train of disasters, and stands ready to repeat the achievement.

Do we want any more of this? For one, I say no, decidedly no. Let us put an end to it. Let us restore the law, and if anything further is needful let that, too, be done.

The address of Delmar held the close attention of the great crowd during the time of its delivery and was frequently interrupted by applause. It was by this time nearly 4:30 o'clock, but the crowd was hungry for more speeches and they called the names of their favorites persistently. After several attempts to secure an adjournment considerable disorder prevailed. The chairman declared the body adjourned until evening without further formality.

THE EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session, which began promptly at 8 o'clock, Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada presided and introduced Congressman Sibley. Sibley was greeted with thunderous applause, and in a two-hours' speech aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. He made an earnest appeal for independent political action in 1896, and occupied a good part of the time illustrating the necessity of breaking away from the old parties. His auditors were evidently with him, for every attack upon Secretary Carlisle, the President or Senator Sherman was greeted with noisy demonstrations, and every time he asked the crowd if they would remain with their old parties and continue the domination of the English power, he was greeted with a chorus of "No." He paid his respects to the President and Secretary Carlisle in very plain language, calling them "traitors" to their party in the conspiracy to demonetize silver and fasten upon the country the hardships of a gold standard. All such remarks as this were greeted with tumultuous applause.

Sibley paid an eloquent tribute to Andrew Jackson, the great Tennessecan who achieved fame through his successful antagonism of the money powers, as well as by his military career. He related the story of Jackson's refusal, when captured by the British as a boy, to blacken the boots of an English officer, who struck him with a sword, leaving a scar that he bore until his death. He gave it a political turn by exclaiming that there were Democrats in Tennessee who would blacken those boots today and lick the hand that struck them.

At the conclusion of Sibley's speech there were persistent calls for Bryan of Nebraska, but that gentleman evidently desired a more favorable opportunity and more time in which to deliver his views upon the silver question, for he declined to respond. Then, upon invitation of the chairman, Charles S. Thomas of Denver occupied the remainder of the time in the evening session. At the conclusion of Thomas's speech the convention adjourned until tomorrow.

POLITICAL TALK.

A West Virginia Boom for Steve Elkins for President.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WHEELING (W. Va.,) June 12.—Ex-Senator N. B. Scott, National Republican committeeman, in an interview, has declared himself for S. B. Elkins for President.

"We are going to name Elkins for President," said Scott. "He will be named on the second ballot. I have been in the West recently, and I found the sentiment everywhere for him. I believe West Virginia will send a solid delegation to the convention for Mr. Elkins. I predict that on the first ballot at the next convention he will have the solid delegations of California, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Washington, Arizona and New Mexico, and a strong following in Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas. For second place on the ticket, I favor a way-out Western man. Elkins, with a Western man will win."

Senator Scott favors a platform which shall be in keeping with Elkins's recently-expressed silver sentiments, recognizing the white metal fully, but not declaring unqualifiedly for free coinage.

WASHINGTON FOR SILVER.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Hugh Wallace, national Democratic committeeman of Tacoma, Wash., passed through Chicago yesterday. Wallace is a son-in-law of Chief Justice Fuller and a staunch supporter of President Cleveland. He said that free silver would probably receive the indorsement of the Democrats, Republicans and Populists of Washington in the next campaign.

WARNER'S SENTIMENTS.

CLEVELAND, June 12.—Gen. A. J. Warner has arrived home in Marietta from the Pacific Coast. In a letter to a friend in this city he says: "Nobody but an out-and-out silver man can carry a single State west of the Missouri River next year. The good work is going on. Politicians are kept busy trying to keep people inside the party fences, but they find it hard work. For myself, I care nothing for party names, I want results."

SILVERITES ACTIVE.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—There is a strong probability that the State Democratic Committee will be called together again very soon by Chairman Mafitt. The free silverites have been active in every section, and now have a formidable army of workers advocating the convention.

THE OHIO PROHIBITIONISTS.

SPRINGFIELD (O.,) June 12.—The Prohibition State Convention practically completed its labors this afternoon but did not adjourn until the ratification meeting tonight. The principal plank is as follows:

"The money of the country should be of full legal-tender value issued directly to the people on ample security in such quantities as the people may demand and at a uniform interest. To this end the government should establish real national banks as it does the postoffices wherever the convenience of the people demands. Until such financial system can be established we favor free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 as a temporary relief."

A full ticket was named, the principal nominations being: United States Senator, R. S. Thompson of Springfield; Governor, Seth H. Ellis of Springfield; Lieutenant-Governor, J. W. Sharp of Mansfield.

WURTEMBURG'S OPPOSITION.

LONDON, June 12.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that the Minister of Finance of Wurtemburg declared that the government was convinced that any attempt to meddle with the currency would cause danger of most serious revolutions in economic and financial affairs, and none of the proposals made for raising the price of silver while adhering to a gold currency can be deemed likely to attain the object aimed at, and the government was opposed to calling an international conference. The lower house thereupon, by 49 to 29, voted against a motion requesting the government to use its influence in the Bundesrath to retain the gold currency.

It is hoped that this decision will be imitated by the other federal governments and, as Chancellor von Hohenlohe promised to call a conference if all the federal States agreed to such a course, it is believed that Wurtemburg's refusal will prevent the conference.

UNCLE SAM'S TURN.

He Will Demand an Indemnity for the Attacks on Missionaries.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The confirmation of reports that American missionary property in China has been destroyed makes it probable that the United States government will require China to make sufficient indemnity when the facts are officially established. A precedent for such recompense was made when the United States paid China a considerable amount for mob depredations on Chinese in the far Northwest.

The reports of losses to mission property in China vary. It is said that the indemnity asked will cover not only the actual damage and loss to the American missionaries, but also a sum as recompense for the indignity offered.

At a Premium.

LONDON, June 12.—The Chinese loan is quoted at 2½ per cent. premium on the Paris bourse. It is taken by four Russian banks. From a political point of view the loan forms a dangerous precedent, as it gives Russia a financial hold over China which it will be difficult to break off.

CRACKED BY CRACKS

New Figures for Cyclers to Tackle.

Three "Fastest" Spurts Made at Syracuse—Coulter Beats Johnson and Ziegler.

Jockey Dismounted at Bay District—California Marksmen Leave for New York—A Sensational Trotter—Other Sports.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SYRACUSE (N. Y.,) June 12.—Kirk Park was in the best possible condition for racing this afternoon, and the throngs of crack riders that are in attendance at the two days' national circuit meeting of the Syracuse Athletic Association took advantage of that fact to reduce two world's and one State record. All the principal events were paced by tandems. In the mile novice Guy Chaffee of this city followed Benjamin and Box on the tandem and won easily, making the distance in 2:15.

Coulter beat Otto Ziegler, Dirnberger and the two Johnsons in 2:08 2-5. This is the fastest mile ever made in competition in this State.

One mile, novice, class A: Guy Chaffee of Syracuse won; time 2:15 (world's record.)

One mile, open, class A: W. E. Shaw of Boston won; time 2:15.

Half a mile, open, class B: First heat, C. R. Coulter won, Cabanne second, Dirnberger third; time 1:17; second heat, Ziegler won, Hallen second, Harry Tyler third; Bald fourth; time 1:12 3-5. Final heat, Tyler won, Coulter second, Bald third; time 1:16 4-5.

One mile, handicap, class A: A. J. Latham won in 2:18 3-5.

One mile, handicap, class B: Robert Terrill (6 yards) won, H. H. Maddox (60 yards) second, Fred W. Fisher (110 yards) third; time 2:11 3-5.

Half a mile, open, class A: W. E. Shaw won; time 1:03 2-5. (World's record for class A in competition.)

One mile, open, class B: First heat—Coulter won, Allen second, Maddox third, Baker fourth; time 2:53. Second heat—E. Johnson won, L. C. Johnson second, Ziegler third, Brown fourth; time 2:27 1-5. Final heat—Coulter won, L. C. Johnson second, Ziegler third; time 2:08 3-5. (New York State record for class B in competition.)

Two-mile handicap, class A: F. A. Foell of Buffalo (55 yards) first, W. E. Shaw (scratch) second, A. F. Renna of Whitesboro (70 yards) third; time 4:51.

EASTERN BASEBALL.

Boston Defeats Chicago—Cleveland and Brooklyn Also Win.

BOSTON, June 12.—Boston 5, base hits 6, errors none.
Chicago 2, base hits 9, errors 3.
Batteries—Nichols and Ganzel; Griffith and Kittredge.

POSTPONED GAMES.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The Philadelphia-Louisville game was postponed on account of rain.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—In the last half of the fourth inning a heavy shower of rain stopped the Washington-Cincinnati game. The score stood 5 to 1 in favor of Cincinnati.

PITTSBURGH-BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, June 12. — Baltimore 1, base hits 8, errors 2.
Pittsburgh 5, base hits 14, errors none.
Batteries—Clarke and Esper; Killen and Winslow.

CLEVELAND-NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 12.—New York 3, base hits 9, errors 2.
Cleveland 6, base hits 13, errors 1.
Batteries—German and Wilson; Young and Zimmer.

BROOKLYN-ST. LOUIS.

BROOKLYN, June 12.—Brooklyn 13, base hits 12, errors 3.
St. Louis 8, base hits 11, errors 4.
Batteries—Grim, Gumbert and McDougall; Kessinger and Peitz.

A REMARKABLE TROTTER.

William Penn Goes Three Heats in Sensational Time.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A sensational trotter was uncovered today at the Fleetwood Park trotting meeting. William Penn, starting for the first time this year, stepped three heats in 2:11¾, 2:12¼ and 2:12¾, without being called upon to do his best. The young horse National lowered his record three seconds in the 2:21 class, winning, without much difficulty, from Queen Allah and the rest. The pacing race was a gift for Mascott, Jr., although he lost the third heat through a break.

The 2:13 class, trotting, purse $500: William Penn won, Judge Austin second, Cephas third; best time 2:11¾.

The 2:25 class, pacing, purse $500: Mascot, Jr., won, Aaron second, Katie Greenlander third; best time 2:18¾.

The 2:21 class, trotting, purse $500: National won, Queen Allah second, Kitty R. third; best time 2:18¼.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AT THE LEAGUE MEETING.

Resolutions Looking to the Enactment of a New General Libel Law—Buffalo the Next Meeting Place.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The convention of the International League of Press Clubs today adopted a resolution offered by Charles Emery Smith of the Philadelphia Press urging the various press clubs of the league to work energetically to secure from the legislatures of the several States the passage of laws to protect newspaper men in preserving inviolate confidential information communicated to them in the ordinary course of their duties. The resolution was adopted. Speaking as a newspaper proprietor, Smith said that if he had correctly observed the young men about him there was not one worthy member in the newspaper profession who would not rot in jail rather than betray his confidence.

John H. Low of Philadelphia offered a resolution relative to libel laws, introducing it in a long preamble calling attention to the services performed by numerous papers of the nation as the chief weapons of defense against official corruption and vice, and reciting that it has become their duty and right to expose public scandal, maladministration of offices and violations of law, so long as they do not in printing and writing abuse the liberty granted them. In conclusion, the resolutions call upon the president of the league to petition the legislatures to pass a general libel law worded as follows:

"Before any suit shall be brought for the publication of a libel in any newspaper in this State, the aggrieved party shall, at least three days before filing or giving the complaint in such suit, serve a notice on the publisher or publishers of said newspaper at their principal office of publication, specifying the statements in the said article which he or they may allege to be false or defamatory. If it shall appear on the said action that said article was published in good faith; that its falsity was due to a mistake or misapprehension of the facts, and that full and fair retraction of any statement therein alleged to be erroneous was published in the next regular issue of such newspaper, or in the case of daily papers within three days after such mistake or misapprehension was brought to the knowledge of such publisher or publishers, in as conspicuous a place and type in such newspaper as was the article complained of as libelous, then the plaintiff in such cases shall recover only actual damages.

"Provided, however, that the provision of this act shall not apply to the case of any libel against any candidate for a public office in this State, unless the retraction of the charge is made editorially in a conspicuous manner at least three days before election, in case such libelous article was published in a daily newspaper; if published in a weekly paper, at least ten days before the election."

The resolution was adopted.

The convention this morning selected Buffalo as the place for holding their next convention. The date will be fixed by the Executive Committee. The following officers were chosen to serve during the coming year: President, Louis H. Megargee of Philadelphia; vice-president, Joseph Howard of New York; treasurer, James S. McCarthy of Philadelphia; secretary, Harry D. Vought of Buffalo.

The Arizona G. A. R.

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) June 12.—The session of the Department of Arizona, G.A.R., closed today. W. F. R. Schindler of Prescott was elected commander, J. Guthrie Savage of Flagstaff senior vice-commander and Charles H. Knapp of Phoenix junior vice-commander. For representative to the national encampment D. M. Riordan of Flagstaff was chosen. A banquet was given the visitors by Ransom Post. The next meeting will be held at Prescott.

OLNEY'S EMPHASIS.

He Issues a Proclamation in Grover's Name.

Arming of Vessels or Enlistment of Volunteers for Cuban Service Has Been Forbidden.

Havana Merchants Subscribe to Organize Two Companies of Men—Small Expedition Bound for Cabinas Seized.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Secretary Olney is thoroughly determined that the United States government shall do all in its power and all that international law requires to prevent the violation of the United States treaty by persons who undertake to make this country a base of hostile operations against Spain, with which power it is at peace. Complaints have reached the Department of State through the Spanish Minister that men are being recruited on American soil and that armed expeditions are leaving our shores for the purpose of attacking the Spanish forces in Cuba.

Whenever the necessary evidence can be produced these infractions of the law are to be severely punished, for the Secretary of State will leave no just ground for complaint that the United States has failed in its obligations to other nations. Meanwhile, however, it has been deemed proper to give formal warning to misguided people of what they may expect, so this afternoon the following proclamation was issued from the State Department:

"By the President of the United States, a proclamation:

"Whereas, the Island of Cuba is now the seat of serious civil disturbances, accompanied by armed resistance to the authority of the established government of Spain, a power with which the United States are and desire to remain on terms of peace and amity; and, whereas, the laws of the United States prohibit their citizens as well as all others being within and subject to their jurisdiction from taking part in such disturbances adversely to such established government by accepting or exercising commissions for warlike service against it by enlistment or procuring others to enlist for such service, by fitting out or arming or procuring to be fitting out any armed ships-of-war for such service, by augmenting the force of any ship-of-war engaged in such service and arriving in a port of the United States and by setting on foot or providing or preparing the means for military enterprises to be carried on from the United States against the territory of such government.

"Now therefore, in recognition of the laws aforesaid and in discharge of the obligation of the United States toward a friendly power, and as a measure of precaution, and to the end that citizens of the United States and all others within its jurisdiction can be deterred from subjecting themselves to legal forfeiture and penalties, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States of America, do hereby admonish all such citizens and other persons to abstain from every violation of laws hereinbefore referred to and do hereby warn them that all violation of such laws will be rigorously prosecuted; and I do hereby enjoin upon all officers of the United States charged with the execution of said laws, the utmost diligence in preventing violations thereof and in bringing to trial and punishment any offenders against the same. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this twelfth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and nineteenth.

(Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND.
By the President.
RICHARD OLNEY,
Secretary of State.

VOLUNTEERS.

HAVANA, June 12.—A detachment of volunteers reconnoitering on Mt. Saugado and in that vicinity has exchanged shots with insurgents commanded by Perico Diaz. The insurgents lost one killed and three wounded. The merchants of Havana have subscribed $100,000 to organize and sustain two companies of cavalry volunteers.

Five men who tried to leave this port on the schooner Candora for Cabinas, province of Pinar del Rio, without passports and under false names have been arrested. It is claimed that they were going to Cabinas to try to raise a band of insurgents in that vicinity.

NOT A RECOGNITION.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The issuance of the President's proclamation against extending aid to Cuban insurgents gave rise to considerable discussion as to whether it did not practically amount to a recognition of the rebels as belligerents. Such an interpretation of the proclamation, however, is not correct, according to the opinion of several well-known public men.

Senator Morgan of Alabama, who is recognized as an authority on international law, when asked about the matter said: "No recognition of the rights of belligerents is accorded by the proclamation, but just the reverse is the case. There would have been no necessity for such action if the insurgents were belligerents, for the reason that the United States would have the right to sell them munitions if they could escape the blockade of the Spanish fleet. It is simply carrying out the law."

Senator Call said that the proclamation did not intend to accord to the insurgents the rights of belligerents, and undoubtedly did not do so. It would not, however, have any effect in preventing those who were willing to help the Cuban cause. The President's proclamation was rather stronger than he liked. "I am," said the Senator, "in favor of the independence of Cuba, for it is a foregone conclusion that the island will throw off the Spanish yoke. In my judgment it is a wild idea to suppose that this government can support the tottering government of Spain over Cuba, or that it ought to do it."

REBEL ATTACKS.

MADRID, June 12.—Advices have reached here from Havana that two bodies of rebels of five hundred each made an attempt to capture Moron and Puerto Principe.

The Native Daughters Take a Trip Underground.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

GRASS VALLEY, June 12.—The second day of the Grand Parlor of the Native Daughters was devoted principally to matters of interest to members of the order only. A resolution was adopted to hold the next grand parlor at Napa. The Daughters visited the mines today and were shown the underground workings.

Lunches were served at the various mines and the visit was greatly enjoyed. Tomorrow President Kidder of the Narrow-gauge road will take the visitors in a special train to Nevada City.

A Peaceful Occupation.

HONKONG, June 12.—The Japanese have made a peaceful occupation of Tamsui and Taipeh-Fu, in the island of Formosa. They are administering the customs and trade is resumed. No further trouble was encountered.

DEBS'S LONG SNOOZE.

The Bloviator Says He Was Not Drunk but Sleeping.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CHICAGO, June 12.—President E. V. Debs of the A. R. U., presented himself at the United States Marshal's office at 11 o'clock this morning, after having been lost to the authorities since noon yesterday. Debs says that he went to sleep at a friend's house and was not awakened until this morning.

Debs came in shortly after the entire force of deputy marshals in Chicago had been sent to search for him, and explained his absence by saying that he was ill yesterday. He went to the office of a friend in the afternoon and fell asleep, he said, not awakening until 7 o'clock today. Aside from a bad headache he seemed to be in good health when he arrived at the marshal's office. He deeply regretted, he said, that he had failed to keep his appointment with the deputy marshal who was to have taken him to jail last night and who was much surprised to hear of the search that had been made for him.

Debs was emphatic in his denial of the story that his tardy surrender was the result of a too free indulgence in liquor. He was kept in the marshal's office during the afternoon, arrangements being made to take him to Woodstock at 5 o'clock in charge of a deputy marshal.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock Debs was taken to the Woodstock jail and Howard was taken to the Will county jail at Joliet one hour later.

ENLAND'S PRINCE.

HE SEEMS NO BETTER THAN HE SHOULD BE.

Why the Princess of Wales Took Her Hurried Trip to Windsor—Wilhelm of Germany Makes a Faux Pas.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The London correspondent of the Morning Journal has this:

"The position occupied by a certain countess in the affections of the heir apparent is public property. There is little or no attempt made to disguise it, and the scandal has been known to the Princess of Wales for several years. While the celebrated baccarat story which drove Gordon Cumming out of society's place, was in vogue, the Princess was made aware of the true state of the case, for there is no doubt that two jealous women were the cause of the Baronet's downfall.

"After this, little was heard for some seasons of the set which had brought the Wilsons and Tranby Croft so prominently before the public. Then came the painful story of Cowes, where the spectacle was seen of two royal uncles wining too freely with their imperial nephew and putting him to bed under very distressing circumstances in a scullion's berth. It was a practical joke worthy of the days of the merry monarch, but utterly unsuited to this more prosaic age. The poor, frightened girl is now in a noble German family, where the influence of Wilhelm at once placed her.

"All these things and many more seem idiotic when we reflect that men of fifty are the perpetrators, but hitherto the Guelphian jokes have been ponderous, though never brutal. When, however, the most popular lady in England is made the subject of them it is time to protest, yet a great conspiracy of silence has elected that no notice shall be taken of it.

"The fact is, ever since the Prince of Wales went to stay at Warwick castle there has been great friction between the heir apparent and his wife.

A PRETTY SIGHT.

Youth and Beauty On the San Lorenzo.

A Procession of Nearly Two Hundred Water-craft, Accompanied by a Pyrotechnic Display.

The Native Daughters—Marcus D. Boruck Reported Dying—More Colima Survivors Found—Chinatown Squad.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SANTA CRUZ, June 12.—Never has California witnessed such a scene as was on the San Lorenzo River this evening. All of the other attractions of the carnival paled in comparison. Ten thousand people crowded the grandstand and boxes, while over half as many more dotted the neighboring hills. It was the water carnival that attracted the crowd, and the scene eclipsed the gayest days in old Venice.

Under a canopy of thousands of incandescent lights that stretched across the entire width of the river and beneath the glare of a score of calcium lights, sailed the procession, composed of nearly two hundred gondolas, skiffs, boats and barges. On high elevations Chinese lanterns shed their light, while for a background were red and green lights. While the procession slowly passed up the river, amid the plaudits of thousands of voices, a fusillade of rockets, which sounded like the booming of cannon, was kept up, and, as the multitude of colored sparks descended into the water, the brilliancy of the scene was indescribable.

First came the Queen's barge, with the golden throne. The pretty maids of honor, the pages and the bodyguards were in the gondola, which was propelled by gondoliers. When the Queen was led to the throne, the scene showed a long line of gondolas as far as the eye could see. Each of the gondolas was illuminated with strings of Chinese lanterns and Venetian lights. Behind the Queen's float came the gondola of the grand marshal and aides, who saluted the Queen as they passed on. On the river a band played a musical selection.

The fireworks, showing the director-general and the Queen, were set off. For over two hours the river was a flood of light, with the youth and beauty of the city, in spectacular costumes, sailing up and down. In some of the gondolas were singers with musical instruments, the music adding to the gayety of the affair.

One of the prettiest gondolas was that of the Merchants, which was gaily decorated and filled with young ladies. The mystic Shriners' gondola was covered with Turkish draperies and propelled by gondoliers in the costumes of the Shriners. The Clerks' gondola was illuminated also by Chinese lanterns and in a temple sat a queen of Beauty. Another gondola represented a camp fire, while the Capitola gondola represented the dome of the State Capitol, from which swung scores of Venetian lights.

The yacht White Wings arrived this afternoon, after a fifty-six-hour voyage from San Francisco. She was becalmed for twenty-four hours off Pigeon Point. Aboard her were: J. V. Coleman, J. Ross Jackson, Nat Messer, Dr. Mooklar and Dr. Coke. The Ramona, which left San Francisco yesterday has not yet been signalled. The Olympia will not be here until tomorrow.

The trains arriving this evening added to the crowd. Not only is San Francisco largely represented, but San Jose also sent over more than fifteen hundred people. Tomorrow Gen. Dimond and Gen. Warfield and their staff will arrive. Gov. Budd and staff are expected Friday.

THE OLYMPIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The United States cruiser Olympia left this evening for Santa Cruz having on board a battalion of the Naval Reserve. The officers objected to the cruise, declaring that their ship should not be turned into an excursion-boat, but when the Naval Reserve officers appealed to Secretary Herbert, he made the desired order.

A MATTER OF BONDS.

Heney is Thrown into Jail for Inability to Secure Backing.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CARSON (Nev.,) June 12.—James H. Heney was thrown into jail this afternoon. He was brought up before the United States Commissioner yesterday, who said that he would place Heney's bonds at $25,000. Heney's attorney objected to this, saying that he came voluntarily and telegraphed the United States Marshal to get him in Leadville, Colo. The commissioner then said that he would allow Heney to go on his own recognizance until the return of Dist.-Atty. Jones, whom he thought should be consulted.

Jones returned today and insisted that Heney's bonds be placed at $25,000 and would consent to nothing less. Heney said that he could not give over $10,000, and so went to prison pending trial. Heney's friends and attorneys say that Jones's action is in direct violation of his promise to them, saying that they were led to believe that Heney's bonds would be fixed at not over $10,000 if he would surrender himself.

Miss Rita Arguello Seeks the Arrest of George Barron.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—A warrant was issued this afternoon for the arrest of George Barron on a charge of embezzlement. The warrant was issued at the request of Miss Rita Arguello, who charges that Barron has robbed her of a diamond ring and $330 in cash.

Barron has been paying attentions to Miss Arguello for some time, and, she says, that he has won her love and her diamonds and money. Miss Arguello, who resides at No. 703 Geary street, is a member of the wealthy Arguello family of San Jose. Barron is a native of that city.

THE COLIMA INQUIRY.

The Steamer's Officers Made no Efforts to Aid the Passengers.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The official investigation into the causes that led to the wreck of the steamer Colima off Manzanillo, Mex., on May 27, was resumed this afternoon before United States Inspectors Talbot and Phillips. Several of the surviving passengers told the story of the storm and shipwreck, stating that although the officers realized their precarious situation, no attempt was made to lower the boats or to distribute life-preservers.

THREE MORE PASSENGERS SAVED.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—An Examiner special from Manzanillo says that a letter received by the agents of the Pacific Mail here states that two women and a man, Americans and Colima passengers, landed at Naragastilla, fifty miles southeast of Manzanillo on May 29 and have been nursed by the Indians there. They are now on mules on the way here. The story is corroborated by Aduana Marshal, the customs collector at Manzanillo.

LATER.—The men brought up on the train are Fred Johnson, a sailor, and Robert Gonzales, mess-boy. They were picked up by the steamer Barracouta and taken to Manzanillo. When the Colima went down they got on a raft and floated about for many hours before help came.

TWO MORE BROUGHT TO 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The steamer Colton arrived from Panama at midnight with two more survivors of the Colima on board. Their names are not yet obtainable.

Manager Capell's Scheme for Colonizing His Master's Estate.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Manager Capell has devised a scheme to bring a large population to the valley of the Sacramento, believing that the prosperity of this State depends on dividing those big ranches and making twenty homes where only one existed before. He has an ideal community in view, a community where each industrious family will have a house and a farm and the harvest will yield an independence to all.

The big ranch of Count Valensin at Arno is to be cut up into tracts from eighty to one hundred acres, and an active and industrious class of farmers brought here from Europe. On one part of the land a space will be set aside for an agricultural college.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

The Durrant Murder Case May be Tried at Santa Rosa.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SANTA ROSA, June 12.—It is reported here today that the famous Durrant murder case may be tried in the Superior Court here. It is rumored that a change of venue from the San Francisco Superior Court will be asked for on the ground that the great publicity given to the case there makes it almost impossible to secure an impartial jury.

If the case is tried here it will not be the first time that important cases have been transferred from San Francisco to Sonoma county. The famous Colton railway case, the most voluminous in the history of the State, was tried here, as was also the famous Morrow bribery case.

A GRASSHOPPER INVASION.

Ranches in Yolo, Sutter and Yuba Counties Visited.

WHEATLAND, June 12.—While grasshoppers are noticeable about here and through Sutter and Yuba counties, they are not seriously menacing the crops, although more than the usual number was hatched this season. Small gardens near parched pastures and along grain-fields naturally attract grasshoppers. On the fertile bottom land of Bear River, which support hops, orchards, vineyards, alfalfa, corn and other green crops, grasshoppers are seen. The ranchers are not alarmed.

Viticultural Committees.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—President Bichowsky of the State Viticultural Commission has appointed the following committees to serve for the remaining six months of its existence: Executive, George West, I. de Turk and John T. Doyle; Finance, Allen Towle, R. D. Stevenson and H. H. Crabb; Vine Pests, Charles Bundscher, P. W. Crabb and George West; Distillation, H. W. Crabb, J. de Barth Shorb and R. D. Stevens; Tablegrapes, R. D. Stevens, Allen Towle and Charles Bunscher; Anaheim Disease, J. de Barth Shorb and E. C. Bichowsky.

Death of a Musician.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Prof. Charles Goffrie, at one time one of the best-known musicians in the world, died at Fruitvale on Sunday. He was a native of Germany, where he was born in the city of Anaheim, seventy-four years ago. Although he made considerable money and was famous in his time, Goffrie died in comparative poverty and obscurity.

Holbrook Wins.

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) June 12.—Full returns from the election held yesterday in the county of Navajo for the location of the county seat give the permanent location to Holbrook by 150 majority. The fight was between Winslow and Holbrook, and has been a lively one.

Their Belligerence Cooled.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The battery charges against Dr. Marc Levingston and Attorney Tum Suden, who engaged in a street fight yesterday, were dismissed today by consent of both parties.

A Brutal Chinatown Squad.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The Chinese Consulate, the Chinese Merchants' Exchange and the Chinese Six Companies have filed charges with the Police Commissioners against Sergeant Cook and the Chinatown police squad, charging them with brutality. It is said that one Chinese who was clubbed may die.

Crazed by His Losses.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—P. Hanson, a cable-car gripman, has become insane and has been committed to the Ukiah Asylum, as the result of the loss of $1850 sustained by the failure of the People's Home Savings Bank, some time ago.

Boruck Reported to be Dying.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Marcus D. Boruck, a veteran newspaper man and politician, is reported to be dying at his residence in this city. It is not believed that he will live through the night.

SANTA MONICA.

Maccabee Aftermath—Doings at the Wharf—News Notes.

SANTA MONICA, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) It develops that one reason for the partial fall-down of Maccabee plans for the celebration here yesterday may be laid at the door of the railway people, who refused, finally, to accord the half-rates, which had been advertised, for tickets. How this misunderstanding occurred it is small consequence to inquire now, but it happened; some one blundered, and that had much to do with the visitors who never came.

But Santa Monica took the matter up, and the Maccabees came out winners after all. The afternoon sports were concluded before supper, and afforded plenty of amusement. Mason Reed ran away with both prizes in the mile bicycle races, and Will Johnson won the slow race. C. W. Rainey was swift enough to win the foot race, and Willie Smith proved himself the most rapid boy in donning his shoes and stockings. Joe Hart won the swimming race and Lawrence Loomis the pony race. Some of the minor events were omitted for lack of time, and then the day wound up with the ball and supper, about whose complete success there could be no question raised. The net result of the day therefore was that the local tent came out ahead in the financial line, and everyone concerned seemed to enjoy the occasion.

The Corona sailed north from the wharf here this afternoon, carrying more than forty passengers, who shipped here, as well as a carload of freight for northern ports. The Bonita was at the dock yesterday and left ninety tons of freight. The Alcatraz has arrived with a cargo of ties and lumber for the railroad company, and the San Mateo is due with coal tonight or tomorrow. As the weather gets warmer the anglers from the wharf increase, entirely independent of the unimportant question as to whether the fish are biting or not.

Capt. Dornfield and family will shortly remove from the wharf and take up their permanent residence at Santa Monica.

Charles Truett and wife are down from Los Angeles for a week's outing, the guests of W. S. Vawter and family.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

A special to the Denver Republican from Boise, Idaho, says that an alarming state of affairs exists in Coeur d'Alene. Serious trouble is likely to break out there at any time between the Miners' Union and the Law and Order men in that section, who have organized to protect laborers in their right to work if they can find employment, and the mine-owners in their right to employ whom they please. A man who incurred the enmity of the Miners' Union was killed there recently, murdered with an axe, which was found buried in his skull, and the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. Gov. McConnell has made a requisition on the government for arms, and has obtained several hundred stands. Over two hundred volunteers are drilling there to prepare for the coming conflict, which seems imminent. Idaho has no State militia.

The Autorite of Paris, in demanding the publication of the text of the treaty between France and Russia, makes the statement that the French government does not dare to make it public because the first clause binds France to accept the European situation, meaning acquiescence in the loss of Alsace and Lorraine.

Crane & Co., of Chicago, manufacturers of pipe-fittings and brass goods, announced a 10 per cent. increase in wages yesterday. The increase affects 2300 men. The firm announced that the great improvement in its own business within the last few months and the general business revival justifies higher wages.

News reached Tyler, Tex., yesterday that the negro, Walter Johnson, had been lynched by a mob at Lufkin, Tex. Johnson ravished the seven-year-old daughter of Robert Schaefer.

The Comptroller of the Currency has authorized the Standard National Bank of the city of New York to begin business, with a capital of $200,000.

The United Society of Christian Endeavor throughout the world held its annual meeting at Boston yesterday. The old officers were re-elected.

A despatch from Muskegon, Mich., says that the Methodist camp-meting opened at Ravenna yesterday afternoon with a tragedy. A shower of rain was falling, when suddenly there was a flash, followed by a deafening crash. Lightning had struck one of the tents, instantly killing Mrs. Burgeson. Her sister, Miss Hilliard, was seriously shocked, but may recover. Sixteen others were badly injured by the shock.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that it is stated that the Sultan's health has suffered on account of his anxiety over the Armenian question and other difficulties, and that symptoms of paralysis have appeared.

A Sault Ste Marie dispatch says that the new Canadian canal will be formally opened today. The contracts for the canal and lift-locks were let in November, 1888. At a point about 1500 feet above the lock it is crossed by a swinging bridge, over which the railroad systems of Canada and the United States find accommodation. The work altogether cost about $4,000,000.

The Kolnische Zeitung declares that Germany will support the powers in their demands with regard to Armenia.

A Berlin cablegram says that the government has closed the Mairiaburg Asylum, which was the scene of the scandals brought out by the trial of Herr Maliage for libel, and has ordered the trial for perjury of the two brothers who are accused of responsibility for the abuse of the inmates.

A St. Petersburg dispatch to the London Times says that the Czar and Czarina received the Armenian Catholics yesterday with great ceremony at the palace and accepted their petition for the redress of Armenian wrongs graciously.

The St. Johns, N. F., government will introduce a loan bill which proves that a loan has practically been obtained, although many persons believe they will have to pass the loan, retrenchment and revenue bills before the money is handed over. Rumors of dissensions in the government party over retrenchment are still current and a revolt is expected.

Maj. McLellan, a Conservative, has asked the House of Commons at Ottawa to pass a bill to prevent the letting of government contracts to aliens. He thought it a crying shame that the United States contractors should annually take hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the Dominion. The United States laws, he said, made it practically impossible for Canadians to get contracts in the United States.

The London Daily News correspondent at Vienna telegraphs that the coalition of the German Liberals, the Polish and the Conservative parties, upon which the Windischgratz Cabinet was formed, has collapsed by the secession of two German Liberals. Two of the Liberal ministers, those of finance and of commerce, have not been compelled to resign. The position of the ministry is precarious.

The financial article in the London Daily News says that it is reported the directors of the Bank of England talk of reducing the bank rate to 1½.

A Sioux Falls, S. D., dispatch says that W. W. Taylor is to make all the restitution possible, leaving comparatively little for the bondsmen to pay and is to stand trial. The State has given no assurance, except that Taylor is more likely to be leniently treated if he returns and makes no fight than otherwise. He will be in Pierre inside of ten days.

The scene on the banks of Boggy Creek is a queer one for agricultural Oklahoma. Instead of diminishing, the gold fever grows apace. People are rushing pell-mell along the banks of the stream, where the camps are only a few feet apart. A regular back line has been established between Arapahoe and the goldfield. Men are riding into town almost hourly with sacks of the precious ore.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

People Protest Against Corruption in Office—Notes.

SAN DIEGO, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) A protest against the corruption of public officials has been made by the people of this county by the indictments of ex-Tax Collector H. W. Weineke and C. E. Mayne by the grand jury, as reported in The Times today. For six years or so public officers have repeatedly failed to account for public funds intrusted to their care. Taxpayers are tired of this sort of thing. They propose to hold somebody responsible. Mr. Weineke is not believed to be guilty of criminal action in his inability to account for $1400 taxes received, but it is his duty to make good the deficit, and the county proposes to make him or his bondsmen do so. The indictment against Mr. Mayne is a very serious matter. He is charged with an attempt to bribe Councilmen to vote for a certain water proposition, recently considered by the city, involving an expenditure of $1,400,000. No fair-minded man will believe the accused man guilty of the charge until his guilt is proven in the courts. For a year or so powerful water companies have fought here for the favor of the city. If it could be proven that one of these companies had attempted to bribe Councilmen, the public antipathy might be such as to exclude this company from consideration by the city. It is alleged that antagonism to this company is sought through the indictment of Mr. Mayne, on the charge of attempting bribery. Some of the testimony before the grand jury on which this charge is based, is peculiar. One witness testified that the accused gave a check for $250 to a Councilman for his vote for a certain water scheme. Mr. Mayne is a man of acknowledged business ability. Consequently it would be amazing should he thus openly endeavor to buy votes. Attempts at the last city election to impugn the integrity of an aspiring water company, which proved to be fruitless because of failure to prove guilt, point to a concerted effort on the part of the opponents of this water company to damage a legitimate enterprise.

Laura A. Wilhite has been granted a divorce from W. L. Wilhite, Jr.

Chula Vista and Sweetwater ranchers object to the advance of water rates by the San Diego Land and Town Company. The new rate is $7 per acre or double the old rate.

The Native Sons have elected W. A. Burres, past president; E. E. Shaffer, president.

Lucy Coulter transfers to L. E. Ibes the Belleview Hotel for $10,000.

Steamer Corona brings 200,000 grainsacks for use by San Diego ranchers.

Prof. George A. Merrill and wife, who were married here Tuesday, go to Catalina for a honeymoon.

In the case of D. O. McCarthy vs. the Mt. Tecarte Water Company for $19,000, defendants have appealed from judgment of the court in favor of plaintiff.

The Savings Bank of San Diego has obtained a judgment against John G. Capron for $8000 and against C. C. Seaman for $9000.

Maximum temperature on Tuesday, 69 deg.; minimum, 59 deg.

George W. Howard, labor agitator, who has been committed to jail in company with Debs and his gang, was formerly employed by the Coronado Railway.

POMONA.

The Board of Trustees and the Marshal Question.

POMONA, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) The City Trustees met in their hall last evening for work, and the honorable body was again taken by "snap judgment," as it were, by Edwin A. Meserve of Los Angeles, attorney for the Anti-saloon Committee, in that he suddenly surprised them with an assertion that the office of City Marshal was in fact vacant—as John W. Lorbeer, who had been fairly and squarely elected, had, it is claimed, failed to file bond and take the oath of office within the limit prescribed by law, and it was necessary and incumbent upon the Board of Trustees to (as in the case of Sheriff John Burr) fill the same by appointment. It was a kind of "bomb" in camp, that was not anticipated by the high license boys.

The Pomona Weekly Times was awarded the city printing—both job work and advertising.

Will Strong, conductor of the Pomona Band, was, upon his application, granted permission to have erected adjacent to the hose and fire engine-house, a band stand.

Dr. T. Hardy Smith and Francis G. Healy were appointed to fill the two vacancies in the Board of Health.

The City Clerk was instructed to see about getting a street-cleaner from Los Angeles.

The carpet-cleaning establishment, corner of Bertie and Thomas streets, was granted permission to use a gasoline engine.

Bids for furnishing city water for street sprinkling purposes were opened, but not acted upon.

An ordinance prohibiting the burning of rubbish within the north line of First, south line of Third, west line of Parcells, and east line of Louisa streets, was laid over for future action.

The Street Superintendent was instructed to see after the keeping clean of the newly-paved portion of Second, in the absence of a regular street-cleaner.

Adjourned to Tuesday evening, June 18, when a special meeting will be held to hear any statement City Marshal Lorbeer may present, individually or through his attorney.

The Board of Education, at its session last night, re-elected all the present teachers in the Pomona public schools except Miss Ada Quinn, who did not make an application, as she is announced to take charge of a school of but one pupil, and that one, too, beyond the scholastic age, in whose stead Mrs. Nellie D. Westerman was elected.

The Pomona public schools closing Friday, on Saturday there will be a grand picnic excursion of the pupils, teachers and parents from Pomona, via the Santa Fe to Redondo Beach; time for leaving Pomona, 7:45 a.m.; Redondo, 4 p.m.

H. G. Doty and J. S. Soto have been selected as school trustees in the Palomares district at Lordsburg.

It seems from a letter written by Horticultural Commissioner John Scott to a Pomonan, that he and State Quarantine Officer Alexander Craw were not very successful in finding good results in this valley from the work of the Rhizobius ventralis upon the black scale—asserting that ranchers would be foolish to depend upon these parasites.

The directors of the Palomares Irrigation Company as just elected are: B. S. and H. J. Nichols, H. M. Bateman, J. L. Means and C. L. Loud.

Capt. A. D. Thatcher of this place will dry and care for about four hundred tons of deciduous fruit at San Fernando this season, having already gone there to assume charge of affairs.

Mrs. Byron Roberts is booked to leave for Boston, Mass., today.

Miss Julia M. Poston of Napa is visiting the family of her brother, W. H. Poston, of this city.

CIRCULATION.

Sworn Weekly Statement of the Circulation of the Los Angeles Times.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, SS.

Personally appeared before me, H. G. Otis, president and general manager of the Times-Mirror Company, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that the daily circulation records and daily pressroom reports of the office show that the bona fide editions of The Times for each day of the week ended June 8, 1895, were as follows:

Sunday,	June 2	20,050
Monday,	" 3	13,750
Tuesday,	" 4	13,750
Wednesday,	" 5	13,775
Thursday,	" 6	13,750
Friday,	" 7	13,750
Saturday,	" 8	13,800
Total		102,625
Gross daily average		14,660

(Signed) H. G. OTIS.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 8th day of June, 1895.

(Seal) J. C. OLIVER,
Notary Public in and for Los Angeles County, State of California.

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven-day paper. The above aggregate, viz., 102,625 copies, issued by us during the seven days of the past week, would, if apportioned on the basis of a six-day evening paper, give a daily average circulation for each week-day of 17,104 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which has regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. Advertisers have the right to know the NET CIRCULATION of the medium which seeks their business, and this THE TIMES gives them correctly, from time to time.

FOR SALE—FOR BEAUTIFUL HOMES,
CONGER'S WILSON TRACT.
For desirable medium-priced homes in that portion of the city where health, ease of access, beautiful scenery, freedom from many serious objections that obtain elsewhere, I have the location and property; all I ask is an opportunity to show you, whether looking for a safe investment that will surely pay you large returns, or for a location to build you a home. Where can you find lots 50x150 to a 16-foot alley on graveled streets, cement walks, choice shade trees set, within 15 minutes of the business center of the city on a double-track electric car line, for $375? You may say "talk is cheap;" demonstrate the truth of above statements at my expense; my prices are low and terms easy. Call on owner at his home on tract, No. 2207 Central ave., before 9 a.m. and after 4:30 p.m., or at No. 117 S. Broadway balance of day, and see this property.
H. M. CONGER.

THE PEOPLE'S HOME SAVINGS BANK. The failure of the People's Home Savings Bank in San Francisco was one of the most disgraceful and disastrous that ever appeared in the State. For some time it was believed that the depositors would get practically nothing, but it is now understood that they will receive a considerable percentage of their deposits. The bank when it failed had nearly $1,500,000 on deposit, with assets to the value of nearly $2,000,000. Few of the depositors, however, have entertained the idea that these assets would realize anything like their face value.

There are some of the People's Home depositors in Los Angeles and they will be interested to know that there is a probability of a 15 per cent. dividend being declared about the 10th of August, that is to say, if an agreement can be made with the Pacific Bank in regard to a hundred-thousand-dollar mortgage which the People's Bank holds on that building. Of the million and a half dollars due depositors it is understood that about half is held by a trust company.

THE FRUIT OUTLOOK. Almost all advices in regard to the fruit market which are received nowadays are of an encouraging character to California growers. From France it is announced that the crop of prunes there will be reduced fully a third from the amount produced last year. This means in the neighborhood of 20,000,000 pounds less of that product on the market. London and Bordeaux advices indicate that the grape crop has been injured 75 per cent.; peaches from 25 to 40 per cent., and cherries 20 per cent. In the vicinity of New York and in Michigan small fruits have been damaged extensively.

The season is too early for the formation of anything like a reliable opinion regarding the apple crop.

These advices should mean that good prices will prevail for California fruit this year. The California prune crop wil be a good average one. Other fruits will show up well with the single exception of apricots, which will be light.

CHICAGO AUCTIONS. Much indignation prevails among deciduous fruit men in the northern part of the State at the attempt of the Fruit-buyers' Association of Chicago to force the fruit men of California to confine the bidding at the fruit-auction sales to members of the association. This action is justly characterized by fruit-growers as an impudent one. The natural result of such a policy would be lower prices for the growers. It is evident that the time has come when deciduous fruit men should organize themselves as completely for the shipping and marketing of their crop as the orange-growers have done.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

MORE CALIFORNIA PETROLEUM. San Francisco is much interested just now in a discovery of coal oil and natural gas in Contra Costa county, just over the hills to the northeast of Berkeley. It appears that oil and gas have been seeping out of a creek for forty years, and, just as in this section, the residents paid little attention to the deposits until recently, when the oil developments in the southern part of the State have drawn their attention to the possibility that they may have a great source of wealth lying undeveloped at their doors.

There is oil in Santa Cruz county; in fact, what is said to be the first petroleum well ever sunk in the United States was bored in that county in 1863. There is an excellent quality of oil in the coast range in Fresno county, in which some Los Angeles citizens are interested. This brings us very near to the deposits of Santa Barbara, Ventura and Newhall, and so on to the local oil fields, which, in turn, are connected with those at Puente and Whittier, while there are outcroppings of oil near San Bernardino. Several wells have recently been sunk right in the heart of that city. It, therefore, appears very probable that the entire coast range, from San Francisco to the Mexican line—and possibly north of San Francisco—is impregnated with petroleum. The fact is that Californians are only just beginning to awake to the vast importance of these deposits of a valuable product that has done so much to build up Pennsylvania and other States. Just now, when the Pennsylvania product is threatening to give out, the development of the California oil fields becomes of special importance. It is said that the oil recently discovered in Contra Costa county differs from that found in other parts of the State, in having paraffin, instead of asphaltum, for a base. That is to say, it is illuminating oil. If this is true, it may be expected that the Standard Oil Company will give its early and close attention to the strike.

ELECTRICITY VS. HORSES. Reference was recently made in these columns to a project for the canning of horses in Oregon. Some people regard this in the light of a newspaper squib, but it is a solid business fact. Later particulars have been received, which show that a corporation, known as the Western Packing and Fertilizing Company, has been formed by Portland men. The factory is almost completed, and is to be in operation by July 1, when the managers expect to kill from fifty to sixty horses a day.

This novel departure, it appears, is another direct consequence of the prevailing bicycle mania. The introduction of the bicycle and electricity throughout the country have so diminished the need for horses that large bands in Oregon and Washington have almost no value. The railroads refuse to ship them to the East, unless the freight is paid in advance, fearful that they will not there bring enough to pay the freight bill.

The only way, therefore, to reduce the large numbers grazing on the great ranches, each eating about as much as two head of more valuable cattle, is to grind them up. The company has bought between five and six thousand head at a cost of $3 each on the ranches, and they believe they can get a great many more at the same price. These horses used to sell readily at $50 each. But prices have fallen so low lately that one band of between one thousand and eleven hundred head, grazing partly in Oregon and partly in Idaho, and sold lately for the lump sum of $2000. It would probably cost as much more, however, to "gather" them, to use the colloquial term of the drovers and dealers.

The main object of the company is not to produce meat for sale, although some of it will be put up and sent as an experiment to Europe, where horse meat is largely consumed, there being regular depots for the sale of horse flesh in Berlin, Paris and other cities. The main object of the company is to turn the horses into oil, glue and fertilizing material, extracting tallow and preserving the hair and skin in various ways. The meat of the horses cooked by steam and reduced to a mass is to be used as a fertilizer and will be shipped to Hawaii for the sugar plantations. The company is preparing to deliver horse meat at the rate of 1 cent per pound, but will only sell it on the distinct understanding that it is horse meat and to be sold as such.

When steam was first generally introduced as a motive power some fifty years ago, a general cry went up that there would be no more demand for horses. As we all know, nothing of this kind happened. The demand for horses rather increased than diminished. Now, however, with the extensive introduction of the trolley car, and then on top of that the widely prevailing use of the bicycle, the effect upon the demand for horses is beginning to be seriously felt. It is not surprising, when it is considered how many horses that were formerly used in the cities to pull street cars are now replaced by electricity, and how many individuals, who formerly used to ride to business on horseback or in a buggy, now use a bicycle.

Unless some unexpected chance should happen, the outlook is for a decreased demand and consequently lower prices for horses. In future, with the increase of wealth and luxury, there will be a considerable demand for fine carriage horses, that is to say, until electricity is generally utilized as a motive power for private carriages, which time will probably come before long, but for some time to come well-matched teams of carriage horses will probably be the most profitable class of animal for horse-breeders to raise.

MAIN STREET. Bryan & Clark have just closed up the sale of seventy feet of Main street, between Fifth and Sixth, from Dr. Wise to C. J. Ball, for $18,000.

DUN'S LOCAL REPORT. Late telegrams from the East indicate general improvement in business when compared with 1894. In fact, the gain has been so rapid in many departments that conservatives are led to question whether the improvement can be maintained. Clearances continue to expand and altogether there seems every prospect that Eastern consumers will be better able to buy California products this year than at any time since 1892.

In Southern California we will have larger crops than for some years, with promise of better prices for everything except wool. The country districts are full of hope, and improvement in trade is made apparent by increased orders from country merchants, better collections and freedom from failures.

Retail houses report good average business so far this month, with building trades constantly increasing, but too keen competition restricts profits. Bank deposits are increasing all the time, with only moderate demand for money in legitimate channels.

Another San Francisco jobbing house has found it to its interest to open a branch here and others are promised at no distant day.

The oil industry has developed far beyond what the most sanguine could have ever expected and promises to make a commercial city of Los Angeles. More than two thousand barrels of oil are being produced every day, and over $650 per day is being paid out in wages alone.

So far this month there have been but two failures with liabilities of $675 and nominal assets.

WEATHER AND CROPS. The weather-crop bulletin of Southern California for the week ending June 10, reported by Observer George E. Franklin, says:

The warm weather which was reported as prevailing at the closing of the last bulletin, continued during the first part of the week just past, and which was followed by cooler weather with frequent morning fogs in the coast districts. The weather conditions were generally favorable for the growth of vegetation, and the warm days hastened the maturing of crops. Reports are encouraging as a rule, though some ill effects were experienced from high winds and from the depredations of army worms. The grain harvest is in full operation, with reports of the yield being generally good; the deciduous fruit crop is reported fair to good, except for apricots.

San Luis Obispo: The weather was favorable for all purposes. A light frost occurred on the 1st, which did no harm. Highest temperature, 94 deg.; lowest, 37 deg.

Santa Barbara: The high winds of the past two weeks did considerable injury to the mustard. Army worms have ceased their depredations on the mustard, and the damage was slight. The early crop is nearly ready for harvesting.

Ventura county—Bardsdale: The weather was fair and favorable; crop conditions are unchanged. Besides a scant crop of peaches, it is found that oranges are falling off badly. Prunes and apricots are heavy.

Los Angeles county—Los Angeles city: Very warm weather prevailed the first of the week, when the temperature rose to 100 deg. on the 4th; the remainder of the week was cooler with frequent cloudy or foggy mornings. A sprinkling rain fell on the morning of the 8th, but too light to be of good. La Canyada: The cherry season is approaching the close; berries, including strawberries, blueberries, blackberries and all the varieties of raspberries are of excellent quality and abundant. The grape crop promises to be unprecedented in quantity, as the worms have not infested the vines. Highest temperature, 88 deg.; lowest, 45 deg. Pasadena: Tuesday was very hot; maximum temperature, 97 deg., but the weather became much cooler with heavy fogs every morning the rest of the week. Apricots are of fine quality, and are a much better crop than first supposed. Oranges have set well. Duarte: The weather has been quite favorable; Tuesday was very hot, the temperature being 101 deg.; all crops are growing nicely; oranges are closed out except a few stray carloads. Pomona: The deciduous fruit crop indicates at present for peaches a full crop, and large; prunes and pears, half crop; apricots, less than half of last year's crop; berries, full crop; strawberries, not so plentiful as in former years. The mornings have been foggy, but the days were clear.

San Bernardino county—Cucamonga: The prune crop, which, early in the season promised to be short, has lately developed in size. In some orchards the yield will be light, but in the majority of cases a big crop will be gathered. Chino: The beet-planting season is over, and a large acreage has been put in.

Riverside county—The big wheat fields just south and west of Moreno have been badly damaged by rust, and the crop from that section will be considerably reduced.

Orange county—Tustin: Several warm days occurred during the week, the temperature reaching 101 deg. on the 4th inst. Barley cutting is in full blast, and the yield is generally good, but as considerable grain has fallen down, more work than usual is needed to save it. Bees are again working well. The fruit prospect continues as before reported; apricots, light; peaches and prunes, good crop; hardshell walnuts, light; soft-shell, medium. Capistrano: Highest temperature, 92 deg.; lowest, 68 deg.

San Diego county—Bernardo: The temperature went up to 92 deg. on the 4th, but no ill effects appeared. Grain cutting is in progress. There will be quite a large amount threshed in this section, notwithstanding the extra-large hay output. Corn is making a fine growth: Valley Center: There will be a fine crop of honey this year. San Marcos: Harvesting outfits are everywhere in operation in this region.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Trading was quite active in the stock market today, but the upward movement was not quite so general in character as on yesterday. There was some realizing and the bear element was more aggressive, but still most of the leading stocks show gains on the day. London operated on both sides of the market, but chiefly as a seller of St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville. The Grangers were bought by commission-houses and good orders in these shares were reported from the West. The market opened strong and moved up a fraction in the early dealings. Before long, however, a realizing movement set in and a reaction took place. The lower figures attracted purchasers and before noon values had again taken an upward turn. The improvement continued in force in the afternoon up to 2 o'clock, at which time the earlier losses had been regained and a wider range of prices established. During the last hour the market was irregular, but in the main heavy. A report to the effect that a decision in the Distilling quo warranto case was rendered adverse to the company was circulated on the exchange in the last half hour and caused a raid on the stock, which fell 1¾ per cent., with a final recovery of ¾ per cent. Compared with the final sales of yesterday, the closing prices today ar eirregular, but a greater number of shares dealt in show gains rather than losses. The market closed somewhat heavy in tone. The bond market today was strong and animated, with a wide range of dealings. The aggregate sales were $2,708,000.

WHAT WE SHOULD BE.

With the desirable climatic conditions which obtain in California, one would suppose that this State would be the natural goal of the tourist, since from almost every climatic ill which obtains elsewhere we are almost entirely exempt.

California is also a State filled with natural wonders, and possessing all the charms of mountain scenery and the attractions of the shore. No other country in the world has as much to offer in the way of natural curiosities as has California. Among other things, we have the world's one Yosemite, that aggregation of marvels where the very waterfalls appear to leap from the heavens, and the mighty uplift of granite walls is like the face of another firmament. Why is it that so many wealthy tourists go to Europe, or to the South, instead of coming to this Coast?

We have room for a population of many millions within our boundaries, and yet within the whole State we find a population of only about a million and a quarter.

Perhaps one thing that is against us is the uneven manner in which the population is distributed throughout the State. We find that more than one-half of our whole population is gathered into a score of cities, containing each a population of five thousand and upward, and the smaller towns have gathered in about one hundred thousand of the remaining number. This leaves but a sparse population to occupy the remainder of our extensive territory. There are vast stretches of unoccupied lands, bare of homes and of cultivation, which are rich in all the essentials to abundant productiveness. What California needs is more people, smaller farms and more of them, and a better home market for what we produce. It is folly for us to send East and pay the cost of transportation on articles that could be produced equally well, or better, here at home. We should multiply our industries and set to work more earnestly to develop our valuable resources. If we would rapidly increase our population and see the State stand where she might in the line of growth and development. Southern California is doing this in a degree, and is reaping the benefit therefrom. The lower hills and valleys are being occupied, and new homes and orchards, with extensive vineyards, are multiplying. Towns and villages are springing up; railroad communication is increasing, and the country in all directions is putting on the appearance of being inhabited. We are getting rid of that air of solitude which is repellant to the home-seeker, and drawing within the world of men. We have opened the door and paved the way for progress, and the march onward will be more rapid in the future than in the past. When once the path for the onward march of empire is blazed, Empire is not prone to halt, but her steps are right onward. Growth will not be confined to our towns and cities, but will radiate outward and the whole section will feel the impetus of advancement.

And once let the whole of California be fully populated, and what a gigantic empire of civilization and of wealth she will present! With her 40,000,000 acres of arable land all occupied and all under cultivation, there is no State in the Union that will be able to compare with her in wealth and in the comfort and ease enjoyed by her people. With honest industry and a provident care for his future, almost any man will be able to enjoy a comfortable competence in this State as its resources are developed, its industries multiplied, its markets increased. When the great holdings which now do not produce a hundredth part of what they might be made to produce are divided into small farms, and fully cultivated, we shall see a new condition of affairs throughout the Golden State, and there will be no spot under the Stars and Stripes where men will be so eager to live, or where they will enjoy so many of the blessings of life as right here in California.

PREPOSTEROUS SILVERITE DEMANDS.

The silver extremists of Iowa and Illinois have even invaded the right of free contract—the right of two or more men to make contracts between themselves on terms such as they may agree upon. The Iowa silverooms, in their recent convention declared that—

"We favor repeal of any and all laws which permit the making of contracts discriminating against payment in any kind of money which is legal tender."

And the Illinois silver fiatists proposed that—

"All contracts hereafter executed for the payment of money, whether in gold, silver or coin, may be discharged by any money which is by law legal tender."

The right of men to make contracts to suit their own convenience, or to incur obligations payable in any manner or material they may agree upon, is a fundamental right. To prohibit free contracts would be an unwarrantable invasion of personal rights, and such a law would no doubt be held invalid. Whether invalid or not, a law so ridiculous would be practically a dead letter. If valid, people would refuse to make contracts, credits would be abolished and business would be paralyzed.

The silver fiatists are laboring under a great delusion if they imagine that the government could legally deprive any man of his property, or a portion thereof, without due compensation. Fortunately, the Constitution of the United States prohibits any such highway robbery under cover of law. The silverite scheme, if enacted into law—of which, by the way, there is not the slightest danger—would be a mode of robbery as unjust and as flagrant, though perhaps not as obvious, as the mode which bids a man to "stand and deliver" at the muzzle of a gun.

THE CASE OF PROF. SEARCH.

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held tonight, at which, it is understood, the principal business will be an attempt to dismiss Prof. P. W. Search, Superintendent of Schools. The ostensible ground for Mr. Search's dismissal is said to be his ineligibility for the office, by reason of his not having been a resident of the city or State at the time of his appointment. An opinion has been obtained, it is stated, from City Attorney Dunn, to the effect that Mr. Search, under a strict interpretation of the laws, was not eligible when appointed. And it is further stated that Prof. Search has obtained from the office of the Attorney-General of the State an opinion of like import.

It seems a very singular circumstance that the sapient gentlemen of the Board of Education should have waited until this late day to ascertain whether Prof. Search was eligible to the office. They should have known this in advance of the appointment. Or, not knowing it at that time, they should have discovered it long before the present time. In any case, whether Prof. Search was or was not eligible at the time of his appointment, he will become so when he shall have been a resident of the State for one year. The question of eligibility will have been settled beyond all dispute before the active services of Mr. Search or his successor will again be needed in the school work.

Thus, it appears, the raising of the question of eligibility at this time is a mere subterfuge. No necessity whatever exists for the dismissal of Prof. Search at the present time on the ground alleged—ineligibility. There must, then, be some other ground—and there is. It is well known that Prof. Search's introduction of the individual system of instruction in the schools has excited the bitter opposition of a number of persons, some of whom are members of the Board of Education. There are undoubtedly some other influences at work against Prof. Search, but there is no doubt that he is to be sacrificed principally on account of the individual method. The Times has frequently remarked upon the unjust manner in which this method has been treated in the schools. It has not been given a fair trial, but has been condemned, almost unheard, by the wiseacres of the Board of Education. This appears to be both injustice and retrogression. And with the system must perforce go Prof. Search, because of his introduction here of what he conceives to be an improved method, and in which opinion he is sustained by many eminent educational authorities!

The Times submits that the attitude of the Board of Education in this matter appears dishonorable, not to say cowardly. If Prof. Search is to be dismissed because of his attempt to introduce into the Los Angeles schools a system of instruction which he believed to be an improvement over the older methods, let the Board of Education at least have the courage and manliness to dismiss him openly for that reason, instead of sneaking behind the petty subterfuge of his "ineligibility"—last year. As has been shown, Prof. Search is eligible for reappointment, whether eligible for appointment last year or not. Therefore the plea of ineligibility is puerile and untenable. If the board is to dismiss Prof. Search, let it do so in a straightforward, honorable manner, and let it not try to deceive the public as to the motives which prompt its action.

IN OTHER CITIES.

Pittsburgh having been mentioned in recent discussions of the social evil as a city which was entirely free from this vice, Chief of Police Glass, who is considerably exercised at the persistent attacks which have been made by the preachers on the police authorities in connection with this question, and who is anxious to obtain any information that may throw light on the best methods of handling it, recently wrote to the Pittsburgh Superintendent of Police, and has received from him the following reply:

"With reference to the social evil, I would state that we have no laws regulating this business, but our acts of Assembly, or State laws, prohibit its existence entirely. However, houses of prostitution and ill-fame exist in our city, but they are kept in the background, as it were, and restricted to such portions of our city as are occupied principally by factories, foundries, machine shops, etc., and we forbid any beckoning to persons on the street by this class of women, or enticing of any kind, or hanging out of windows with loose wrappers on so as to attract specially the attention of people who may be passing by. We do not permit the existence of these kinds of houses in those sections of the city that are occupied by the middle or upper classes of society, and restrict them principally as above stated.

"As is your belief, we believe them to be a necessary evil, but we place restrictions on the proprietresses, such as outlined above."

The Chief has also a work which gives the police regulations of many of the large cities of the world, in this and other countries. From the sections devoted to the social evil it may be seen that in almost every country it has been found necessary to recognize this matter to the extent of regulating it, and the regulations are generally of a very strict order, the houses being confined to a certain section of the city, and the proprietors being compelled to register at police headquarters. In several cases where the governments do not license prostitution they have been compelled to recognize the fact that this is an evil that cannot be eliminated from society, and, acting on this belief, with the object of better protecting the public from the broadcast dissemination of disease and immorality, they have placed the women under strict police surveillance.

Reference to Pittsburgh brings to mind another phase of this question. Some time ago there was a very lively campaign in that city, inaugurated by the churches against houses of prostitution, with the result that they were all closed up. It was in the middle of winter—of a Pennsylvania winter—and many of the unfortunate women were literally starving and freezing on the streets. In this emergency the police asked the ministers if they would not take care of the outcasts for a time until something could be done with them, but they refused to do so, and the consequence was that there was a revulsion of public sentiment and the houses shortly reopened. This is a question that cannot be evaded in discussing the problem. If, as the preachers say, all these women should be turned out to shift for themselves, what is to become of them? Every one knows that it is one of the most difficult things in the world to secure employment for one of these people. It is more difficult than getting work for a man who comes out of jail. How many of the Los Angeles preachers or the members of the Los Angeles churches would be willing to take one of these Magdalens into their homes—that is to say, those who express an inclination to lead a different mode of life?

Perhaps this is a phase of the question that the ministerial reformers have not yet thought of, or perhaps, like those at Pittsburgh, they consider that it is none of their business.

THE GREEN FLAG.

Whatever may be thought in regard to the propriety or otherwise of carrying foreign flags in connection with the Stars and Stripes on occasions celebrating important events in the history of the various countries, there can surely be no two opinions as to the impropriety of permitting anything but the red, white and blue to take its place in a procession on the Fourth of July, the day that is sacred as the natal day of the greatest republic that the world has ever seen. The local Fourth-of-July Committee has very properly refused to allow any other colors to be carried in the procession on that day.

Not so in San Francisco, where they propose to have the greatest Fourth-of-July celebration ever seen on the Pacific Coast. The Executive Committee of the Fourth-of-July Celebration Committee has, in answer to a communication, informed the local society of the Ancient Order of Hibernians that it may carry in the procession the flag known as the green flag of Ireland, if made into the form of a banner, suspended from crosspoles and lettered as a banner of a fraternal order, without conflicting with the resolution that no flags other than the Stars and Stripes would be allowed to be carried.

This is a miserable subterfuge, of which the San Francisco committee ought to feel thoroughly ashamed. Every one knows that if there were not so many voters among the Irish-American population there would be no thought of making an exception of this flag, either in banner or any other shape.

THE LATEST YET.

If all the myths that are published in Eastern papers in regard to California could be gathered together between two covers they would make a volume which would be a greater curiosity than any yet published since the art of printing was introduced. Imagination is everywhere active in relation to this State, and the way it is drawn upon is enough to fatigue even the most gigantic Munchausen intellect in existence.

The following from the New York Recorder of May 20 is the latest that has come to hand:

"The phosphorescent effect of fungi upon the old bark of decaying trees is well known; but it is not so thoroughly understood that there is in California and Nevada a rare tree known as the 'witch tree,' from the way in which every limb, twig and leaf stands outlined in the darkest night by some peculiar phosphorescent quality of the bark. A large tree of this species is estimated to furnish light equivalent to 100 electric lights of standard sixteen candle-power variety, and a few small towns in the foothills have planted witch trees on street corners as an economical means of municipal illumination."

The California Fruit-grower states that it has already received a request to forward one of these wonderful trees for the front lawn of a well-known lawyer in Brooklyn, N. Y. "About a ten-light tree," is the modest and considerate order of this correspondent.

Mexico has the sort of bimetallism which the free-silver cranks would introduce in this country. It is not bimetallism at all, but silver monometallism. There is no gold coinage in Mexico, though the mints are open on equal terms to both gold and silver. The reason is apparent. The gold in a Mexican gold dollar, if such a coin were struck, would be worth as much as the silver in two silver dollars of the present Mexican coinage. The gold is worth much more as bullion than as coin, and is therefore kept out of coinage. The same situation would develop here under unlimited free coinage of silver. The Mexican silver dollar now circulates at its bullion value, even in Mexico. It has about seven grains more of silver than our silver dollar has; yet it takes nineteen Mexican dollars to buy as much gold as is in one of the ten-dollar gold-pieces, while in this country, as everybody knows, ten of our silver dollars are worth as much as one ten-dollar gold-piece, for all practical purposes.

Mr. Gordon, a local attorney who recently wrote a letter in the interest of the Southern Pacific Company's Santa Monica harbor, which letter was criticised somewhat adversely in The Times, protests that his letter was not written for publication and complains of our comments upon it. It is a matter of astonishment to The Times that its course is not satisfactory to Mr. Gordon, whom we recognize as a local railroad and harbor statesman of great profundity and unselfish public spirit. Nevertheless, we took leave to comment upon his recent harbor letter, as upon any other public utterance, it having come to The Times without any pledge of secrecy, in a perfectly regular and proper way, and not as a private and confidential communication. The letter had found its way to the Chamber of Commerce, and thence reached the public through these columns. We do not see that we have either to explain or apologize, and do not understand why Mr. S. B. Gordon "roars" if he believes himself right on the harbor question.

The Times regrets to note that its valued cotemporary, the Topeka State Journal, is "riled." Also that it is resorting to "cuss words" in order to relieve its excess of feeling—something which no truly respectable journal should do. The Times hopes not to be thought profane in quoting the appended paragraph from the Journal to illustrate the extraordinary lengths to which that publication has gone:

"It begins to look as though there might be some sort of a collision between the two dam companies. The people of Topeka are not in a humor to be trifled with much in the matter of a dam. They have been fooled a good many times, and if either of these companies shows an honest disposition to build a dam, it will have the moral support of a large majority of the citizens."

As a matter of course, The Times has no direct interest in this whole dam affair. Yet it ventures to express the hope that if the two dam companies alluded to come into collision, the best one may win.

Evidently the new woman has arrived in France. Whether she has "come to stay" remains to be determined. It seems that a member of the Chamber of Deputies has introduced a bill to subject all young women, as well as men, over 20 years of age, to the military conscription. If the bill passes and becomes a law, it is not improbable that the new woman will find the atmosphere of "Sunny France" less salubrious than heretofore. Yet the proposed law is no more than just. If women insist upon sharing all the privileges of government, they must not expect to shirk its burdens and its duties—not even the somewhat unpleasant duty of bearing arms. It is barely possible that even some of the "advanced" women have not thought of this phase of the agitation.

When California does things, she is apt to do them on a gigantic scale. It is alleged that the largest plow ever made is that lately made at the H. C. Shaw Plow Works of Stockton, in this State, for farmer George McCauley of Forest Lake. It is to be moved by a traction engine of thirty horse-power, and the gang will turn over an aggregate width of ten feet of earth as it moves along. The world do move, and invention will pretty soon leave the farmer nothing to do except what is done by machinery.

If Altgeld has such an intense hatred for American laws and American institutions as he professes, why does he remain here? Why does he lag superfluous on the scene? The doors of Castle Garden are just aching on their hinges to swing outward for Altgeld and all other Anarchists, whose presence curses this country. Altgeld should emigrate to Russia. He would undoubtedly meet with a warm reception in the Czar's dominions.

Li Hung Chang's numerous titles have been disclosed by the text of the peace treaty. They are as follows: Senor Tutor to the Heir Apparent, Senior Grand Secretary of State, Minister Superintendent of Trade for the Northern Parts of China, Viceroy of the Province of Chihli and Earl of the First Rank. It had not been suspected, before this disclosure, that Li was the veritable Poo-Bah of China. The truth is out at last.

The microbe is a pestiferous creation, if it is really responsible for all the evils that are laid at its door. It is now stated by scientists that indigestion is caused by a microbe. This added discovery makes the microbe responsible for about every known ill we suffer from, unless we except Coxey, Debs and the hard times.

Gen. Warner says that "nobody but an out-and-out silver man can carry a single State west of the Missouri River next year." This assertion furnishes conclusive proof that Gen. Warner's one idea has excluded all others from his intellect (so-called.)

The Chicago Tribune says that the split in the Illinois Democracy "looks more like a tear." It may not be as wide as a barn door, but it will do.

A New York man has had his name changed from Proschewtzky to Williams. Can anybody blame him?

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

ATTRACTION TONIGHT.—Tonight there will be presented at the Los Angeles Theater "Alabama," a story of the South by Augustus Thomas, one of the most successful American plays ever written. There is gentleness, simplicity and guilelessness in its scenes and characters, giving, as a result, an effect altogether idyllic. The play reveals the diverse traits of many interesting personages, it involves young love charmingly expressed, the reunion of hearts long separated, and the re-establishment of family ties broken by the war. When previously produced in Los Angeles the play was well received, and as the company this season is said to be capable a second success may be anticipated.

COMING ATTRACTIONS. — Denman Thompson's beautiful play, "The Old Homestead," will be the attraction next week at the Los Angeles, beginning Monday evening.

Interest in this famous play seems unabated, and few modern plays have a more abiding hold upon the sentiments of theater-goers. Full of human interest, it is a domestic idyl, a dream of New England life based on facts, real to the core, and of a realism that is great in its simplicity. The musical features will be new and unusually well rendered, and are always a prominent part of the entertainment. The seats are on sale this morning.

Beginning Sunday night, June 16, and for the entire week following that date Rose Stillman and the Cooper Company will present at the Burbank Theater an expurgated edition of "The Clemenceau Case." Miss Stillman's version of this much-discussed play has been rewritten and purged of all objectionable features, fitting it for family theaters. Speaking of its production in San Francisco, the Chronicle said:

"The Clemenceau Case' filled the Alcazar last evening with a large and thoroughly appreciative audience. Miss Rose Stillman, in the trying role of Iza, acquitted herself to the complete satisfaction of her audience."

ORPHEUM.—The great cornet virtuoso, Jules Levy, is the star of a strong company of artists, who will appear at the Orpheum next week. The advance sale for the engagement opened yesterday, and seats are going so rapidly that there is every prospect of the house being sold out before the doors open Monday night. The long array of clever and amusing specialties that are on this week pack the house almost to its full capacity, and the show is deserving of the big audiences that witness it.

[RAILROAD RECORD.]

MORE FRANCHISES.

The Southern Pacific Wants One Through Anaheim.

Egan Does Not Know Whether He Will Act as Receiver or Not.

No Progress Made by the Western Roads in Perfecting a Passenger Association—New Rates to City of Mexico.

It is reported from Anaheim that the Southern Pacific Company has applied for a franchise to operate their tracks through Santa Ana street and south from the intersection of that thoroughfare with Olive street. The same will be granted and railroad builders will be there, in all probability, inside of thirty days. The road will be constructed north to Placentia, west to Long Beach, Garden Grove, Westminster and the sugar factory. All roads will center in Anaheim.

AN EVASIVE ANSWER.

DENVER, June 12.—John M. Egan arrived in Denver over the Rio Grande road at 11:50 o'clock last night. "Is it true that you will not act as receiver in connection with Mr. Bancroft?" was asked. Egan evaded the question, saying that he thought the Trust Company would decide upon a programme at an early day.

NO PROGRESS MADE.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The Western roads made no progress whatever today toward perfecting their organization, and the meeting adjourned until tomorrow under circumstances which do not promise an early agreement.

The committee which was to draw up an agreement did not report, and it was suggested that the lines go ahead and form an association to cover the territory east of the river and ignore that to the west. This plan was upset by Passenger Traffic Manager White of the Atchison, who showed that it was the meaning of the executive officers when they called the meeting that the territory between Chicago and Utah should be under two associations.

Then General Passenger Agent Sebastian of the Rock Island announced that under present circumstances it would be found difficult to form any agreement and impossible to form rates. A resolution was offered in the meeting yesterday by the Burlington, said Mr. Sebastian, providing for the maintenance of rates by all Western lines.

"I have here the return portion of a harvest-excursion ticket, which was on sale by scalpers in Kansas City before the ticket itself had any right to be sold in Chicago. Under such circumstances the talk of maintaining rates is somewhat humorous."

Then Mr. Sebastian showed the return portion of a harvest-excursion ticket issued by one of the leading Western lines.

Mr. Payne of the Missouri Pacific made a speech of similar import and laid down similar portions of tickets of the issue of another line. Both the accused lines denied stoutly that they had been guilty of irregular practices, and while they were telling how it happened the meeting adjourned. The Committee on Agreement was enlarged and will report tomorrow morning.

EXCURSION PARTY.

The following named have arrived on the Pacific Coast during the past week under the direction of the Phillips excursion agents:

William Hubers and family, Rock Island, Ill.; E. N. Fales and wife, Minneapolis; S. S. Kimball, Topeka, Kan.; Ruby Rowley, Kansas City; Mrs. K. P. Buckley, New York; Minnie Reed, Manhattan, Kan.; Fannie Sheldon, Chicago, Emma Page, Mrs. Doran, Mabel Chamberlin, Stella Chamberlin, Chicago; Mrs. Downs, Colorado Junction, Ia.; Luella J. Wright, Chicago; Mrs. C. H. Putnam, Julius Ochl, Mrs. Ochl, Chicago; L. D. Morse, Hardy, Ill.; Mrs. Morse, Hardy, Ill.; M. H. Stillwell, St. Paul; Miss Jennie Hiney, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. M. F. Harrison, Chicago, Ill.; Miss M. E. Morhoff, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. H. Wynn and daughter, Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. A. Brown, New York; J. W. Esteur, Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. H. Van Buskirk, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. A. E. Calahan, Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. M. T. Bemis, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. C. D. Craig, Clyde, Kan.; Mrs. T. B. Spicker, Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. C. J. Pilsbury, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. C. Shafer, St. Joseph, Mo.; N. E. Dalley, Buffalo, N. Y.; H. E. Wiley and wife, Muscatine, Ia.; M. F. S. Watt, Chicago, Ill.; J. F. Sendorio, Chicago, Ill.; F. F. Stewart, Chicago, Ill.

THE NEW ORANGE RATE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The new rate of $1 a hundred pounds on oranges from California to Chicago and the Missouri River recently made by the Southern Pacific Company will go into effect on June 16. It is expected by the railway freight managers that shipments will be exceedingly heavy and in the end the receipts will be as large as in former years, when the amount sold in Eastern markets was far less than present prospects indicate for this season.

FOURTH-OF-JULY RATES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The Southern Pacific Company announced today that it would sell round-trip tickets from all points on its lines to San Francisco for the Fourth-of-July holidays at a one-way rate, with the exception that from points on the Coast and Santa Cruz divisions where the rates are slightly higher. The tickets will be sold on July 3 and the morning of July 4, and will be good for return up to and including Monday, July 8. The Fourth-of-July Committee hopes that with the low fares and four days' time allowed, a large number of people from the country will visit the city.

NO TERMINAL SITE.

STOCKTON, June 12.—The Stockton Commercial Association tonight decided that they cannot offer the Corral Hollow Railroad people anything except the right-of-way and franchise in the city. The railway people asked for a terminal site which Stockton people find that they cannot give. Rights-of-way will be freely given.

THE COAST LINE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Another section of the Coast Division, consisting of a twenty-five-mile strip, south of San Luis Obispo to Guadalupe, is ready to be turned over to the operating department of the Southern Pacific Company. This will be done in a few weeks or perhaps days. The rails are all laid and nothing remains but to put in operation the time card for the new road.

SCRAP HEAP.

A summer school of science, music, languages and in other branches will be established at Coronado Beach to open July 2, and will continue four weeks. To meet the wishes of those desiring to attend it the Santa Fe Railway Company has fixed the rate for the round trip at $5.

The Santa Fe Railway Company announces that the rates on Mediterranean sweets and seedling oranges from all points in Southern California to Chicago and defined territories west of Chicago will be reduced to $1 per 100 pounds, effective June 16 by transcontinental lines.

From July 11 to 15, inclusive, and from August 28 to September 1, inclusive, the Santa Fe Railway Company will sell round-trip tickets from Los Angeles to the City of Mexico, good for sixty days from the date of sale, for $70. Stop-overs will be allowed in both directions.

On July 6 next the Santa Fe Railway Company will run a special excursion from Los Angeles to San Diego and Coronado. The fare on that special excursion will be $3 for the round trip, the tickets to be good for thirty days.

The Southern Pacific Company reports that its ferryboat Solano, the largest ferryboat in the world, which plies between Benicia and Port Costa, has been put in thorough order and will resume service on Friday, June 14.

Fred W. Thompson, passenger agent of the Rock Island road in Los Angeles, took a run to San Diego yesterday morning.

Judge Sterry, attorney for the Atlantic and Pacific Railway Company, is in Los Angeles.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Larger Attendance at South Santa Monica Meeting.

The morning session of the Southern California Baptist Convention at South Santa Monica opened yesterday with a song and praise service, conducted by Rev. E. G. Wheeler, superintendent of the chapel car. Rousing songs were sung, and many earnest prayers offered. The sight by the sea on the part of those who had come the day before and the addition of those who came by the morning train, seemed to add zest to the service.

Rev. E. P. Bennett of Pomona called the convention to order and called upon Rev. Jones of National City to lead in prayer. After prayer U. Sid Lemon of Santa Ana was elected as secretary. The moderator appointed the following committees: On Arrangements, Rev. A. P. Brown, V. A. Henry and William Friend; on Enrollment, Rev. T. R. Evans, George Taylor, G. W. Ogle; on Nominations, S. C. Anabel, W. C. Badeau, Alex Grant.

Rev. C. W. McDougal presented the plans and methods for the suppression of the saloon, as adopted by an Oakland council. Rev. A. P. Brown was appointed to act as statistical secretary pro tem.

The Nominating Committee reported as follows: For president, Rev. E. R. Bennett; vice-presidents, Rev. A. Grant, Rev. W. F. Harper; recording secretary, U. Sid Lemon; statistical secretary, Rev. George B. Dye; auditor, Capt. F. J. Cressey.

A long discussion followed at this point on the publication of the minutes, which was finally concluded by appointing a committee to look after the matter.

Reports were presented from the various churches showing most encouraging progress. Many new churches have been built, Sunday-schools organized and chapels and church edifices erected. The work done by Rev. W. W. Tinker and his assistant, Rev. E. G. O. Groat, was most heartily commended by Dr. Reed and others.

The afternoon was devoted to a woman's meeting in the interest of foreign missions. Mrs. E. G. Wheeler read the scriptures and gave an interesting talk on "Faith." "Oh, Where are the Reapers?" was sung, after which Miss L. Ella Miller gave an interesting talk on "Missions." Miss Grant of Santa Barbara read a paper, which was written by Mrs. Wood. Miss Doyle read a paper written by Mrs. Dewar.

General discussion followed on missions, in which Revs. Brown, Henry, Cleaveland, Grant and Mmes. Taylor, Henry and Miss Emma Miller participated.

Suggestions were made that "the men give the money and the women do the work;" that the "men organize a society exclusively of men;" that "the men, women and children have one society;" "use the stereopticon;" "have less organizations;" "set missionary hens."

The boarding facilities are designed to "let patience have her perfect work"—persons coming for the day had better bring their lunch.

Among the new arrivals were: Revs. A. E. Knapp, W. F. Harper, W. F. Binney, Jones, Bingham, J. Stillwell, Dexter, T. R. Evans and Cooley; also Prof. Wells, H. Hamilton, Miss Ella Miller, N. B. Shaw, Mrs. Knapp and others.

Rev. E. R. Bennett makes an excellent presiding officer.

There is a good attendance on the part of the laymen.

The Paper Carnival.

There is no diminution of interest in the brilliant series of tableaux that is being presented nightly at Hazard's Pavilion in the paper carnival. The programme last evening included a number of the features which have already attracted favorable comment, besides the new tableaux that were prepared and presented. The children were particularly well represented in the marches and dances, a number of them being attired in Japanese and Chinese costumes, with all the accompaniments of gesture and expression that the Oriental people possess. The carnival closes this evening with a finale that will include the best of the features of the past three entertainments.

The Native Sons.

At the regular meeting of Los Angeles Parlor, No. 45, N.S.G.W., the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: R. Green, past president; A. Latrodeck, president; L. Levy, first vice-president; L. Prager, second vice-president; E. G. Hookstratten, third vice-president; H. G. Eikles, recording secretary; Ed Garrett, financial secretary; A. Ramish, treasurer; C. Balzer, marshal; Dr. Edleman, trustee; F. J. Behre, trustee.

Athletic Club Officers.

The annual election of officers of the Los Angeles Athletic Club was held in the club rooms yesterday. Votes were received from 1 o'clock till 9 p.m. A heavy vote was polled, the result of the election being as follows: President, Freeman G. Teed; vice-president, C. P. Lyndall; captain, Paul E. Flammer; directors, John Brink, W. J. Allen, Walter M. McStay, Alfred Cooper and H. C. F. Smith.

Kennel Club Election.

At a meeting of the Southern California Kennel Club, held June 11, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. A. Sumner, president; Dr. J. A. Edmonds, T. E. Walker, T. Bright, H. Y. Evans, R. J. Widney, vice-presidents; J. H. Kiefer, treasurer; F. W. Ingalls, secretary; Dr. Button, veterinary surgeon; J. H. Kiefer, member of the American Kennel Club Investigating Committee for the Pacific Coast.

GOOD QUEEN "VIC."

Her Name a Sesame to Fame and Fortune.

May 24 was Queen Victoria's birthday, and, as a number of sons of Albion were drinking to the health of Her Majesty, a colored youth standing by, who had an idea they were referring to the filly Her Majesty, and had all their money safely on her, skipped away to some friends of his in the betting ring and said: "Play Her Majesty for all youse worf; I tell ye she'll win in a walk. I seed a gang in dar what played a bar'l on her, and dey is so shuah she'll win dey ain't waitin' fo' de race to get frue befo' dey get full, dey'se startin in now, so git yor' friends to get all der money on dat ar filly. I must run ober and see if I can persuade dat man ober dar to git on while he kin." So saying the sable-hued tout rushed off on his errand. Her Majesty won the race, and the expression on that sure-thing tout would be worth photographing.

San Francisco's Rottenness.

(Orange County Herald:) The recent atrocious murders in San Francisco have greatly shocked the residents, not only of that city, but the entire Pacific Coast. To those who have become acquainted with the terrible social condition of the Northern metropolis, it is not a source of any great wonder that such crimes are committed there, however great may be the horror inspired by them. A city which, like San Francisco, is honeycombed with saloons, dives and resorts of vice of all descriptions, cannot but reap a harvest of crime. It must be expected, and therefore is not really a surprise, except perhaps in its fiendish details, as in the case of the three women murders so recently committed there.

The respectable residents of San Francisco are fully cognisant of the foulness of their home city, but through their lethargy or helplessness seem unable to raise the social condition of the town out of the slime into which it has sunk. The visitor, viewing the Golden Gate city from a tourist's standpoint, is simply apalled at the colossal evidence of vice and immorality with which he is continually thrown in contact.

Saloons in San Francisco pay but $7 per month for a license to carry on their business; as a result, the few places which might be called "respectable" resorts are offset by countless dives of the lowest order, which invite the lowest elements of human nature to fully develop their damnable influence, and taint the very atmosphere of the city with corruption.

There should be a valuable object lesson in all this to San Francisco. While their own town, with its immense natural advantages and world-wide reputation, is stationary, if not actually sinking in commercial importance, its dangerous rival in the south, Los Angeles, is steadily forging ahead, inducing men of wealth and refinement to engage their capital in its enterprises, and attracting people from within the very confines of San Francisco to make their homes where decency, at least, is demanded, and corruption is held in check rather than encouraged.

San Francisco may build Valley railroads; she may accrue some benefit from the Nicaragua Canal; but it can never hope to compete with Los Angeles until it has cleansed its moral condition and clambered out of rottenness, which has enveloped it even now so long that years of hard work will be necessary to redeem it in the eyes of this section of the country, at least. This is a fact which visitors from Southern California, and others who have compared the two cities immediately observe, whether the Half-million Club did or not.

A Library Era.

(Harper's Weekly:) The trustees of the Boston Public Library have voted to buy, or to try to buy, the collection of philological works gathered by the late Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte. The collection includes about 20,000 volumes, in 120 languages, and more than 1000 dialects. Most of the great libraries of the world covet it, and several of them have tried to buy it piecemeal. If the Boston Library gets it, it will attest the earnest purpose of the trustees to live up to their moral decorations.

New Hampshire, the first State to authorize the raising of money by taxation to be spent for books, has lately passed a law directing that every town in the State shall raise a certain amount annually for that purpose. Some one was suggesting the other day that the current quarter of this century in America would come to be known in time to come as the library age. This new New Hampshire law favors that conceit. The growth of public libraries, especially in the last decade, has been marvelous. The Boston Library has spread itself to the admiration of the whole country; Congress has built the huge new palace for the Congressional Library; the three New York libraries have combined; Chicago has become a great library center; Mr. Low has planned to crown the Harlem Acropolis with a splendid hall for books. And these are only the more striking manifestations of a movement that is discernible all over the land. Public libraries by the thousand, and really notable libraries by the hundred, have been started or put on strong foundations within ten years.

It is interesting to find it stated that this remarkable growth of public collections has operated as a decided check to the formation of private ones. Justin Windsor of Harvard said the other day, at the opening of a university library at Evanston, Ill., that it was notorious in England that the collecting of books by people of leisure and education had gone by, and that the same thing began to be apparent in this country. Considerable private libraries seem no longer to be necessary, because large public collections are so generally within easy reach. A thousand books or so are a cheap luxury for any well-to-do family with reading members, and are worth having for their decorative value as house furniture, if for nothing else; but to store many more books than that in an ordinary house involves a sacrifice of space for which the modern householder is apt to find other uses. And yet if one does happen to have house enough and money enough, a big room with books all around it, from ceiling to floor, is a delightful possession.

FOR HOUSEKEEPERS, AND PRACTICAL HEALTH CALENDAR.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13

The Times

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

A railroad company will build a bicycle track at the Santa Monica ostrich farm—but not for the ostriches.

A crematory is being built in Pasadena, and when it is completed the citizens of that place will not need to go away from home to be "burnt up."

Santa Ana is talking about the establishment of a glass factory in its neighborhood. If it secures that enterprise its residents will not be allowed to shy pebbles at one another.

To a feminine reporter who sought Miss Susan B. Anthony's advice on the marriage question that worthy lady said in effect, "Don't!"—though she thought there were cases where such a proceeding might be excusable.

Even Redlands has discovered that she laid out too many fifty-foot lots during boom days, and that the town is blessed (?) with a superabundance of streets. Verily, those wild-cat days are ended. Well it is so.

In Police Court yesterday was presented the spectacle of the machinery of the criminal law being used to enforce the collection of a debt, and as a side show there was an interesting scramble among a surplus of lawyers for a defendant's fee.

Why, certainly, if your horse accidentally steps upon a lady's pet dog, that lady is justified in horsewhipping you in a lady-like manner, for when ladies are exercising their doggies on the street you should keep your horse in the stable.

One tentacle of the "Southern Pacific octopus" has already reached the very heart of Pasadena, and that city seems to be glad of it. Now that the novelty is wearing off the electric-car riding, the people will try riding to Los Angeles by the Southern Pacific's new line, which runs near by a great winery.

A San Diego grand jury has indicted a short-in-his-accounts tax collector and a man charged with attempt to bribe a councilman. San Diego is improving. During the last six years her public officials have "cinched" that county for twenty-five to fifty thousand dollars of the public funds, and no one but taxpayers has suffered for it.

The numerous brutal murders that have occurred during the past few months seem to indicate that the century is to go out in a baptism of blood. Some of the recent killings that have occurred are most extraordinary, and lead even those who are not in the habit of thinking much on such subjects to ask what we are coming to. A couple of days ago a four-year-old child of Indiana passed a two-year-old female acquaintance of his on the street while she was conversing with some of his friends. The young Indianian accosted the juvenile lady, she treated him with contempt, and refused to speak to him. This angered the young Indiana gentleman to such an extent that he lay in wait for the haughty young lady behind a wall and when she came by deliberately stoned her to death. It may be that before long we shall have to establish infant prisons. In the meantime, there seems to be room for the coming woman to do a little wholesome work at home in the way of training the coming generation. ("Hear! hear!")

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The wedding of Mrs. Jessie Grieves McIlvain to Samuel Howes Hardin, at high noon yesterday, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Bryant, of Boyle Heights, was an exceedingly pretty affair. The bride wore a handsome gown of pale-blue crepon, with garniture of exquisite lace, and diamonds. She carried a cluster of white carnations. The rooms were artistically decorated with a wealth of flowers. Only twenty of the relatives and most intimate friends were present. After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Hardin left for Coronado and a tour of Southern California. They will spend the summer in Wyoming, where Mr. Hardin owns an extensive cattle ranch.

CLASS OF '85.

A banquet was given by the graduates of '85 of the High School, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, on Fourth street. Unlike most of these graduates, this class has retained its organization, its good fellowship, and, until the last year, its habits of study and interchange of mutual thought and ideas. Business and family cares have necessitated the closing of these monthly reunions for a time, but the tenth anniversary was most pleasantly celebrated by the members, who still remain within call in this city. Of this class, numbering twenty-six, there were present: Mmes. Marian Otis Chandler, Nannie Tibbetts Cooper, Ada Baxter Bryant, Mary Ogden Ryan, Ina Baxter Boal, Lillian Newell Kimball; Misses Ellen Reavis, Ella Stoltenburg; Messrs. Tom Rowan, Jesse Burke, Charles Lantz, Clinton Bradley and Dr. Edward Bradley, together with the husbands and wives of those who were married. Miss Dunham, Mrs. Averill and the drawing teacher, Mrs. Bradfield, were guests, representatives of the faculty of ten years ago. Mr. Santa was master of ceremonies. Mr. Burke responded to the toast, "The Class of '85 Before '85," in the happiest vein.

Dr. Bradley, in response to "The Class of '85 Since '85," humorously recalled the incidents that had marked the history of the class, and spoke tenderly in memory of the ever-revered superintendent, Lyman Smith.

Miss Dunham gave an interesting comparison of the High School, ten years ago, without place, library or shadow of a laboratory, seeking shelter where it could be found, with a faculty of six, to the High School of today, with its fine building and equipments and faculty of twenty-four. The class of '85 separated with kindly wishes for the future of each, and words of loving remembrance for the absent members and teachers.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss Lida Tibbits was tendered a pleasant surprise on Tuesday evening at her home on North Chestnut street. Music and games were the order of the evening. Among those present were the Misses Emma Schmitz, Eliza Chappell, Camilla Sheborn, Clara Stead, Lila Snider, Katy Hughes, Jeane Cooper, May Tyler, Lida Tibbits, Ruth Cooper and Mrs. H. Tibbits; Messrs. Benson Stead, Fred Roher, Fulton Sheborn, David Vivian, Albert Selsior, Webber, Hoboa, Charles Garr, James Watson, William Schmitz, Charles Gitt, Al Schmitz and others.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

The pupils of Herr and Mme. Rubo gave a recital last evening in the Blanchard-Fitzgerald Hall. An excellent programme was delightfully rendered. Those who participated were: Mmes. Rubo, Tolhurst, Fischer, Long, Misses Scudder, Nash, MacNutt, Barnes, Symons, Strong, Scanlon, Lovell, Rommel, Dr. Buell, Messrs. Rubo, Halfhill, Clark, and the Cecelia Quartette.

MULKEY-TIDBALL.

The residence of G. P. Tidball was the scene of a quiet wedding Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the contracting parties being F. C. Mulkey, a young real estate and insurance agent of this city, and Miss Ella Tidball, eldest daughter of G. P. Tidball, also of this city. There were only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends present. Mr. and Mrs. Mulkey left on the afternoon train for Redondo, where they will spend the summer.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. Bradner W. Lee entertained very elegantly at whist, last evening, in honor of Frank Shepherd. The house was elaborately decorated with bamboo and masses of flowers. The prizes were extremely handsome.

Miss Edna Betts wil go to Burbank on Friday, where she will be the guest of Miss Carhart for a week.

Mrs. Anderson and Miss Emilie Herman of San Francisco are the guests of Mrs. A. A. Lansingh, No. 1018 South Pearl street.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Justice Meted Out to Various Petty Offenders.

In the Police Court yesterday Wing Sing, a Chinese vegetable peddler, was arraigned for battery. He pleaded not guilty and will have a hearing on the 18th inst. Wing administered a beating to several boys who were stealing vegetables from his wagon in East Los Angeles.

Isadore Lewis and Lloyd Patterson, two newsboys who had a "scrap," were found guilty of disturbing the peace and will be sentenced tomorrow.

H. Finkelstein, complained against for keeping a vicious dog, pleaded not guilty and will be tried tomorrow.

Guillermo Calderon, a Mexican, was sentenced $30 or thirty days for carrying a concealed weapon, to-wit, a dirk of huge proportions, which he flourished in a threatening manner when Officer Sheets attempted to arrest him.

Frank Miller, a truckman, paid $5 for the fun he had in battering another fellow.

The oil-boring misdemeanor cases against W. L. Young et al. went over for one week.

John McNulty got $25 or twenty-five days for stealing a shoe. McNulty stoutly protested his innocence and vowed he'd rather be hanged than go to jail for stealing.

E. Reeden and L. L. McGreel, who were mixed up in a bar-room brawl, were each fined for disturbing the peace, the former $10 and the latter $5.

Fernando Loustano, a youth who stole nine gunny sacks from a Chinaman, was given a ten-days' floater, and was led blubbering out of court by his father.

Arthur R. Perry, arraigned on three charges of forgery, pleaded guilty and asked that sentence be passed upon him as speedily as possible. The court took until June 17 to consider.

James Mackel pleaded guilty to the charge of having violated the Sunday-closing ordinance, and will be sentenced tomorrow.

Lawrence Dickson, a colored swain who slapped Carrie Wright, also colored, because she reproved her sister for keeping company with "cheap trash" like Dickson, was fined $10, which he paid.

THE REASONS WHY

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites is so useful in all wasting diseases, such as Consumption, Anæmia, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Bronchitis, and Marasmus and Rickets in children, is because it furnishes to the depleted blood the fattening and enriching properties of the oil, and to the bones and nervous system the phosphorescent and vitalizing properties of the Hypophosphites, which together nourish the body arrest the progress of the disease, and commence a process of repair that finally means restored health and vigor.

J. T. Sheward,

113-115 N. Spring St.

IF you are on Spring street today drop in and take a look at the black all-wool serges for 35c a yard; closely examine the quality; take into consideration the width, 38 inches plump; the wool is long fiber; the weave smooth and firm; the color as brilliant a black as you ever saw in goods costing three times the price. You will see all along this counter quite a large number of buyers. They have been attracted by the splendid values, not only in this black all-wool serge for 35c but with the better qualities for 50c a yard; there is a line of navy blues, full 46 inches wide for 50c a yard; one of those smooth, even threads that makes the finest twills; they are better for wear and hold the color better. The better serges have that sharp feel that gives them greater value as a dust-resister; they hang out better for the full skirts. All these things we consider in buying serges for you; perhaps the better goods are wanted; storm serges 46 to 50 inches wide in black and navy for 75c and $1 a yard.

All-wool,

36 to 38 inches wide, small checks and mixtures, 35c a yard; this line of dress goods will be found extra value; they are all new this season, and are much better than the price would indicate. All along the dress goods counter you will notice there is a strong array of buyers; an indication that the trade of this house is growing as never before.

Looks Like Silk.

They are pure cotton; we refer to a line of new corded figured cotton goods resembling a corded pique; a little finer thread that gives them a silky appearance; they are printed in 4 to 6 colors in ancient designs, and are choice for shirt waists and for wrappers; there is only a small quantity of these goods, they are 32 inches wide and are sold for 20c a yard. If you are looking for something new, take a look at this line before you make a decision; there is no such a line of ducks and percales in this city as we are now showing.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Famous Advocates Preach the Doctrine of Reform.

Miss Anthony Predicts That Equal Suffrage Will Come in Another Year.

Objection to the Word "Male" in the Constitution—Rev. Anna Shaw Shows the Reason Why Women Should Vote.

An audience of nearly two thousand persons were present at Simpson's Tabernacle last evening to listen to a lecture given by Miss Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw. The platform was profusely decorated with flowers, while at each end large American flags were gracefully festooned and draped. On the right-hand side of the platform was a streamer bearing the following inscription, taken from the Constitution of the State of California, sec. 20: "Nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which, upon the same terms, shall not be granted to all."

Mrs. Alice Moore McComas was slated as president of the evening, but on account of illness was unable to be present. Mrs. William Spalding was chosen in her place. The following vice-presidents occupied the stage: Hon. James McLachlan, Mrs. Caroline M. Severance, Mayor Frank Rader, Mrs. Rader, Mrs. William Spalding, Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Mrs. M. C. Graham, Mrs. Cornelius Cole, Hon. R. W. Bulla, Judge Utley, Mrs. Modini-Wood, Mrs. Theodosia B. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wood, Judge Widney, Mrs. R. N. Widney, Mrs. C. Wills, Rev. C. C. McLean, Mrs. Ella H. Enderlein, Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell Galpin, Mrs. Margaret Longley, Mrs. W. D. Gould, Mrs. C. D. Willard, Mrs. B. C. Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson, Rev. J. W. Campbell, Mrs. Gertrude B. Eastman,

SUSAN B. ANTHONY ON THE PLATFORM.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Foster, Hon. W. A. Spalding.

At 8 o'clock Mrs. Spalding entered the auditorium accompanied by Miss Anthony, who was followed by Rev. Shaw and the vice-presidents. Mrs. Spalding immediately introduced Miss Anthony by saying that very few reformers had ever lived to see the fulfillment of their hopes and desires, but that Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucy Stone and Susan B. Anthony had lived long enough to see a time in which their hopes were nearing a realization.

Miss Anthony is a pleasant speaker, with a strong and clear voice, using but few gestures, yet enforcing her remarks by the inflections of the voice. Her remarks were made up principally of the advantages gained by women during the last half-century and are substantially as follows:

"President, gentlemen and ladies: Let me start out by saying that I hope the great State of California will be the next State to bring itself into line toward making it a thorough republican State, giving representation and the ballot to our sex. I feel that in 1896 the voters of California will go to the polls and vote to strike out of the Constitution the little adjective 'male,' that has caused so much trouble in the past. I shall, this evening, take you back over a period of fifty years and give you a little ancient history. I shall endeavor to show you how much the women have gained during this period. The first women's convention was held in Seneca Falls, N. Y., over forty years ago, and was presided over by Elizabeth Cady Stanton. It was no longer ago than Monday night last, while in San Jose, that I met Mrs. Abigail Bush, who was a member of that convention, and occupied a seat upon the platform. At that time, women could teach in the schools, but could not hold the position of a principal. We had no women preachers then, in fact the Presbyterian church would not allow her to pray in public; she had to do that in secret. The Methodist Episcopal church will not ordain her to preach today, but the next general conference will find they have a hard row to hoe should they attempt to shut her out next time.

"In a convention of school-teachers held in Rochester, New York, 43 years ago, there were 1000 women and 200 men present, yet the women were supposed to keep their mouths shut; they had never been heard in a convention up to this time. I broke the record by rising in the back part of the hall and requesting permission to address them. After considerable discussion I was permitted to speak, but I was looked upon as a dissenter. This wasn't the last convention I attended. I followed them up for years. At the convention held next year we had a resolution passed, after a hard fight, by which women were to be paid the same salary as a man teacher, for similar work."

The speaker then detailed the work done by herself and others to place the school teacher upon the same plane as that held by the men. She told of a paper she read in 1852 before the convention held in Troy, after the reading of which, the chairman told her it was an excellent report, and written as well as he himself could write it, but that he would rather follow his wife or daughter to Greenwood Cemetery than to have them write and read to a large audience such a report as she had read.

Miss Anthony then took up women in the medical profession and in the pupit, detailing the efforts of Miss Blackwell and Annette Brown to become recognized as members of these professions.

"I have told you all of these things that you may see how far woman has advanced, during the last 45 years. She has grown from a nonentity to where she stands today, a respected member of almost every profession known to the world. Then again 50 years ago, a married woman could not own property nor control the money she had when she married. That law has been abrogated and today she can work and earn her wages and keep them, too. There are over 3,000,000 women at work today in the various departments of work. They are not cross nor 'cranky,' but happy and gay.

"I tell you young girls who work will not marry a man they don't like, nor will they marry one of these 2½-cent men. Now, friends, I tell you women are emancipated in almost every respect, and all they need now is the ballot. You cannot say now that a woman is not as intelligent as a man, and that she is not competent to vote, and has intelligence of a higher order than many of the male voters."

The speaker closed by giving a resume of what women had won in the political field. In some States she was allowed the franchise in school matters, and in two was given the ballot unrestrictedly. It remains for California to say whether she will be No. 3 in the list of States to give us a republican form of government. A government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

REV. ANNA B. SHAW.

REV. ANNA SHAW.

At the conclusion of Miss Anthony's address Rev. Anna Shaw was introduced. She is one of the most pleasing, witty and forcible speakers who has ever presented the cause in this city. She started out by saying that the press of the country had changed its attitude toward the movement, and that the papers which ridiculed the woman's suffrage movement were in the very small minority. She took up the branch of the subject, showing the advantages to be derived by giving the women the ballot. Her great principle, she said, was that "In a republic, every class that votes affects the government, in the long run, along the line of its nature." This being true, the giving of the ballot to the women would affect the government along the line of the nature of women. Women would affect it in an entirely different way from which it has been in the past. Women are more moral than men; they are more religious, more peaceable and more law-abiding. She said that it had been claimed that if women voted they would be influenced by clergymen, more or less, on account of their religious tendencies. "Clergymen are always found on the side of decency and good order," said the speaker, "and I for one would rather have that influence than that of the saloon."

The speaker closed by comparing the State of Wyoming, where the women have voted for twenty-one years, with the other States. She said that the census of 1890 showed that for the ten years preceding there had not been a woman in jail or in the penitentiary. No insane women, and that the percentage of marriages was considerably above that of divorces. She claimed this was a pretty good showing for the woman's suffrage people.

GOOD ADVICE.

MISS ANTHONY GIVES A FEMININE REPORTER POINTERS.

Girls Should Know How to Support Themselves and Not Marry Unless They Want to—Love and Not Necessity.

When a Times reporter called to interview Miss Susan B. Anthony yesterday, at the residence of Mrs. Caroline M. Severance, she found her the center of an interested group of visitors, but upon the intimation of the reporter's errand, she carried her off to the quiet of her own room and there graciously permitted herself to be questioned. Miss Anthony is an elderly lady, of slight but graceful and dignified figure, her soft gray hair arranged in a smooth, quaint fashion, and her deep gray eyes full of intelligence. She wore a soft, black silk gown, not in any way reminding one of dress reform, as it was made in a quietly fashionable way, exactly suitable to its wearer, of whom volumes might be truly said in the way of her loveliness of character, her enthusiasm in and devotion to her work, but it may all be summed up in the best term that can be applied to any woman—she is a thoroughly womanly woman.

When asked her opinion on the marriage question, Miss Anthony replied: "I believe that no two people should marry unless they love each other. I am glad that we have brought about sufficient change in the industrial position of women so that they no longer feel as if they must marry to be supported. It is a great advancement that women are enabled to support themselves, to earn money with their own hands and brains. I don't say this because I don't want girls to marry, but because I don't want them to marry from any mercenary motive. This fact that women can earn their own bread has also lifted man, who had the idea that woman was entirely dependent upon him. Under the old regime when a girl had offers of marriage she did not always look for the best morals and disposition, but only for the man with the most money. Our opponents say that we wish to bring about separation; on the other hand, today nearly every girl is educated and fitted for some vocation, and the result is that such girls will not marry to owe service, and will enter the marriage firm not as a subordinate but as an equal. The wife should be the equal owner of the proceeds of the joint earnings of the marriage co-partnership."

Miss Anthony was then asked for her opinions on dress reform, the reporter feeling the question to be rather ludicrous in view of that neatly-fitting black silk, with only moderation in its style, and lacking the smallest suspicion of anything like what is associated in the popular mind with dress reform.

"Dress reform," said Miss Anthony, "cannot come until women are pecuniarily and politically free and equal. While man gives us every dollar, while he makes all the laws, and provides all conditions for us, we have got to accept those circumstances. The moment that woman makes, shapes and controls her own conditions and is an equal factor in government, as well as home, she will wear whatever dress she chooses; whatever is suitable for her condition, occupation and circumstances. Lucretia Mott, the Quaker preacher, who, with Elizabeth Cady Stanton, called the first woman's rights convention ever held in the world, in 1848, at Seneca Falls, N. Y., used to give, as her rule of marriage: 'Let your dependence be mutual, your independence equal and your obligations reciprocal.'"

"How did you come to undertake the support of woman's cause?"

"I was very much interested in temperance work, and at one of the earliest conventions, held in my town, I did all I could to make it a success, and at the close they drafted a resolution of thanks to various people, and my name was included. When the resolutions were introduced, a man rose and moved that my name be stricken out, as it was unbecoming in a convention to thank a woman, and, if she were modest, she would be offended by such publicity, and, therefore, my name was stricken out. I went home to my old Quaker father and said I had resolved that from that time on I would work for the cause of woman, and, throwing myself upon my knees, I, sobbing, laid my head in my father's lap. He placed his hand on my head and gently said: 'If thee must, Susan, thee must.'"

The Rev. Anna Shaw is also the guest of Mrs. C. M. Severance, and is an exceedingly attractive and thoroughly intelligent woman. She spoke warmly of the kind reception given them in San Francisco, and the satisfactory meetings held there.

THREATENED LIBEL SUIT.

Police Commissioner Pirtle Thinks He Was Injured.

John A. Pirtle, member of the Police Commission of this city, is preparing to bring suit against the Evening Record for criminal libel. Mr. Pirtle's grievance is found in an article published in the Record's issue of Tuesday, in which he is accused of robbery as a public official. Mr. Pirtle is deeply incensed at the attacks which have been made upon his character and actions, and says he has instructed his attorney, C. A. McFarland, to commence proceedings against the parties whom he accuses of maligning him.

A FREE WOMAN.

MRS. DELLA STEIGLER HAS REGAINED HER LIBERTY.

Helped Out of Her Dilemma by Her Father—A Big Price Paid for Her Freedom—Too Many Attorneys.

Mrs. Della Steigler walked out of the City Jail a free woman yesterday evening, but it cost her father $160 to secure her release, and she herself is minus some personal property which she pledged to secure the fee of a firm of attorneys whom she had employed to conduct her defense, and who were denied the opportunity of doing so.

Mrs. Steigler is the good-looking young woman that Detective Steele brought back from Santa Rosa for obtaining money by false pretenses. The complaint on which she was arrested was made by W. E. de Groot, money-lender, who had loaned her $75 on a piano which proved not to be her property.

When Mrs. Steigler arrived from the north, she sent for Le Compte Davis, Esq., of the law firm of Davis & Rush, whose client she had been on former occasions, and requested him to defend her. Davis declined unless she was able to pay his fee in advance or give satisfactory security. This she was not prepared to do.

Meantime Attorney Hugh Crawford volunteered to take her case, she consented and he wrote to her father, telling him that $160 would satisfy De Groot's claim, pay all expenses and attorney's fees and get her out of the scrape.

When she was arraigned to plead, Crawford was not present to look after her interests and Davis & Rush were entered on the court records as her attorneys, she having first given them security for their fee. Davis appeared in court yesterday afternoon for her and had her trial set for June 21.

The impression prevailed that Crawford was entirely out of the case, but his letter to Mrs. Steigler's father had the desired effect, and Crawford yesterday received a draft from the old man for $160, payable to himself. Crawford had it cashed and went at once to De Groot and tendered him the amount of his claim, if he would consent to dismiss the complaint.

De Groot consented, and they went immediately before Justice Morrison and moved for a dismissal. Mrs. Steigler was hurriedly brought into court, and Deputy District Attorney James was sent for. The latter refused to interfere in the case, leaving it entirely with the court to decide whether the complaint should be dismissed.

At this stage of the proceedings Attorney J. R. Rush, who had got wind of what was going on, appeared on the scene and took exceptions to Crawford's action. He said Crawford had no right to make a settlement with DeGroot on behalf of Mrs. Steigler, without consulting her regular attorneys, meaning himself and Davis. Besides this, Crawford was acting without her consent.

Some very heated words then passed between Rush and Crawford, the former accusing the latter of unprofessional conduct. Crawford said he was only carrying out the instructions he received from the defendant's father. He had sent the money to him for the purpose of making a settlement. De Groot's claim was satisfied and all the costs were paid, and it now only remained for the court to decide whether the case should be dismissed.

Justice Morrison granted the motion on the representation made and payment of costs, and left the attorneys to settle their differences between themselves.

Mrs. Steigler was in a very embarrassing position all this time. One attorney had the money with which to buy her freedom, and the others had possession of property which she pledged with them to pay for a service which they were deprived of rendering. She became quite excited and shed some tears while the lawyers were wrangling over the division of the spoils. She regained her liberty but remarked as she left the courtroom that she thought she had paid a big price for it.

JONES MAY DIE.

J. Bidwell Errington's Victim Bleeding Internally.

Herbert Jones, the young man who was shot by J. B. Errington Tuesday evening, began bleeding internally last night, and it is feared he will die. His wife was with him at the Receiving Hospital almost constantly yesterday, apparently anxious to make amends for the trouble she has caused. Errington remains silent, but evidently realizes that he is in a serious predicament. He will not be taken into court before his victim dies or shows sure signs of recovery.

The Police Surgeon Baffled.

A picture-framer, while at work yesterday afternoon, cut off the tips of two of his fingers. He picked up the severed ends, put them into his poaket and finished the frame he was working on. Then he went to the Receiving Hospital for surgical attention. The police surgeon was otherwise engaged at the time, so the man went away. But came back half an hour later with the finger tips which he desired to have spliced on to their original places. Dr. Bryant has performed many feats of surgery, but he said this was an operation he could not perform. The best he could do for the man was to bind up the bleeding stumps of the abbreviated digits, after having applied the usual lotions. The man did not tell his name.

High School Graduates Begin Life in Earnest.

A Large Class, a Pretty Spectacle, Interesting Exercises and Bright Essays.

Brief Abstracts of the Papers Read—A Proud Day for Parents—A Roster of the Graduating Class.

The commencement exercises of the Los Angeles High School were held last evening in the Los Angeles Theater. The stage presented an extremely attractive appearance, the graduates being arranged upon rising tiers of seats, the lovely white gowns of the young ladies forming a pretty contrast to the black of the masculine attire. The class is remarkable for its many pretty girls and fine-looking youths. Above the stage was suspended the badge of the High School Literary Society, the star and crescent, formed of pink roses; from the crescent points swung graceful ropes of flowers. A bank of bright flowers edged the stage, ending at either side in masses of palms. In the front row, upon the stage, sat Miss Dunham, Mrs. Frick, Mr. Hale, president of the Board Education; Rev. J. S. Pitman and Mr. Cates.

The programme opened with an overture by the orchestra. Miss Amy Fallon delivered a brief salutatory, following with a charming essay, entitled: "A Plea for the Story."

For how much pleasure and enjoyment the nineteenth century is indebted to books! Yet this love of reading is by no means of recent origin; for as we retrace our steps through the ages, we find that even Egypt, Greece, Rome—all had their tales. We cannot wonder at this, for books, which picture love, ambition and revenge—the mainsprings of human action—will always secure a hearing with humanity. But, though ancient times disclose the germ of novel-writing, yet the spirit which pervaded it was different. Then, tales were chronicles of romantic chivalry or of the stirring deeds of the Northmen. Now, the more the novelist can pierce the veil of Nature's hidden secrets, and tell us of man, just as he is, the warmer corner he will find in our hearts. Imagination is, perhaps, the story-writer's most beautiful requisite, for it enables him to see the world with a poet's eyes, and proves to us that, "not only around our infancy doth heaven with all its splendor lie." Originality, too, is an essential of a novelist, but still we cannot blame a writer who draws upon the ideas of his predecessors. For how can a man be in the world and remain uninfluenced by its opinions, unless, perchance, in imitation of the companions of Ulysses, he wanders about with his ears, filled with wax, to drown the siren song of the beautiful thoughts which have permeated literature for centuries! If a writer has a duty to discharge to the public, then the public, on the other hand, owes him a debt; for, if he writes an elevating book, and one true to nature, then it should produce in us a keener interest, and a more sympathetic feeling toward our fellowmen.

Ralph Cole read an essay on

COMMENDABLE SELFISHNESS.

Selfishness has always been the predominating feature in man's character. The instinct for self-preservation develops selfishness, yet it is a proper attribute of the soul.

A pure soul forms a spotless character, and selfishness in a man is justified only when he cultivates himself for the good of others. He may fall short of this, owing, perhaps, to a wrong conception or misunderstanding of this duties and privileges, but he can obtain a general view of life by reading good books, books chosen with a view to his own culture. Then he must choose his friends well if he would perfectly develop his life, even though he should seem exclusive; their influence having much to do with the formation of character.

Human sympathy is also an important aid in developing a full, rounded life. George Macdonald illustrates this in the beautiful poem the "Waif."

Is not the youth to be pardoned if he endeavors to make the most of himself, and the man also, if he is struggling for himself secures much for others?

This was followed by Dwight B. Steen with an essay on

ROBIN HOOD AND "ROBIN HOODS."

English literature is replete with Robin Hood and "Robin Hoods." History suggests him, romance tells his life and Ballads sing his deeds of valor. And we are led to ask, why all this? Why Robin Hood more than any other outlaw or mythical hero? It is because Robin Hood is not so much a personality as he is a principle which all Saxons love and adore.

Owing to the usurpation and confiscation of lands begun by William the Conquerer, and continued through several reigns, the English peasants became darring and lawless, entering into the hunting-grounds of the King, and forming themselves into large bands. The most formidable of the companies was that over which Robin Hood was the leader, and whose place of exploits was Sherwood Forest. Robin was a kind, congenial person, who robbed rich abbots and wealthy merchants for a living; but as an apology for his actions he always maintained that he did it in order to give to the poor—and this he certainly did. He had no regard for rank and would have stopped the King himself and demanded money of him.

Some of Robin's companions were Little John, called so ironically on account of his great stature, Will Scarlet, Much, a miller's son, and Friar Tuck, a jolly monk who preferred the life in Sherwood Forest to one in a monastery.

The literature giving us an insight into this character are the "Robin Hood Ballads." These are a collection of the works of many minor writers or village poets who were ardent admirers of Robin Hood and his followers. These ballads tell of his generosity and his brave rescues. They in time became the themes of the songs of the people just as in earlier times the bards sang the songs of Taliesin, for the music of these ballads was especially adapted to the people, and Robin and his followers lived the life all Saxons longed for, as well as defied the laws all Saxons detested.

Many memorials of Robin are extant. At Whitby Abbey are two pillars in commemoration of Robin Hood and Little John, while many places have Robin Hood crosses, cairns and penny stones. He is even today remembered to us in many plays and operas. Not only do music and drama contribute to his memory, but there is a special holiday, called May day, which does him honor. These relics and memorials go to prove what a powerful influence these men exerted, and to assert with more confidence that always "Robin Hoods" will be remembered and honored by the people whose rights they protected and whose protest against injustice and tyranny they represented.

Miss Jacquette Hunter recited in a delightful manner, her sweet, clear voice and graceful gestures making this number very attractive.

"MATEO OF THE MISSION."

"Mateo of the Mission" is a story of the early days of the San Gabriel Mission, and is founded on the tradition that a young Spaniard is buried under the cross in the churchyard of the old church on the Plaza. It runs briefly as follows: Indians were one day seen approaching the mission, bent on devastation. A messenger was needed to ride to Los Angeles to fetch the soldiers. Only one man in all the mission dared attempt the ride—Mateo Alvarado. He was not yet out of sight when he was killed by a lurking Indian scout. But the spirit of his mission was so strong, his purpose so noble, and his courage so excellent, that his soul passed on and summoned the soldiers to the relief of the mission, though his body lay in the dust of the road. Tradition has it that this body was subsequently laid in the old churchyard and the cross was erected in honor of the brave young fellow. About this legend is twined the love story of Mateo and the pretty Teresita.

Walter Leeds delivered the valedictory to the winter class, taking as his subject "Arbitration," and closing with a pleasant tribute to the principal and teachers.

Miss Carrie Field delivered the valedictory to the summer class, gracefully thanking the superintendent, Board of Education, and paying a loving tribute to the teachers. Her theme was

"MEASURES."

In the early days of the world's history people lived so innocently and generously that they felt no need for any but natural measures. As men became more exacting, they were not satisfied with these simple measures, so they made fixed standards. The quest of scientists in later days has been a perfect natural standard.

In like manner, the world, through the ages, has been seeking for a perfect standard of life. It has had many standards at different times. That of ancient Greece was physical perfection. Among the Norsemen, physical courage and strength were considered of most importance. In Athens, during the Golden Age, the intellect was the measure of a man. The standard of today is broader. We measure men by what they have done for their fellow-men.

Thus through the ages, the world has been advancing toward a perfect standard. The perfect standard toward which we are striving is found in our Creator.

A PROUD MOMENT.

Rev. J. S. Pitman, member of the Board of Education, made an address, in which he said that he shared jointly in the pride of the fathers, mothers and friends of this magnificent class, just graduating, and, perhaps, there had never been a prouder moment in the history of Los Angeles than tonight, upon the graduation of such a splendid product of the public schools. No higher compliment can be paid to the earnest corps of teachers than the presence of such a class. The demand is for educated men and women, and the fact is now recognized that the daughters are of just as much importance as the sons, and are entitled to just as high education. The speaker then sounded a little warning to the graduates, to beware of that intense, rushing Americanism, that will not wait and toil; to ever remember that "there is no true getting without true giving," and, as all obstacles cannot be overcome at once, to try to gather, all the time, great truths and principles, and shape their lives by them. Mr. Pitman then invoked the divine blessing upon them all, and wished them the best and truest success in life. Principal E. E. Cates then presented the class, with a graceful speech, to Robert T. Hale, president of the Board of Education. After a few congratulatory remarks, Mr. Hale presented the diplomas, those of the winter class being tied with red and white ribbons and those of the summer class with pink and green.

Mike Riley Arrested.

Constable Harry Johnston, after making several fruitless trips out of town, one as far distant as San Bernardino, in search of Mike Riley, who fled when Johnston began his crusade against the social evil, finally located his man at Redondo and arrested him on a warrant charging him with vagrancy. Riley was brought back to the city and released on depositing $50 cash bail.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

There Will be Oil Boring in Angeleno Heights.

The Fire Commissioners Grant More Permits and Discuss the Salary Question.

A Chinese Wedding at the Courthouse—Board of Education and Superintendent Search--Chinese Murder Case.

The Fire Commissioners have decided to allow oil-boring in a territory formerly free from the inroads of that industry. Their action will doubtless raise a storm of objections, from those opposed to the encroachments of the oil men. The Board of Education is expected to take decisive action this evening upon the question of continuing Prof. Search in office.

Proceedings at the Courthouse yesterday were enlivened by a real, legal Chinese wedding, according to the laws of the State of California. The lawyers talked all day on the Chinese murder question, and a land office business was done in marriage licenses. Otherwise affairs were very quiet in nearly all the departments, only some minor cases being before the court.

AT THE CITY HALL.

Fire Commissioners.

THE EVERLASTING OIL QUESTION TROUBLES THEM YET.

The Board of Fire Commissioners met in regular session yesterday morning, Mayor Rader presiding and all the members present.

As has been the case in the majority of the recent meetings of the board, the question of granting permits for the boring of oil wells occasioned a great deal of dispute and discussion, and the board finally resolved to take the bull by the horns and grant the permits in the territory desired.

W. E. Van Slyke was the main petitioner in the matter, and back of him were a large number of people anxious to bore for oil if his application for a permit could be granted. The territory which the people represent is known as Angeleno Heights and permits to bore for oil in this section have hitherto been denied. The representation was made to the board by Mr. Van Slyke's attorney, that, under the present status of affairs, the owners of property in this region were left in a position where they could neither build nor bore for oil. They desired to sink a test well to discover what is the nature of the land, with regard to oil production. Until this test is made improvement of property must be at a standstill. The parties desiring the permits made specific promises to conduct the wells with as few objectionable features as possible. Dr. Kuhrts was the only member of the board seeming to be very much opposed to the granting of the permits, but upon the statement of the applicants that if no oil were found, the implements should be removed, and the entire business conducted in accordance with the instructions of the board, he consented to the granting of the permits, which was done.

The report of the Chief was received, favoring the granting of a permit to C. S. Moore, to erect and maintain a livery and feed stable on the corner of Third and San Pedro streets. The permit was granted. In the matter of the petition of P. Quimby, who wished to erect and operate a steam boiler at No. 543 South Spring street, the Chief reported that Mr. Quimby proposed to utilize the steam engine in the operation of a dairy plant, and, in spite of the protest of adjoining property-owners, he evinced no disposition and made no promises to properly regulate the engine. His petition was denied.

The petition of the Empire Oil Company, to which was attached the protest of James S. Weldon, to bore for oil on lot 1, Beauvoir, on the west side of Figueroa street, between Temple and Court streets, upon the recommendation of the Chief, was granted.

Permission was granted by the board to the following to erect and operate steam engines on the property specified:

William Embody, lot 8, block 1, Los Angeles Improvement Company subdivision, on Hobart street; E. M. Magee, lot 4, block K, on Lake Shore avenue, between Home and State streets; L. G. Dahlbrink, lot 6, block 32, Los Angeles Improvement Company subdivision on Witmer street.

The petition of J. L. Hunt, to erect an engine on lot 4, block 2, Yarnell's subdivision, on Bonnie Brae street, was deferred one week for action to be taken upon it. The following petitions to bore for oil on the property specified were referred to the Chief: Raymond Oil Company, on northeast half of lot 4, block 11, Park tract; Raymond Oil Company, lot 10, block K, northwest corner of Lake Shore and Rock avenue, in Los Angeles Improvement Company subdivision; C. H. McFarland, lots 11 and 12, block 12, Park tract; Raymond Oil Company, lot 25, block 11, in northwest half of Clark tract.

A request from the Council that a fire-alarm box be placed at the corner of Seventh and Bixel streets was referred to the Chief. The report of the electrician was ordered filed.

For Increased Pay.

MORE MONEY WANTED BY FIRE-DEPARTMENT MEN.

Clerk Parker read a communication to the board from the Chief, in which attention was called to the fact that the salaries of the various officers in the fire department were far lower than they should be, as compared with the wages paid to policemen and other city officers. The Chief made a statement to the board with reference to the matter in which he declared that, whereas, in a recent request to the Council for an increase in the salaries of the firemen and policemen, the portion relating to the policemen had been approved and wages increased, the firemen had received no consideration whatever. The Chief compared the work of the two departments, stating that a policeman was required to be on duty but eight hours in a day, while a fireman was always subject to summons, day and night. This being the case the better class of men with families were seeking appointment on the police force rather than in the fire department. The request of the Chief was referred to the City Council for action.

The petition of Richard Nelson for permission to bore for oil on lot 2, block H, Glassell's subdivision, at northeast corner of Rockwood and Belmont avenue, was referred to the Chief.

Mrs. M. Bradford and Mrs. J. J. Murratt addressed the board, protesting against the location of oil tanks on the corner of Banning and Center streets, maintaining that these tanks constituted a nuisance in the first degree.

At the last meeting of the board, complaint had been received regarding an oil tank situated on the corner of Center and Banning streets, which was declared by the complainants to be a menace to the health of the community. The matter was then referred to the Chief for investigation, and at the meeting yesterday, John Burns, owner of the tank, appeared before the board, denying the accusations of the complainants, and declaring that his tank was entirely underground and the lot in which it was situated was surrounded by a high board fence. The matter was referred to the Chief for further investigation.

Commissioner Vetter presented a communication to the board from the Gas-consumers' Association and the Los Angeles Gas-saving Association, in which each company submitted proposals to operate gas regulators in the various fire-engines houses of the city for 50 cents per month. The Chief was instructed to divide the business between the two companies in as even a ratio as possible. There being no further business before the board, the meeting was adjourned.

Prof. Search's Standing.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL MAKE A TEST OF IT.

The Board of Education will meet this evening, and rumors are rife as to the action which the board will take in the matter of deposing Prof. Search from his position as City Superintendent of Schools.

From the time of the installation of Prof. Search there have been doubts expressed as to the validity of his appointment, the question being raised on the point of his not having been a qualified elector at the time of his appointment to the office of superintendent. Dr. Wills, a member of the Board of Education, and an ardent supporter of Prof. Search, consulted City Attorney McFarland at the time the question was raised, and obtained from that gentleman a quasi-official opinion on the subject. Mr. McFarland's decision tallied with that of Attorney Dunn, which has recently been filed with the Board of Education, to the effect that under the existing statutes a public official must be a qualified elector of the city at the time of his appointment, to make the election a legal one.

The feeling in the matter is expected to culminate this evening, when Prof. Search will, in all probability, be asked to resign his position.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

The Courts.

CHINESE CASE DRAWING TO A CLOSE AT LAST.

The argument in the Chinese murder case is at fever heat. All of yesterday was occupied by the presentation of the case to the jury, and the end is not yet.

Both sides made excellent arguments, clear, eloquent and bristling with good points. H. H. Appel, Esq., spoke for five hours on the side of the prosecution, and the remainder of the time was occupied by George P. Phibbs for the defense. The morning session today will be occupied by Henry T. Gage, Esq., and the closing speech in behalf of the prosecution will be made by C. C. McComas, Esq., in the afternoon. The case will probably go to the jury late this afternoon.

A Chinese Wedding.

Quite a ripple of excitement ran through the Courthouse yesterday upon the occasion of a Chinese marriage.

A license in due and proper form was issued to Quan Chuen and On Gue, but they found some difficulty in getting married. They went first to Department Five, but Judge Shaw refused to perform the ceremony, Judge York was equally hard-hearted, and so the Celestial pair, accompanied by Hugh J. Crawford, Esq., betook themselves to Judge Young, who consented to go to Mr. Crawford's office and marry the couple.

On Gue is rather a prepossessing little Chinese woman of 23. She speaks English quite clearly, and seems unusually intelligent. She belonged to a woman of the Wong faction here in Los Angeles, who forced her to live a life of shame. The woman was on the point of going to San Francisco, and wished to take the girl, On Gue, with her. The girl refused, and sought refuge from her tormenter in marriage with a man of a different faction.

Opinion on a Damage Suit.

Judge York yesterday delivered an opinion upon the case of Andres Ramirez et al. vs. the Southern California Railway Company.

The suit was for $50,000 damages on account of the death of the plaintiff's son, Manuel Ramirez, who was killed on November 15, 1893, by a train owned by defendant. The father instituted proceedings to recover damages for loss of maintenance, the son being the provider for the family.

The demurrer in the case was sustained because the complaint did not allege that the plaintiffs were heirs of the deceased, nor did it appear whether the deceased was married or single, or whether he had any children. The defendants are entitled to know the ultimate facts upon which the claim of heirship is founded, hence the sustaining of the demurrer.

New Suits.

Victor Stenberg has entered suit against P. H. Schwartz et al. for $2500 damages for false imprisonment.

Thomas W. Orr has brought suit against Mrs. Elizabeth Nixon et al. for partition of property.

Flora Palma has filed an application for a divorce from Louis Palma, convicted of felony and now confined in San Quentin.

Calla Meyers has issued a complaint for annulment of marriage against Charles Campbell, alias Charles Dean, upon the ground that defendant had another wife living at the time the marriage contract was entered upon.

John Simon George, guardian of Otis George, a minor, has entered suit against the Los Angeles Railway Company for $25,000 damages, on account of injury done to the boy, Otis George, by one of the cars on the line.

Marie Ewing has applied for a divorce from her husband, Wellington S. Ewing, on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Joseph Keilly has filed an application for divorce from his wife, Mary Keilly, on the ground of desertion.

Petition for probate of will concerning the estate of C. C. Willis, deceased, has been filed by Frederick K. Weeks.

Court Notes.

In the case of Lindley vs. Fay, tried in Department Six, the jury disagreed, and a new trial will be necessary.

James E. Redd vs. Frank M. Kelsey, administrator of the estate of Anna Hodge, deceased, came before Judge York yesterday in a suit to quiet title. Judgment was ordered for the plaintiff.

An application from the California Universalist Convention for leave to sell real property was granted yesterday by Judge York.

A. M. Palmer was yesterday granted a decree of divorce from her husband, F. A. Palmer, by Judge Shaw, on the ground of desertion and non-support.

Judge Shaw yesterday gave judgment for the plaintiff in the case of Downey vs. Meyer, an action to quiet title.

The case of Lee vs. McClelland was concluded yesterday in Department Four. The jury returned a sealed verdict, which will be opened today at 10 a.m.

TO DISCUSS DISCRIMINATION.

A MEETING OF MERCHANTS TO BE CALLED SOON.

The Chamber of Commerce as a Body Cannot Participate in the Fourth of July Celebration, but Will be There.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon Directors Cline, Davisson, Graff, Jones, Klokke, Mullen, Munson, Patterson, Parsons, Stimson and Vetter present, President Patterson occupying the chair, the Committee on Railways and Transportation reported in the matter of the rates from New York to San Francisco by way of Panama which were enabling the San Francisco jobbers to cut under the Los Angeles trade, advising that a meeting of the merchants specially interested be called at the Chamber of Commerce and that it be ascertained what amount of freight could be pledged to any line of steamers that would stop at the adjoining port. This recommendation was adopted and a meeting will be called in the near future.

A communication was read from Capt. Overton with regard to participation in the Fourth of July parade on the part of the chamber. The secretary was instructed to respond that, on investigation, it had been found that so many of the officers and members of the chamber were members of other organizations that would participate in the parade that it was, in the opinion of the board, impracticable to attempt a general demonstration on the part of the chamber.

A communication with regard to the establishment of a sanitarium in this vicinity was referred to the Committee on Sanitation, Director Davisson chairman.

A communication was read from the Chamber of Commerce of Galveston, Tex., announcing the successful completion of the deep-water harbor at that place, and thanking the Los Angeles chamber for its assistance in agitating the matter. The secretary was instructed to respond, congratulating the Chamber of Commerce of Galveston upon the success of its efforts and soliciting its assistance toward the construction of a harbor in this vicinity as the Pacific complements of the Galveston harbor.

The subject of good roads coming up for discussion, it was moved and carried that the president be authorized to call a meeting of the members of the chamber and the members of the League of American Wheelmen at some early date to consider what can be done to improve the condition of the highways of Los Angeles county.

The secretary was instructed to prepare a circular of inquiry with regard to the reception with which California products were met in the East, and the condition in which they were presented to Eastern consumers, which should be sent to several hundred grocers and fruit-dealers in the Eastern States, who handle California products, their answers to be embodied in a circular to be distributed among California producers.

A proposition was presented from the owner of one of the largest and most valuable collections of Southern California Indian antiquities, for its display in the Chamber of Commerce and the matter was referred to a special committee, consisting of President Patterson, Vice-Presidents Forman and Stimson and Secretary Willard, to report at the next meeting.

The following-named were elected to membership in the chamber: C. Leonardt, S. S. Salisbury, Charles W. Adams and Stanley C. Bagg.

FROM CATALINA.

AVALON (Catalina Island,) June 12.—(By Homing Carrier-pigeon Capt. B. to The Times:) Another big haul of fish drew an interested crowd to the beach last night just at sunset, when Stuart M. Beard and F. W. Read, with Harry Elms for boatman, returned from a fishing excursion. Laid out on the beach was a string of sea bass, rock bass, yellow-tail and Catalina muskalonge aggregating 145 pounds. The largest of the lot, a muskalonge, weighed forty-seven pounds.

NEW ARRIVALS.

Miss Anna A. Ramage of Pittsburgh is spending a few days on the island, stopping at the Glenmore. Miss Ramage is taking her first trip through California and joins a party of friends for the Yosemite the last of the week.

J. Boas, a San Francisco broker, arrived at the Metropole by last night's steamer. Mr. Boas, who is accompanied by his two daughters, will spend several days here exploring the island.

Mrs. Kutner, wife of the well-known Fresno merchant, arrived last night, accompanied by her daughter.

Mr. Scudder of Pasadena has come over to locate for the summer.

Charlie Hayden of East Los Angeles has arrived and will engage in business here.

F. C. Hyde of Lamanda Park, E. Otten and family of New York and Mrs. C. Pohlman of Los Angeles are recent guests at the Glenmore.

SOME SIDE TRIPS.

Capt. McDonald tendered a complimentary trip on his yacht, Fleetwing, to his friends and neighbors yesterday afternoon. The sail included a visit to Seal Rock and was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the happy guests.

Today the Fleetwing has taken a party on a trip round the island.

Capt. Hayward of the power launch San Diego came into port yesterday on his trim craft, which will cast anchor in Avalon Bay for the summer when not engaged for pleasure excursions.

Frank P. Whitley's scow came in from Clemente last night and had a load of merchandise on board.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS.

The nightly open-air concerts by the Catalina Marine Band are seasons of absolute enjoyment to all the dwellers on the island. The music rendered is of a high order and the crowds which gather to listen in silent appreciation give ample proof of the pleasure afforded. Tomorrow (Thursday) evening the programme will include Mozart's "The Magic Flute," trombone and cornet solos by Messrs. F. J. Nutting and H. G. Bowen respectively, Furst's "The Isle of Champagne," Gurtner's march "King of the Seas," Waldteufel's waltz "My Dream," the danza Mexicana "La Noche Media," overture "Raymond," medley "The Old and the New," and gavotte "Sincerity," by Voelker. The director, Prof. C. A. Jones, has his orchestra well in hand, and the presence of this magnificent band adds not a little to the multitudinous attractions of the enchanted isle.

Licensed to Wed.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following persons yesterday:

Frank I. Hamilton, aged 22, a native of Massachusetts, and Susie Beall, aged 22, a native of Illinois; both residents of Los Angeles.

Claude W. Smith, aged 27, a native of Illinois, and Mary M. Haskins, aged 20, a native of Texas; both of Los Angeles.

Frank C. Mulkey, aged 23, a native of Mississippi, and Eliz M. Tidball, aged 23, a native of Ohio; both of Los Angeles.

William T. Lander, aged 26, a native of Indiana, and a resident of Los Angeles, and Mary S. Harnecka, aged 21, a native of Austria, and a resident of Pasadena.

Isaac Newton Coalson, aged 25, and Willie Cannon, both natives of Texas, and residents of Downey.

Quan Chuen, a native of China, aged 26, and On Gue, a native of China, aged 23; both of Los Angeles.

George Brown, aged 30, a native of California, and Elizabeth C. Leake, aged 21, a native of Michigan; both residents of Los Angeles.

Frank J. Miller aged 22, a native of Wisconsin, and Flora Koehler, aged 19, also a native of Wisconsin; both of Los Angeles.

William F. Gilbert, aged 26, a native of Missouri, and a resident of Santa Anita, and Rosa S. Eberle, aged 19, a native of California, and a resident of Los Angeles.

The Sweet Odor of Almonds,

Clean, pure and pungent, pleases the nostrils as the cork comes from a jar of Mme. Yale's Celebrated Almond Blossom Complexion Cream. For years and ages women have sought a safe and certain preservative of the complexion. The sun in summer and the heat of stoves and steam in winter make Nature's work too hard for her. The dust that is always in the air grinds itself into the sensitive skin. Soap and water are not enough to get it out and to soothe and soften the dry, chapped skin.

Yale's Complexion Cream

will do it. It cleanses the skin and its pores. Softens the foreign matter within and without, soothes all irritation, cools the heat of chapping and fever blisters, and gives a satin surface to the suffering skin.

It is good for burns and for any abrasion. A single application is effective. Put it on at night and rub it briskly into the skin and you will be pleasantly astonished in the morning. There have been imitations of this wonderful beautifier. Look out for them. Accept none but the real.

If your druggist will not supply you, send the price, $1, to MME. M. YALE, Health and Complexion Specialist, 128 State St., Chicago. Beauty Guide mailed FREE.

THE GOLDEN STATE.

Enormous Increase Made in Cereal Productions.

Beet-sugar Crop Three Times Greater Than That of All the Other States.

Fruit and Wine Industries—Wealth of Dairy Products—Lumbering Interests — The Yield of Beans Immense.

The Times in its issue of yesterday published the essential portions of a report compiled by A. N. Towne, general manager and second vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, addressed by him to the Governor of California, in which the great increase in population, products and wealth of California was set forth. The concluding features of that report are here given and should be carefully read and studied.

WHEAT.

In 1893 California ranked third in the United States in the quantity of wheat produced. The average farm value of wheat per bushel last year (1894) was 57 cents (equal to 95 cents a cental.) This was a higher price than in any other section of the United States, the average price for the whole country being only 49 cents a bushel. From 1880 to 1890 the increase in California wheat production was 41 per cent. against an increase of only 1 per cent. for the whole United States. In 1890 there was grown in California 9 per cent. of the whole crop of the entire country. The bulk of the California wheat product is shipped to foreign countries and the total value of this trade is one-fourth of the total wheat exports from the United States to foreign countries.

BARLEY, HAY AND HOPS.

California is the leading barley producing State in the country, producing in 1890, 22 per cent. of the entire barley crop of the United States. Although large quantities of barley are consumed at home in the feeding of horses, hogs and cattle (this cereal in this respect occupying the same place which oats do in the East), a considerable amount of it is exported by sea and sent overland to the Eastern States, California barley having a high reputation among brewers.

In 1894, California ranked fourth in the production of hay. From 1880 to 1890 the production in this State increased 184 per cent. against 53 per cent increase for the whole United States. The total value of the hay crop of California in 1894 was $30,329,647.

In 1890 California ranked third in the production of hops, being exceeded only by New York and Washington, and in that year this State produced 17 per cent. of all the hops grown in the country. The rapid growth of the hop production, the amounts being stated in pounds, is shown by the table hereunder:

Year.	California.	United States.
1850	.....	3,497,029
1860	80	10,991,996
1870	625,064	25,456,669
1880	1,444,077	26,546,378
1890	6,547,338	39,171,270

From 1880 to 1890, the hop production of California increased 284 per cent., while in the same period the total production of the United States increased but 48 per cent. Since 1890 the California production of hops has increased 50 per cent., the greater part of the product being shipped overland to the Eastern States.

FRUIT.

The development of the orchard industries of California in the past twenty years has been most remarkable. The total value of orchard and vineyard products is about $30,000,000 annually; the output is increasing each year, and, with the extension of eastern markets for California fruits, the possibilities of California in this connection seem almost unlimited. The following comparisons of eastbound shipments out of the State is most interesting:

Green, deciduous fruits,	1871—	1,832,310 lbs
" "	1893—	159,905,000 lbs
Citrus fruits	1876—	2,000,000 lbs
"	1893—	161,514,000 lbs
Dried fruit	1875	548,227 lbs
"	1893—	82,476,800 lbs
Raisins	1874—	220 lbs
"	1893—	74,788,000 lbs
Canned goods	1872—	182,090 lbs
"	1893—	55,681,400 lbs

In addition to the above, there was moved locally in 1893 by the Southern Pacific Company lines alone 234,418,000 lbs. of green fruit; 42,990,000 lbs. of dried fruit, and 15,842,000 lbs. canned goods. Estimating 5 lbs. of green fruit to one of dried fruit, and 3 lbs. of grapes equal to 1 of raisins, the total orchard and vineyard products of California amounted to about 1,500,000,000 lbs. in 1893, and the output for 1894 was very considerably larger than this. To further illustrate the magnitude of the orchard industry of California, it may be said that this prodigious amount is sufficient to fill a train of cars, each with 10 tons of freight, of over 500 miles in length.

WINE.

California produces much more wine than any other State in the Union, there being made in this State in 1890 more than 60 per cent. of the entire output of the country. Experts from abroad acknowledge that the quality of the average grade of French and German wines is not superior to that of California wine, and agree that this State has a great future in the manufacture of wine as well as brandy. California wines are coming into general use throughout the United States, the yield having shown a development as follows:

Year.	California	United States.
1875	4,000,000 gals	13,000,000 gals
1880	10,000,000 gals	23,000,000 gals
1890	18,000,000 gals	23,000,000 gals

The production of California from 1880 to 1890 increased 80 per cent., while the output of the entire country remained stationary.

California produces annually about 2,000,000 gallons brandy, or three-fourths of the entire production of the United States. The brandy production of California is rapidly increasing and finds a ready market in the Eastern States and in Europe.

BEET SUGAR.

California easily ranks first among the States in the production of beet sugar, its output in 1894 being nearly 80 per cent. of the entire product of the country. From an output of 1,200,000 pounds of beet sugar in 1888, the manufacture of beet sugar in this State has made rapid progress in the past ten years and promises a large development in the future, the production in the last three years, in pounds, being:

Year.	California.	United States.
1892	8,175,428 lbs	12,004,838 lbs.
1893	21,801,288 lbs	27,083,288 lbs.
1894	35,088,969 lbs	45,191,296 lbs.

From 1892 to 1894 the increase, as the above figures show, in the California production was 329 per cent., as compared with an increase of 276 per cent. for the whole United States, including California. If California is excluded from the increase in the entire country it will be seen that the total increase in beet sugar in all the States, outside of California, between 1892 and 1894 was 4,820,327 pounds; whereas in California alone the increase during the same period was 13,287,681 pounds, or nearly three times greater than that of all the other States put together. This industry, as the report states, is only in its infancy in California. Its immense possibilities it would be impossible to determine.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

In 1890 California ranked fifth among the States in the production of honey. In that year the output was 3,929,859 pounds. Since then it is estimated that the production has increased to 6,000,000 pounds annually.

From 1880 to 1890 the egg production of California increased 137 per cent., against an increase for the whole country of 79 per cent. The increase in butter during the same period was 90 per cent. in California against 32 per cent. only for the whole United States. Cheese during the same time shows an increase of 51 per cent. in California as compared with a decrease of 31 per cent. for the entire country. The milk production of California shows the enormous increase of 800 per cent. between the years 1880 and 1890.

OTHER PRODUCTS.

In wool California each year ranks either first or second in production. In 1890 the quantity produced was 24,092,954 pounds.

The lumbering interests of California are steadily increasing. The sawed lumber produced in 1880, feet board measure, was 304,795,000. In 1890 the quantity had increased to 517,781,000 feet. During that period of ten years the increase was 70 per cent., against an increase of only 54 per cent. for the whole United States.

In vegetables the potato product is steadily and rapidly increasing. California produces 23 per cent. of the beans grown in the entire country, ranking second in the United States in this product in 1890. The California bean crop for 1893 amounted to 72,000,000 pounds, equal to 3600 carloads of ten tons each, or equivalent to a train twenty-five miles long. The total shipments of California vegetables to Eastern points by rail in 1893 were: Potatoes 16,687 tons, beans 24,481 tons, other vegetables 28,639 tons; a total equivalent to a train, each car loaded with ten tons of vegetables, forty-seven miles in length.

The report concludes with a summary of general facts, calling attention, among other things, to the fact that the census of 1890 showed the area of California was 4.4 per cent. of the total area of the United States with only 1.9 per cent. of the total population. This plain fact is of itself sufficient to show the immensity of work still to be done in California and the immense amount of wealth still to be created.

Attached to Mr. Towne's report is a short report of the Immigration Committee of the California State Board of Trade, showing among other details the increase of population in the State from 1880 to 1890 and the counties which received it. It is of interest to note that in this respect Los Angeles county easily leads, the figures given being 68,073, whereas San Francisco city and county—the only one coming at all near it—shows during the same period only 65,038 an increase.

THE STUDY

—of the action of medicines, or vegetable compounds, upon the stomach, and tests in many hundreds of cases, long ago convinced Doctor R. V. Pierce, Chief Consulting Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., that all cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint could be cured permanently if the right treatment were given. In support of his belief that he had discovered an alterative extract which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," that would cure these diseases, he collected from all parts of the country the evidence of those who had used his medicine, and he has asked the public to investigate for themselves, as he would be glad to furnish the names and addresses of thousands of people who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. All interested should send for a little medical treatise on Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhea, "Liver Complaint," Biliousness, Constipation and Piles, published by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and mailed on receipt of six cents in one-cent stamps. This book also contains the photographs and testimony of many persons who have suffered from diseases of the digestive organs.

INDIGESTION; SEVERE PAIN IN STOMACH.

THOMAS FLETCHER, of Clifton Station, Fairfax Co., Va., writes:

THOS. FLETCHER, ESQ.

"I suffered the terrible tortures for ten years with what your Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser describes as 'Gastralgia' (pain in stomach). I employed our home-doctor—took ½ dozen bottles of sarsaparilla with no benefit; then I took one-half dozen bottles of a celery compound without any benefit; then eight bottles of iron tonic, yet I was no better; this was in 1889. I then took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which made a new man of me. I am now forty-two years old, and for the past five years I have worked very hard on my farm. It is impossible for me to say too much for the 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Religious Census of Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, June 12, 1895.—(To the Editor of The Times:) The enterprise of the City Sunday-school Union to reach, in some measure, the census of the various denominations and Sunday-schools, and also of the public schools of this city, is a very laudable one. There were great difficulties in the way, viz.: Want of cooperation, failure to answer cards, a very windy day when the census was undertaken, etc. Yet the result, though approximate, is gratifying, as showing the wonderful increment of this city "all along the line." The census of the different churches, under the head of "church membership and preference," can only be approximate, if we judge by that of the Presbyterians. The visiting census gives 2600 as the total of all shades of Presbyterians, whereas the church membership of the nine "regular" Presbyterian churches alone is, with the additions of 1864-65, no less than 2817. Besides the "regular" Presbyterians there are two churches of the United Presbyterians, one of the Associate Reformed Presbyterians, and one other whose official name I do not recall. In all there are about three thousand "Presbyterians and all branches" in the city of Los Angeles. I presume if we could have an exact census of all the Protestant evangelical churches of this city, the number would be nearer 14,000 than 12,335, the number given in your columns this morning. It is only just to say that those who gave their time to this recent attempt at a religious and educational census have appended to the table of "church membership and preference" the remark, "a mixed and indeterminate report." J. C. FLETCHER.

AVENGED HER DOGGY.

A Carriage Dealer Horsewhipped by an Irate Woman.

Because his horse stepped on the foot of her pet poodle, Mrs. E. J. Brent of No. 410 South Spring street, yesterday horsewhipped J. V. Tabor, manager of the Tabor Carriage Works, on Fifth street, between Main and Spring. Mr. Tabor drove up to the curb and was alighting from his buggy when the horse tramped on the paw of one of three doggies Mrs. Brent had out for an airing. As the canine set up a dismal howl, the irate woman seized the whip from Tabor's buggy and proceeded to lay it on him. Tabor made no defense, but attempted to dodge the blows. Before he could get away, he was quite severely beaten. He threatens to have the woman arrester for battery, unless a satisfactory apology is tendered.

Summons.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, Dept. No. —. John W. Butler, plaintiff, v. Robert N. C. Wilson, Ara A. Wilson, M. F. LeRoy, J. S. Severance, S. W. Little, G. A. Dobinson, S. Heilman, Jessie W. Woodroof, East Side Bank (a corporation) Russ Lumber and Mill Company (a corporation) and N. P. Campbell, John Doe, Richard Roe, Peter Jones, Mary Black, William Black, George Black, John Brown and Mary Brown, defendants.

The people of the State of California send greeting to Robert N. C. Wilson, Ara A. Wilson, M. F. LeRoy, J. S. Severance, S. W. Little, G. A. Dobinson, S. Heilman, Jessie W. Woodroof, East Side Bank (a corporation,) Russ Lumber and Mill Company and N. P. Campbell, John Doe, Richard Roe, Peter Jones, Mary Black, William Black, George Black, John Brown and Mary Brown, defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for County of Los Angeles, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

Said action is brought to foreclose that certain mortgage made by Robert N. C. Wilson and Ara A. Wilson to the California Guarantee Investment Company (a corporation,) dated January 27, 1891, and recorded January 29, 1891, in the office of the Recorder of said County of Los Angeles in Book 287 of Mortgages, at page 238 et seq., which said mortgage was on the 24th day of December, A. D., 1894, assigned and transferred to plaintiff by said California Guarantee Investment Company—said mortgage covering the following described property:

All that certain land situated in the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered one (1), two (2,) three (3,) seven (7,) and nine (9,) in block fifteen (15,) according to a map of East Los Angeles made by F. Lecouvreur in December, 1873, which map is hereby referred to and the same is made a part hereof—as per map recorded in Book 3, of maps, pages 194, 195, in the office of the Recorder of said County of Los Angeles, together with the appurtenances unto each of them belonging.

Also to obtain judgment against the defendant, Robert N. C. Wilson, for the sum of twelve thousand four hundred and ninety-nine 8-100 dollars, with interest thereon from the 20th day of December, A. D., 1894, at the rate of six per cent. per annum, all to be paid in United States gold coin, and for costs of this suit, and for one thousand ($1000.00) dollars counsel fees; also for such other sums as may become due from said Robert N. C. Wilson and Ara A. Wilson, or either or any of them, to plaintiff before the final satisfaction of said mortgage, on account of assessments, street assessments, liens, sums paid to compromise, purchase or otherwise settle adverse claims to the mortgaged property, or to keep said property insured, with interest on said last-mentioned sums at the rate of two per cent. per month from the respective dates of payment by the party advancing the same until repaid;

Also to obtain a decree of said court for the sale of the premises described in said mortgage, according to law and the practice of said court; that the court appoint a commissioner to make said sale; that the proceeds of said sale may be applied, first, in payment of the costs and expenses of this action and the counsel fees allowed therein; second, in payment of the amount found due plaintiff upon said bond and interest thereon; third, in payment of all sums advanced, or which may hereafter, before the satisfaction of said mortgage, be advanced under the terms thereof to pay assessments, street assessments or liens, which may be laid upon or attach to said property, or to purchase, compromise or otherwise settle any adverse claim to the mortgaged property, with interest at the rate of two per cent. per month upon said payments, from respective dates of payment thereof by the party advancing the same until repaid;

Also to obtain an order from said court appointing a receiver to take possession and charge of said property and collect the rents and income thereof;

Also to obtain a decree of said court forever barring and foreclosing the defendants, and each of them, and all persons claiming under them, or any or either of them, subsequent to the execution of said mortgage, either as purchasers, attaching creditors, incumbrances, or otherwise, of all right, claim or equity of redemption in or to said premises, and any and every part thereof;

Also to obtain judgment against said defendants Robert N. C. Wilson and Ara A. Wilson for any deficiency which may remain unpaid of the amount found due upon said bond or said mortgage, for principal and interest, or for sums advanced, in accordance with the terms of said mortgage, after applying all the proceeds of the sale of said premises properly applicable to the satisfaction of the same;

Also to obtain a decree of said court permitting plaintiff to become a purchaser at the sale of said premises; ordering the commissioner to execute a deed of said premises to the purchaser thereof, and empowering said purchaser to enter into possession of said premises upon production of said commissioner's deed; also to obtain such other and further relief as may be meet and just.

All of the above more fully appears from the complaint on file herein, to which reference is hereby expressly made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer to said complaint, as above required, said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief in said complaint demanded.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles this 14th day of January, A. D., 1895.

(Signed) T. E. NEWLIN, Clerk.

(Seal) By A. W. SEAVER, Deputy Clerk.

Joseph Hutchinson, ninth floor, Mills Building, San Francisco, Cal., attorney for plaintiff.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRACK BUILT TO COLORADO STREET.

A Crematory as a Local Enterprise—Missing Southwick Returned to His Family—Chinaman's Bad Break.

PASADENA, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) The completion of the track of the Southern Pacific road to Colorado street occurred this afternoon, and hundreds of interested spectators watched the laying of the last rails. The speculation concerning the rate of fare has not been set at rest by any definite statement of the intentions of the company in that direction, but it is said on good authority that it will be less than that which obtains on any of the other lines, including the electric. The question of fare is an important one to the community, and that is the reason the Council decision upon the Terminal question is of such interest to the community. Should the Council refuse any concession to that corporation without a kindred concession upon its part in the matter of rates, the steam roads and the electric will be able to maintain the present status, but should it insist, as Mayor Cox declares that he will, that there shall be a lowering of fare, the competition will begin for the traffic, and that of course will be in the interest of the community, though some of the corporations may suffer in pocket. It is said that the electric road has made one of its most clever moves in appearing before the Los Angeles Council and bidding $1200 for the franchise which Herman de Laguna had induced them to advertise. Mr. Clark's bid was more than twice as large as that of Mr. Laguna, and there is hardly a doubt that he will secure the concession, and if he does, it is said the road will be built, and thus control the electric railroad business between this point and Los Angeles. The railroad situation from a competitive standpoint will be exceedingly interesting when the Southern Pacific is running trains through here, and when the Santa Fe straightens its track between this place and Los Angeles, at Lincoln Park. This contemplated improvement will make a straight track from Mission street to the Lincoln Park straight stretch of track, and will not only shorten the distance on the Santa Fe between Pasadena and Los Angeles, but will enable the trains to make better speed the whole distance. Though the question of relative speed is not a matter of such great importance to the occasional patron, to the business man time is money, and he will chose the quickest route of transportation when he goes to the metropolis from here. There has not at any time been danger that one road would absorb all of the local passenger traffic, and it will be only a matter of a few months, judging the future by the past, before all of the roads will be doing good business, and perhaps under a reduced rate would do far better than ever before.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD.

William Dunn of the Stevens Hardware Company, while at work upon Councilman Lukens's new house at the corner of Marengo avenue and Walnut street this morning, putting up a tin gutter, had a dangerous fall. He was pulling himself up to the roof when he lost his hold and fell to the ground, a distance of ten feet, alighting upon his head and shoulders, and sustaining a severe shock. He was taken home and physicians summoned, and this afternoon recovered consciousness. No bones were broken, but the spine received the force of the concussion. Mr. Dunn is resting quietly this evening, though he is still in grave danger from his unfortunate accident.

WICKED WONG FEE.

A Chinaman by the name of Wong Fee, who is said to be "velly bad Chinamans" by his compatriots, was sought for long and vainly by the night police of Pasadena Wednesday evening, and has not been seen today in any of his "accustomed haunts." Now if he were an ordinary, civilized American law-breaker, expecting arrest, he might probably found there, as we are usually informed that there is where policemen look for criminals, but he is gone, and Charley Kim, whom he assaulted with the butt end of a revolver about 9 o'clock last night, with the supposed intention of robbery, is sad and grieved. Charley reported Wong's evil-doing to the police, and as the culprit is well known to them, they have some hopes of capturing him and inducing him to accept board and lodging at the expense of the county for a while.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

A harrowing tale of want and woe published by one of the local papers and of the starvation of a family by the name of Sloane has been found to be "mostly guff," as wicked newspaper people say. The family in question, who were reported as feeding their nursing infant on water in which cabbage had been boiled, and who made their state known by a letter thrust under the door of the Christian Church last Sunday, are declared by those whom they have "worked" in the last six months, that being the period of their residence here, to be not only unworthy, but decidedly of the "professional" kind. It is said that the father is able to work; that he has never applied for aid to the organized charities, who were accused by the report of heartlessness. The "infant," who was reported as being regaled on cabbage water, in lieu of mixture's supply of liquid food, is 3 years old or thereabouts, is able to toddle around, and another child about two years older, are to all appearances thriving enough.

An alarm of fire at 5 o'clock this afternoon called out the fire department and a large number of citizens. The call was from the corner of Ellis and Orange Grove avenue, and was discovered to have been caused by the burning of some stubble in the rear of Dr. Behr's house. No available means were at hand for the extinguishing of the flames, which threatened the house, and the department was called to the rescue. No damage was done. The blaze is supposed to have ignited from an ash-heap.

Reynolds & Van Nuys are erecting a crematory at Mountain View Cemetery for the incineration of the dead. It is said to be of the most highly-approved scientific arrangement, and it is thought by a large number of people that the authorities should make it obligatory upon the relatives of those who die of consumption to incinerate the remains. Dr. Kate Black has done missionary work in that line in the community, and has won a large number of people to the idea of incineration.

The King's Daughters met at the residence of Miss Wickens, No. 35 North Madison avenue, this afternoon, and listened to a brief address by Mrs. Gardiner of South Pasadena. There are now about twenty young ladies actively interested in the work of that organization, and they are doing all the "good their hands find to do" in aiding the needy to the extent of their means.

C. D. Tyng, for some years the secretary of the American Legation at Madrid, gave a delightful talk to the pupils of the Ninth grade and the High school, upon the genesis, historical and artistic of the Alhambra, and described most beautifully this noble relic of Saracen Spain. Mr. Tyng illustrated his talk with photographs and pieces of tiling from the Alhambra, and the information imparted was rare and valuable.

Mr. Russell, whose illness was noted Wednesday, is dangerously ill at Newhall, from the result of overexertion, which brought on a malady from which he has suffered for a long time. Dr. Greene returned Wednesday night from his attendance upon him, leaving him in the charge of a local physician.

Mrs. Harriet Kelsey Fay, Miss Emma Lenz and Mrs. Chase have been selected by the ladies having the arrangements for Miss Anthony's lecture in charge, to go over to Los Angeles Friday and escort the distinguished orator to Pasadena. The lecture will be at the Tabernacle in the evening.

Elmer Southwick, whose disappearance was noticed in Monday's Times, has returned to his family. He says he felt the need of rest, and so took it without the formality of notifying his wife and friends. He enjoyed a few days' rustication at Santa Monica, and saw the sights in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Throop, relict of the late "Father" Amos Throop, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Vaughan in Chicago, at 1 o'clock this morning. Mr. Vaughn has been here for some days, and will remain until after the interment of the remains, which are expected here Sunday.

It is stated upon good authority that the site offered by Isaac Springer for the erection of the new school building has been accepted by the Trustees. The lots, six in number, are situated at the head of Walnut street, on Lake avenue, and the price agreed upon is $4000.

A regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association Lyceum will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Knights of Pythias Hall. Arrangements will be perfected for the attendance on the L.L.A. convention at Downey Saturday.

William T. Souder and Miss Mary Warnecka of Los Angeles were married on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. D. Seufert, on Colorado street, Rev. Clark Crawford officiating.

The adjourned meeting of the City Council to consider the amendment to the franchise of the Terminal road will occur at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

A. O. Corson was taken to Los Angeles today to remain until Saturday when he will have his examination before Recorder Rossiter.

Mmes. J. B. Franklin, F. Salisbury, W. O. Dow and Miss Helen Vineyard of Los Angeles were the guests of Mrs. Alex Blair today.

N. P. Green and Dr. Randall have departed on an outing trip to the seashore, traveling by wagon.

A new street sprinkler is being built for use, it is said, on the east side of town.

C. E. Monfort of Kennedy & Co. is quite ill with throat trouble.

"Hutchins" makes Napa Soda Lemonade.

ALHAMBRA.

ALHAMBRA, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) An Independent Order of Good Templars has been organized and occupy Adams Hall every Saturday evening.

The Lend-a-hand Society of the Presbyterian Church will give a supper on Friday evening. The Chambers Mandolin Club of this city, chiefly composed of ladies, will furnish music.

The public school in the midst of examinations. A class of nine will graduate on the 17th. Prof. Jones, who has been principal for ten years, has announced his intention to return to his home in New York, and be absent for several years. The Misses Foster also go East at the close of the school.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

Company C.—Off for Hawaii—Prof. Kirkwood Dead.

RIVERSIDE, June 11.—(Special Correspondence.) Co. C had its annual inspection yesterday. There was a full turnout of the company and the members never appeared to better advantage. This was verified by Maj. McKelvey of Santa Ana, the inspecing officer. The Junior Band turned out in uniform and serenaded the major. He is very popular up this way.

A San Diego paper says that "Mr. McIntosh of Riverside was in the city prospecting for a bride. It is rumored he will shortly wed one of our fair widows." This evidently has reference to Mr. McIntosh of the book-binding department of the Press, who has just returned from a trip to San Diego.

OFF FOR HAWAII.

The Filkins excursion to Hawaii will start from Riverside tomorrow morning on the 7:20 motor, shipping on the steamer Corona from Port Los Angeles for San Francisco, thence by the steamer Australia for the islands Saturday morning, June 15. Returning the party expect to leave Honolulu July 20. The parties from here are: C. W. Filkins and wife, F. M. Heath and wife, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Derby and George Riddle; Mrs. F. A. Conant of San Diego, Dr. H. M. Brown of Colton, F. A. Conant and Mrs. M. A. Heath of Santa Barbara, five from Los Angeles and nine from the northern portion of the State. It is understood that Dr. Derby will locate on the islands. Dr. and Mrs. Derby went to Los Angeles yesterday and a large number of their friends were at the depot to bid them God speed.

HE WAS DISCHARGED.

A hole was knocked in another justice's sentence yesterday afternoon by Judge Noyes. C. W. Fuller of South Riverside had been arrested Sunday and placed in the County Jail for violation of the county ordinance making it a pealty to sell scale-infected fruit. Hon. E. W. Freeman sued out a writ of habeas corpus. After listening to the argument and looking up the law Judge Noyes ordered the prisoner discharged on the ground that the sentence of the justice did not conform to the county ordinance bearing upon the offense.

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

Sheriff Johnson and Officer Baird of the police force started for San Quentin yesterday with Charles Marshall, the condemned murderer, and will place him in that institution today. He will be a State charge until August 23. It is a little difficult to tell who will be in charge of him after that date. His remains will doubtless be decently interred.

The Royal Foresters, the uniform branch of the Independent Order of Foresters, met ot Frederick's Hall Wednesday evening, to complete the reorganization. High Chief Ranger McElfiash of Los Angeles is expected to be present.

The City Trustees were out prospecting Tuesday for rock to be used on the streets in the contemplated improvements. There is porphyry in the hills near here, which would make excellent top dressing, much better than the lime rock first under consideration, as it is much less liable to be ground into dust and is better on the eyes.

D. L. Wilbur has returned from an extended visit to San Francisco.

Prof. Daniel Kirkwood, one of Riverside's most respected citizens, died here today, aged 81 years. Prof. Kirkwood enjoyed a national reputation as a scholar of high learning and ability. He was for years professor of mathematics in the Indiana State University and was also a well-known astronomer.

SANTA ANA HIGH SCHOOL CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

A City Well Caves in—A Bounteous Bean Crop—Cattle Shipment—Delegates to the Baptist Convention.

SANTA ANA, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) The man or the woman who does not appreciate the efforts of the sweet girl graduate was not in French's Operahouse this (Wednesday) afternoon at the class-day exercises of the Santa Ana High School, for every effort of the young ladies, as well as those of the young gentlemen, was duly appreciated and applauded in a most enthusiastic manner. The auditorium of the big hall was beautifully decorated with bunting and palms, the stage being particularly attractive, and so comfortably arranged that it took on a home-like appearance that was most restful and delightful to the spectators.

The California poppy being the class flower the stage decorations were of the poppy line, the class motto, "Ne Tentes aut Perficere," being arranged above the stage in the same color.

It was a few minutes past 2 o'clock when Thomas's Orchestra opened the programme by the rendering of Bishop's "Guy Mannering" overture. Rev. J. H. Cooper then invoked God's blessing upon the audience, and the ladies and gentlemen who constituted the class of '96, after which he retired to the stage in company with the corps of High School teachers, when James L. Caskey gave the class history, touching up many incidents that had been, no doubt, entirely forgotten by many of the members as well as some of the teachers under whom the young ladies and gentlemen had received their instructions.

Miss Jennie Swanner had quite an interesting essay on "An Unknown Heroine," but her voice was scarcely strong enough to make herself heard well in the rear of the large hall.

Messrs. Buren, Perham, Nourse and Caskey favored the audience with the rendering of "We're Rocking on the Billows," after which Herbert R. Cleaver spoke of the "Government Control of Railways," showing in many ways the advantages to be obtained and enjoyed by the public generally by such a condition of affairs being brought about.

"To the Back of the North Wind" was the subject of Miss May Spurgeon's essay, and much information of an exploring character throughout the civilized and uncivilized world was brought out.

Miss Grace Carpenter spoke well of "The Relation of Fiction to Religion," giving most timely advice to readers of fiction, and pointing out to them many dangers to be avoided in the selection of books to read. The orchestra furnished the eighth number of the programme, and then Charles F. Hall delivered an oration on "The Sunday Newspaper." He took the ground that the Sunday newspaper was a source of evil and should be simply "annihilated."

"The Hardships of Pioneer Life" were pointed out by Miss Fannie Lewis, in an interesting essay, and the quartette again sang, this time, "Soft O'er the Fountain," previous to the reading of Miss Jessie Flood's essay on "A Girl's Education," showing what should not be neglected in that important matter.

Miss Bertha Baker gave a very interesting class prophecy, after which "Our Star," composed by Miss Lulu Howe, was sung by the members of the class.

At the close of this portion of the exercises, the members of the graduating class the teachers and many of the spectators, marched to the school grounds, where the planting of the ivy was proceeded with, an address being delivered by Frank Monaghan, and this being responded to by Herbert Cleaver.

Following is the class roll: Misses Bertha Baker, Grace Carpenter, Ethel Collins, Jessie Flook, Lulu Howes, Bessie Lesley, Fannie Lewis, Flora Madden, Willsie Martin, Jennie Swanner, May Spurgeon, Mabel Witmer; Messrs. James Caskey, Herbert Cleaver, Charley Hell, Wynford Hill, Frank Monaghan, Edward Young.

The class officers are as follows: Frank Monaghan, president; James Caskey, vice-president; Flora Madden, second vice-president; Bessie Leslie, secretary; Willsie Martin, treasurer; Herbert Cleaver, curator.

The commencement exercises will be held Friday evening in French's Operahouse.

TOO MUCH GIANT POWDER.

There was evidently too much giant powder used in "blowing" city well No. 3 at the City Waterworks, a few months ago, when it was being bored, for now it has experienced a "cave in," and the water has ceased entirely to flow. On Monday the first signs of failing were observed, and by Tuesday morning the flow had entirely stopped. Surmising what the trouble was, a boring outfit was at once secured, and set to work hoisting the dirt out.

The well is about 330 feet in depth. The workmen are now down about 290 feet, leaving about 40 feet yet to go before the bottom of the well will be reached.

When the well was first bored a good flow was not obtained until after it had been "blowed" with a large charge of giant powder. Then it flowed freely, but as a result of this blast it is feared now that the casing is so torn that it will be impossible to get the drill down through it now. If such proves to be the case the well will be rendered worthless and a new one will have to be sunk at once, which means an expenditure of a thousand or more dollars. There are yet two wells from which the city can draw its source of supply, and it is thought that these will prove sufficient for the demands until a new one can be put down if the one now crippled cannot be repaired.

MARRIED IN SANTA ANA.

Jacob A. Cole, Jr., and Miss Emma M. Potts, daughter of A. W. Potts, both residents of Los Angeles, were married in Santa Ana today (Wednesday) in the parlors of the Richmond by Justice of the Peace Freeman.

The young couple arrived in this city from Los Angeles on the morning train and, after procuring the necessary license at the County Clerk's office, proceeded at once to the Richmond where Justice Freeman did the rest to make them truly and lawfully husband and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Cole returned to Los Angeles on the 3 o'clock afternoon Southern Pacific train.

ORANGE COUNTY BREVITIES.

Mrs. M. S. Winbigler, aged 56 years, of Santa Ana, died at her home on Smith street Tuesday night, about 10 o'clock, after a protracted illness. The deceased leaves a son and two daughters. The funeral services will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at 10 o'clock a.m., from the Main-street Methodist Church.

C. F. Durfee returned to Santa Ana Tuesday from a brief trip to Michigan, where he went as a delegate from this State to the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Maccabees. Mr. Durfee is a more thorough Californian than ever since his return.

Mrs. Cora A. Edington, aged 20 years, died Tuesday afternoon at the residence of F. C. Collins, near Olive, of consumption. The remains were shipped to Santa Barbara, where the husband of the deceased is located in business, for interment.

N. R. Totten of Huntsville, Kan., is a new resident of Orange county, who is enthusiastic over what he has already seen of the county's resources. At the present time he is the guest of J. W. Duckworth of Garden Grove.

The City Board of Education held a private meeting Tuesday evening to partially consider the applications for positions as teachers in the public school the coming year, but no official action was taken.

Mrs. H. T. Miller, who has been visiting friends in Santa Ana for the past several months, has gone to Pasadena to remain several days before returning to her Eastern home.

Reports from the country districts in this county are to the effect that the present season is the most propitious one for the bean man, in the history of the county.

A marriage license was issued today (Wednesday) to Jacob A. Cole, Jr., aged 22 years, and Emma M. Potts, aged 18 years; both residents of Los Angeles.

A trainload of fat cattle were shipped from the Santa Marguerite ranch, south of Santa Ana, Tuesday to Kansas City by Messrs. O'Neill and Forster.

W. H. Person, formerly with the Santa Fe in this city, has resigned his position as cashier at the depot offices. T. M. Nichols takes his place.

Prof. T. N. Wells and U. Sid Lemon of Santa Ana have gone to Santa Monica as delegates to the Baptist State convention in that city.

Miss Clara Garnsey pleasantly entertained a number of her friends at her home on West Fifth street, Santa Ana, Tuesday evening.

Robert Arborn and family of Santa Ana have gone to Pasadena to visit with friends and relatives for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Congdon of Santa Ana have gone to San Bernardino to visit with friends for a few days.

Mrs. T. C. Higbie of Long Beach is in Santa Ana, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Baker.

T. G. Drury of Santa Ana has gone to San Jacinto Hot Springs for a few weeks' stay.

Miss Sarah Watkins of Burnet, Wash., is in Santa Ana, the guest of Mrs. M. L. Lane.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

APPLETON LAND AND WATER COMPANY INCORPORATED.

Fatal Railway Accident in the Colton Yard—Fire in Which a Man Was Nearly Suffocated—Brevities.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) Papers were filed this morning for the incorporation of the Appleton Land and Water Company, which has purchased of John E. Wilson three filings on the waters of the small streams that unite to make up the headwaters of the Mojave River, just across the range of mountains to the north of San Bernardino. The capital stock of the company is $500,000, with $210,000 actually subscribed. The board of directors comprises P. L. Griffin, Riverside; L. B. Palmer, Pasadena; J. R. Wilson, Santa Fe Springs; A. L. Work, J. B. Heartwell and Judge D. P. Hatch of Los Angeles. The president of the company is Judge Hatch, with J. B. Heartwell and P. L. Griffin vice-presidents, L. B. Palmer secretary, J. E. Wilson engineer and A. W. Jones of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, Los Angeles, treasurer. Among the active stockholders are: A. G. Kendall, Assessor of this county, and Waite & Simmons, pioneer nurserymen of Riverside. The land upon which it is proposed to put the water lies to the east of Hesperia and Victor, is surveyed land, with an occasional resident upon a homestead claim. The soil is mainly disintegrated granite, brought down from the mountain range by the wear of ages, is very fertile and raises the finest apples of any section in the southern part of the State. From this fact comes the name for the new corporation—Appleton. There may be some friction between this company and the Victor, but there seems to be plenty of water for both, if catchment reservoirs are used in which to store the winter rains. Another important feature of this scheme arises from the need it will have for a railroad to connect it with the world, and a branch of the Santa Fe to strike this land, leaving the main line just across the mountains, would, if extended to the east, make a capital cut-off for through travel, shortening the distance many hours, opening up, all the way to its union again with the main line, a fine farming country and valuable mining districts, besides forming a direct route to Utah and the north. It is only a matter of time when this will have to be built. It may seem far in the future, unless we consider that ten years ago the Santa Fe had not a mile of road in Southern California, and now touches every important point. Less than ten years more will see wonderful developments in farming, fruit-raising, mining and railroad-building, just across the range on the Mojave plains.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

This afternoon as the 2:10 o'clock freight was pulling into Colton from the East on the Southern Pacific, an old man named Dr. Sleight was struck and thrown forty feet, his skull being fractured and his left leg and arm broken. He died instantly. The deceased was 89 years old, lived in Colton over fifty years, kept a chicken ranch with his son, who was 50 years old, they living together in a little cabin by themselves. When killed, the old man was going to the mill on foot for chicken feed. He was very deaf and did not hear the whistle or bell on the locomotive, though both were sounded.

Coroner Keating went over from here and held a partial inquest, but postponed it till Friday to secure the train crew on their return from Los Angeles. All information as to the manner of the accident was obtained from three tramps stealing a ride on the train. The place of the accident was at the road-crossing, about a mile east of Colton.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.

Just as the clock struck 11 last evening the attendant at the bottling establishment of William Thode, just back of the motor depot, who sleeps in the building over the ice-storage department, awoke and found himself nearly suffocated with the smoke and the interior of the establishment over his head from the ceiling to the roof in a blaze. He managed to roll out, jump to the floor, and, escaping out of the fiery furnace, gave the alarm.

The fire department was promptly on hand, and soon two heavy streams from the hydrant were turned on the fire, putting it out so suddenly that there was but trifling damage. The building is of corrugated iron, and in the southwest corner stands the upright boiler and engine, from which it is supposed the fire caught above the board ceiling and probably was smoldering some hours before it burst into a blaze, but when it did it burned like tinder. Against the end of the building where the fire started is a stable, wagon shed and outbuildings, and, although there were several tons of hay stored there with only a sheet of corrugated iron between it and the fire, it was uninjured.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

This afternoon at 3:15 o'clock a quiet wedding united Miss Ella L. Allison and Marion Lea Cook, Rev. C. A. Westenberg officiating. The lady is one of San Bernardino's most prominent society ladies, and the groom is the County Surveyor.

The wedding of J. Frank Johnson, Jr., and Miss Nellie F. Smith took place at the First Methodist Episcopal Church before a crowded auditorium. This morning the couple left for Los Angeles and Catalina on their wedding tour.

Hon. R. F. Del Valle of Los Angeles was in the city last evening, stopping at the New St. Charles, returning home this morning.

Mrs. Kendall Holt went to San Jacinto this afternoon on a week's visit to friends, expecting to return Thursday of next week.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Charles W. Hillman and Alice Varner, both residents of Chino.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) Tuesday evening Edward C. Miller, who had been committed to the asylum at Highlands for the second time, escaped, and is now at large. Miller hails from San Diego, and is 27 years of age. He is described as weighing 145 pounds, wears a short mustache, has red hair, wears a thin brown coat, black vest, dark brown pantaloons and light-colored hat. He laughs a good deal, and should he enter a store would be apt to pilfer.

Will Roberts, who lives near the mouth of Mill Creek Canyon, had a preliminary examination today in Judge Camp's court. The charge against the defendant is battery, and his wife is the complainant. His trial takes place at 10 o'clock a.m. Thursday.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church held a meeting this afternoon. It will not meet again until fall.

Tuesday afternoon C. H. Hobart received a telegram from T. J. Kennard, dated at Manzanillo, to the effect that no trace of W. H. Alder's body could be found; that W. H. Bryan would leave on Saturday for New York.

Hon. J. W. Fairbanks delivered an illustrated lecture on "Ben Hur" before a fair audience in the Methodist Church Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Redlands has shipped her last box of oranges for this season, and if any grower is dissatisfied with the mode of marketing or the prices received, he is the exception and not the rule.

Byron Van Lennen, the Redlands athlete who has achieved a national reputation, expects next fall to enter Pomona College.

T. A. Blakely leaves Thursday morning for a few days' trip to the Angel City.

LONG BEACH.

LONG BEACH, June 12.—(Special Correspondence.) Visitors are beginning to flock in. The sailing yachts Dawn and San Diego are doing a good business. Fishing is at its best. The bath-houses are open and doing a good business.

The Long Beach Dramatic Club called out two large audiences to the entertainment, "Above the Clouds," given last Friday and Saturday evenings. Among those that most creditably carried their parts were Miss Florence Whittier, Miss Laverne Lowe, Mrs. Knoll, Mrs Ball and the Messrs. Waggoner, Fisher and Downing. Prof. True Higbie's full orchestra was a musical treat.

Dr. Howard Anson with family were here yesterday viewing the beauties of this place.

F. L. Dames's new tonsorial parlors were opened for business yesterday, and are positively the most complete parlors in Southern California.

R. M. Bradstreet is here looking for a location.

Mrs. Robert Mouser of Oakland, Cal., rented a cottage yesterday, and will spend the summer here.

A reception will be tendered to the Dramatic Club by Mr. and Mrs. Knoll, Friday evening, June 14, at their home on Ocean avenue.

LOOKS SUSPICIOUS.

An East Side Man Buys a Bicycle at a Bargain.

About three weeks ago the Pavilion Cyclery sent a $105 Erie bicycle to a young man named Huntley, who was to act as agent for the company at Los Olivas, Santa Barbara county. The whel was consigned on sixty days' time. Yesterday the same wheel, minus the name-plate, was brought to the Pavilion Cyclery for alterations by C. H. Jones of East Los Angeles, who had purchased it the previous day of a young man answering Huntley's description for $25. The manager of the cyclery telephoned to Los Olivas and learned that Huntley left there with the wheel four or five days ago to ride to Los Angeles. If Huntley himself sold the wheel to Jones for $25, the cyclery people have reason to believe that he is trying to defraud them, as he has not yet paid a dollar of the purchase price. It may be, however, that the wheel was stolen from Huntley by the party who sold it to Jones. Policeman Reynolds, the bicycle detective, is investigating.

ACTIVE PREPARATIONS FOR CELEBRATING THE BIG DAY.

Generous Subscriptions Insure the Success of the Affair—The Programme Will be Varied and Interesting.

The arrangement of the various details connected with the Fourth of July celebration continues to engage the attention of the Executive Committee. At the meeting of this committee last evening letters were received from the different labor organizations of the city, accepting the invitation of the committee to participate in the parade. The judges of the Superior Court have signified their intention of occupying carriages in the parade. A cordial letter, expressing hearty good will and a promise to co-operate with the committee in its work, has been received from Mayor Rader.

The Southern Pacific Railway Company promises to transport the Whittier Cadets to the city on the Fourth of July, free of charge, and the Santa Fe Company agrees to return them at a minimum figure. The boys from Whittier will form a very interesting feature of the procession.

W. C. Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has been selected by the Literary Committee to act as chairman of the exercises in the park on the Fourth of July.

The committees to act as judges in the awarding of the various prize flags offered by the committee to participants in the parade, are as follows:

To award prize flag to the best-drilled school company, best-drilled Boys' Brigade and best drilled and uniformed fraternal organization—Col. Charles Bentzoni, Maj. W. G. Wedemeyer and Dr. John R. Coleman.

Best-decorated vehicle, horseman and foot organization—Col. H. G. Otis, D. C. Morrison and J. C. Cline.

Best-decorated bicycle—J. A. Kelly, J. S. Thayer and Mrs. B. W. Lee.

Best-decorated street car—J. J. Aiken, S. H. Clark and W. J. Broderick.

Best-decorated store and business building—S. K. Lindley, C. E. Day and C. A. Sumner.

Business Timber.

In advertising our business we try to be philosophical, but amidst all our attempted philosophy we aim to be discreet, and so render it unnecessary to be mysterious about anything. Each day we devote to an object, and that object is to accomplish something more than was recorded the preceding day, and when the day's work is done we find that we have not been disappointed. Doubtless it is due to the fact that we keep the best goods for "all mankind," and we might also claim that our prices, being always reasonable, must have something to do with our flattering trade. It is widely known that the People's Store is the representative establishment of Southern California. Our methods having secured for us a patronage of such magnitude, stimulates our desire to increase the useful and honorable work of selling first-class goods at moderate prices.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California pays no interest on deposits in any form, offers no special inducements for business other than reliability when the customers exercise their right to demand their money.

In the matter of loans it looks more to reliability than high rates of interest, and desires on loans except from good and reliable parties, and then exacts good security, believing that no banks is better or more reliable than its loans
